POLICE SHOOT INTO RIOTERS FIRING CONVENT

Troops Defy Orders; Church Dynamited.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, May 12.—A company of infantry tonight refused to march on a mob attacking a Catholic parish church and chapels in Algeciras. The soldiers told the officers they would not use arms against the people.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, May 12.—The anti-religious fever, which has swept through Spain during the last few days, assumed a new and more violent phase tonight when a mob attacking a Catholic parish church and chapels in Algeciras, in the province of Cadiz, fired on the troops sent to protect the buildings. The soldiers refused to obey the order to fire on the mob, and the officers fled.

Federico Tedeschini, who is numbered among the jobless here, had clashed with the civil guards.

A pitched battle ensued in the windy Alameda street in front of a convent which the rioters struggled to enter, and four were killed. When they finally reached the building the mob fell wounded. The soldiers' ammunition stores and refused to fight, but the troops got them in hand.

Church Into Ruins.

Before the day's rioting had abated a church in Granada was blasted into ruins by dynamite, nuns fled a Catholic school before a Bilbao mob, and a general strike was declared at Alicante. In about twelve cities troops were kept busy far into the night driving mobs away from Catholic institutions.

The first outbreak in north Spain occurred at San Lucar after midnight, when a crowd burned the Capetian monastery, which had been evacuated.

Elsewhere in Spain, the bells of churches of monasteries and convents, which are in flames, or are smoking ruins, were silent today and masses were said in them at all, behind barred doors and shuttered windows.

Burn Monks and Nuns.

Terror still gripped the country's monks and nuns, many of whom fled in civilian garb to friendly homes. The torch was again applied to Malaga today, but the arrival of troops from Ronda ended the riots in that city after four monasteries, the palace of the bishop, and the monarchist newspaper had been burned.

Alive to the peril of a nation-wide attack on churches and religious orders, the government today took rigorous steps in provincial towns of Seville, Murcia, and Alicante, where the anti-church fever had reached, and martial law was declared early this morning. In Granada, Saragossa and Barcelona the mobs have been kept from applying fire to any religious buildings.

Art Treasures Destroyed.

While the troops, which were employed to shoot, had a chance to call a halt, precious art treasures were destroyed, particularly in Seville and Madrid.

Religious buildings valued at $6,000,000 and $2,000,000 worth of art treasures were destroyed yesterday. This does not include the Jesuit library of more than 100,000 volumes, many of which were of great historical importance.

A protest from the Vatican is expected by the republic hourly. Papal Nuncio Federico Tedeschini has not yet made it to the provisional government as yet.

Charging that Sunday's provocation, when monarchists attacked a republican group and then were overwhelmed in a riot, was the result of a carefully laid monarchist plot, Angel Galarza, the republic's prosecutor, today recommended a monster trial, in which former King Alfonso himself would be judged in his absence, of high treason for complicity.

WHY HE'S A LITTLE SLOW ON THE JOB

Committee of House Kills Income Tax

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Without debate and with almost no discussion, the Lantz income tax bill was killed in the house revenue committee this afternoon by a vote of 15 to 7. Chicagoans, aided by some of the representatives from other municipalities, carried the motion to report the bill back to the floor with a recommendation that it do not pass.

RALPH CHURCH.

Chairman Leroy M. Green [Rep., Rockford] called the bill, which came to the house after passing the senate, in the regular order of business, but there were no persons present to talk for or against it.

Representative Ralph Church [Rep., Evanston] moved immediately that the bill be reported out with an unfavorable recommendation. He was seconded by Representative J. W. Harris [Rep., Chicago]. A substitute motion that the bill pass was put by Representative Luther Bratton [Rep., Kankakee]. It was voted down.

The roll call on the Church motion is divided as follows:

FOR THE MOTION.

COOK COUNTY.

Auth	Jenkins
Church	O'Brien, T. J.
Cole	Perry
Donahoe	Ratzgan
Duree	Shannon
Harris	Swanson

DOWNSTATE.

Bestold	Hawkinson

AGAINST THE MOTION.

COOK COUNTY.

None.

DOWNSTATE.

Black	Bush
Bolger	Kribs
Bratton	Turner

The bill will be reported back to the house floor tomorrow and it is anticipated that downstate members will present a motion that the house not concur.

The prediction tonight was that representatives from the larger municipalities will vote against the bill and that rural legislators will continue to advocate it.

Proposes That Chicago Jubilee Be Made an Annual Summer Event

3249 North Herndon street, Chicago, May 12.

Editor, The Tribune, Chicago:

The success of the Chicago Jubilee, as sponsored by The Tribune, has led me to suggest that this fine affair be made an annual institution. The benefits to Chicago business should be well worth the effort.

Chicago has long lacked such public traditions as the Mardi Gras and Mummers' Day Parades of other cities, and I believe that you have filled the spot with Jubilee Week. Let's make it an annual affair in keeping with the Progress of our city.

Not only will the publicity derived from this source be of great benefit to the Century of Progress during the World's Fair, but it will aid us in publicizing Chicago as the world's best Summer Resort. In view of the latter phase I suggest that future Jubilees be held on the first day of Summer, to herald the coming of each year's resort season.

Now is the time, while the spirit is still with us, to organize for next year, and future years. All civic and public organizations should be organized to create marching clubs and special activities for next year's Tribune Jubilee.

I not only trust that this suggestion may meet with your approval, but offer my own services in aiding you make this Jubilee a real success in 1932.

CHIMNEY SITTER DYING; REFUSES TO COME DOWN

[Copyright; 1931; By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, May 12.—Tokio's chimney sitter is now lying on an iron gallery on top of the chimney, drenched and exhausted, unable to speak or eat. He climbed the chimney as a protest against the discharge of a fellow mill worker, announcing that he would not come down until the worker was reinstated.

Two fellow strikers climbed the stack today and tried to induce him to eat or to descend. He shook his head, so they wrapped some dry clothes around him, covered him with a waterproof sheet, and left him.

A cold rain has been falling forty-eight hours. The police fear the youth will die of exposure, but the problem of getting him down baffles them, although ropes and a basket have been provided. At noon today he had been up 264 hours.

BARGE WITH 20 MEN MISSING ON LAKE ONTARIO

Buffalo, N. Y., May 12.—(AP)—Capt. Martin W. Rasmussen of the coast guard tonight ordered a search on Lake Ontario for the Clevelander, a barge owned by the General Motors corporation. The Clevelander, with a cargo of 1,230 tons of steel and a crew of 20 men, was 30 hours overdue at 8 p. m. today. It had sailed from Port Weller, Ont., at 1:30 p. m. Sunday.

Dies While Watching Bouts in Soldiers' Field

Stricken with a heart attack, Robert Sina, 43 years old, of Kankakee, died suddenly last night while watching the Golden Gloves fights in Soldiers' field. Sina and two companions, Ray E. Sterbens and Edward Muhlstadt of Kankakee, occupied seats near the ringside. During the fourth bout Sina toppled over against Sterbens.

40,000 WATCH GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM TRIUMPH

French Heavyweight Is Victor.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

In the greatest amateur boxing program ever produced, the American Golden Gloves team, a composite of the Chicago and New York squads, last night defeated the champions of France, five bouts to three.

The fights were held before 40,000 spectators on Soldiers' field. Fog in the early evening and a chill north wind held the attendance below expected proportions, but even so, the crowd was the greatest ever to witness amateur boxing in America.

Feature of the Jubilee.

The international program was sponsored by The Tribune as a climax to Golden Gloves competition, and proved a high light of Chicago's Jubilee week.

The eight international bouts were heralded in dramatic fashion. Six preliminary bouts had been fought. Suddenly the band blared forth with a Sousa march, and down the long aisle from the west side of the stadium came a file of French veterans escorting the eight champions from across the sea.

The French boys climbed through the ropes clad in blue dressing gowns and lined up across one side of the ring. Then came a legion corps with the American fighters. The Golden Glove winners lined up facing their visiting opponents.

Music of Two Nations.

A pause — then, as searchlights swung to the north of the big arena, the tricolor of France was raised and the band struck up the stirring measures of the "Marsellaise." The crowd was silent, the 40,000 standing bareheaded. Again the searchlights played over the darkened field. Now the Stars and Stripes were raised and the band played America's anthem.

When the last notes died away the crowd broke into a great cheer that echoed back and forth in the big reaches of the field.

The profits of the show were to be devoted equally to the relief of the disabled war veterans of the United States and France, the French share going to the Broken Mugs, a little colony of wounded whose faces were so badly mutilated that they have been living together in a secluded castle near Paris and always going veiled when in public.

Heavyweight Poilu Wins.

There were no knockouts in the evening's series of eight international matches, but in the final bout of a thrilling program Poilu Fernand Laudrin, the French military aviator—though almost thirty pounds lighter than Yustin Sirutis of New York university—almost put the New Yorker away with a constant overhand fire of both fists to the jaw. Sirutis was badly winded and thoroughly punched up when the final bell clanked.

The other French winners were Marcel Esmault, the little tombstone cutter, who outstruggled Scotty Sylvano of Chicago to win a decision by a close but perceptible margin in the lightweight event, and Jean Baptiste Zigan, a mechanic, who won a hair line verdict over the Golden Gloves captain, Fred Caserio.

Americans Win First Three.

The Americans won the first bout, the flyweight event, when Leo Rodak of Chicago beat Andre Perrier, and the victorious score was unintter-

Riddle Home of Gangster with Bullets

Gangsters made three attempts last night to assassinate James L. Quigley, reputedly a member of the south side beer gang headed by Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, by firing bullets into the Quigley home at 8004 South Marshfield avenue. The first attack was made early in the evening, when several shots were fired, one bullet crashing through a kitchen window.

JAMES L. QUIGLEY. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Quigley did not report this shooting to the police, and two hours later, as he sat in a front room of his home, reading a newspaper while his wife and two little daughters listened to the radio, a fusillade from a passing automobile sprayed the front of the house. One of the bullets crashed through a window of the room, but none was injured. Another bullet went through the window of an unoccupied room.

Home Sprayed Third Time.

Quigley reported this shooting to the police, and he was taken to the detective bureau for questioning. While he was there the gunmen rode past his home a third time and again sprayed the place with bullets.

After questioning Quigley police expressed the belief that the men who shot at him were trying to make plain to authorities that he was one of those involved in the killing of Edward Fitzgerald, a McErlane beer gangster who was shot down in front of Edward Neylon's saloon at 7358 South Peoria street on April 21.

It was recalled that Quigley was fired on the day Fitzgerald was buried. A few days later a fusillade was fired into the beauty shop of Betty Weddell, a niece of Quigley, at 7544 South Halsted street, apparently by persons who believed that he was hiding there.

Ordered Held for Showup.

In view of these circumstances, Lieut. Walter Healy announced that Quigley would be held for a showup and that all the witnesses in the Fitzgerald shooting would be asked to view him.

At the detective bureau Quigley admitted that he had been friendly to both the O'Donnell and the McErlane factions at various times.

ELK EXPELLED FOR HAVING HIS LODGE RAIDED

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—A good Elk, no matter what his personal beliefs on prohibition may be, has no business swearing out liquor warrants against his own lodge.

This is the verdict of the Jersey City lodge of Elks, No. 211, which has expelled Daniel Powers, former exalted ruler. Last month the clubrooms were raided and it was learned that Mr. Powers was the informant on whose complaint the search warrant was issued. A trial forum of four voted three to one for his expulsion.

Mr. Powers had been a member of the lodge fourteen years. In making his complaint, he asserted "it is not necessary for the Jersey City Elks' club to maintain a forty foot bar, where excessive drinking is an expected thing."

WEATHER—Fair and warmer.

Swinging into the second day of the Chicago Jubilee, neighborhood communities yesterday spread the scope of the celebration over the whole city, toasting the renewed Chicago spirit at luncheons and signalizing that spirit in two colorful parades.

The climax of the day's activities came last evening when the north side business groups united in the presentation of an imposing parade on wheels, comprising 110 decorated floats, including most of those that appeared in the Jubilee inaugural parade down Michigan avenue on Monday night. The north side parade was swelled by several hundred gayly decked automobiles.

Parade Through North Side.

By mid-afternoon the lavishly decorated floats were lined for blocks around Welles park at Lincoln and Montrose avenues, the starting point. Promptly at 7 p. m., amid the cheers of a crowd estimated at 12,000, the floats moved north in Lincoln avenue.

Traversing most of the business thoroughfares of the Ravenswood, Lake View, Uptown, Edgewater, and Rogers Park districts, the brilliantly illuminated spectacle was everywhere acclaimed by crowds. Si Mayer, president of the Automobile Club of Illinois, was parade marshal.

In the second parade of the day, scores of mothers wheeled infants in gayly decorated baby carriages along 79th street from Essex to Escanaba avenue, competing for eight prizes, offered by the South Shore Chamber of Commerce. Among carriages bedecked with flags and flowers, the entry of Mrs. Stanley Smith, 8013 Phillips avenue, was adjudged best, the prize going to Mrs. Smith's 15 month old daughter, Nancy Jane.

Clubs Hold Jubilee Luncheons.

One of the day's outstanding Jubilee functions was the luncheon of the Chicago Rotary club at the Hotel Sherman, attended by nearly 1,000 members of the club and their guests and addressed by C. A. Dykstra, city manager of Cincinnati, a former Chicagoan. Recalling his acquaintanceship with Mayor Cermak when he resided here, Mr. Dykstra predicted the beginning of a new era in Chicago with the change of administration.

Another Jubilee luncheon was that of the South End Lions club, addressed by W. A. Dudley, executive secretary of the Greater Central District association. Others were the luncheons of the Logan Square Kiwanis club and the City club. C. H. Van Der Leeuw, of Rotterdam, Holland, president of the International Industrial Relations association, addressed the City club.

State Street Carnival Tonight.

After several neighborhood parades scheduled for today, the focus of Jubilee activity tonight will swing back downtown, where all is in readiness for the State street outdoor celebration, an event that promises to be the largest, costliest and most dazzling public carnival Chicago has ever seen.

The State street merchants who will become the hosts of the city's gayety

JUBILEE—

ARE YOU MISSING IT?

What's the Jubilee going to mean to you when it's all over? —a few memories of stirring spectacles and exciting entertainments?

If that's all you get out of the Jubilee, you're missing the best part of it.

Real joy is to be found in the merchandise values made available for this celebration.

Chicago merchants have searched the market for new styles, new models, new values. With prices in almost every line the lowest in years, they have expended every effort to make it worth your while to shop and to buy.

Advantageous purchases made during the present celebration will be your most gratifying memory of the Jubilee. Today's Tribune is filled with representative Jubilee bargains. Look them over carefully and note the many items offered for the first time in years at such low prices.

lovers at one grand party have set the stage of festivities with extravagant artistry and have planned the entertainment features without reckoning the expense.

The carnival stage—extending for three-quarters of a mile along the world's most important avenue of retail trade from Van Buren to Lake street—was ablaze yesterday with flags and decorations. As nightfall comes this evening a great concentration of flood lights will transform the street into an avenue of shimmering glory.

Carnival time starts at 6 o'clock. Later, as darkness falls, the lights of State street—pronounced by illuminating engineers the most brilliant in the world—will begin to glow.

Huge anti-aircraft searchlights will be brought into play, splashing the tall buildings with light in all the hues of the rainbow. Batteries of arc lights, with concentrated beams as brilliant as the sun, will dart here and there over the massed throng, creating a glorious shimmer wherever they strike.

Mandel to Start Festivities.

As the clock points to 8 p. m. Leon Mandel II., chairman of the carnival committee of the State street council, will press a signal button setting in motion the great entertainment program.

From that hour until 11 p. m. three hundred outstanding stars of radio, stage and screen will carry on a succession of performances intended to crowd every minute of the program with beauty, wonder and amusement.

Six noted dance orchestras, embowered on decorated flat cars of the Chicago Surface Lines at the street intersections, will signalize the beginning of the program by breaking into their separate theme songs. Then the show will be on.

The State street committee, mindful that the Jubilee is intended to proclaim to the world the restoration of Chicago's civic pride, has arranged that the festivities be broadcast throughout America by radio and by short wave transmission across the seas.

W-G-N to Broadcast Fête.

W-G-N and five other local stations will carry the program on their assigned waves. The federal radio commission granted station WCFL a special permit to carry the program on the transoceanic short wave.

Expecting a throng of at least 250,000, the committee has set up six Red Cross dressing stations in easily accessible locations along State street.

Confetti will be on sale at numerous stands along the street, Mr. Mandel said, adding his hope that "the crowds throw millions of pounds of it at every one, including the actors."

And who are the actors? Mr. Mandel submitted a complete list, occupying four pages of the program. There will be clown tumblers, dancers, Japanese acrobats, jugglers, fancy roller skaters, singers, sextets, quartets, and soloists, radio comedians, and scores of others.

Float Trophies Awarded.

Following a two hour conference yesterday of the float award committee on the Michigan avenue parade first honors were voted to Loyola university and the Chinese Benevolent association. The silver trophy offered by Carson Pirie Scott & Co. for the best historical float was presented to the Rev. Robert M. Kelley, S. J., president of the university. Loyola's float depicted the discovery of the site of Chicago by Père Marquette and Louis Joliet.

The loving cup offered by Marshall Field & Co. for the most beautiful float went to Frank Moy, head of the Chinese association, which had entered a pagoda decked in oriental silks. Honorable mention in the historical division was voted to the Chicago Urban league and other Negro groups for their float showing the first log cabin at Fort Dearborn, built by the Negro pioneer, Jean Baptiste Point de Sable.

Tribune Trophy Presented.

THE TRIBUNE trophy, offered to the best boys' band in the parade and awarded to the Lake View High school band, was presented yesterday by James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, to Capt. L. D. Walz, director of the band. Mr. Petrillo was chairman of the band judging committee.

Lake View High school students are planning a celebration in the school auditorium at 10 o'clock this morning when the trophy is taken to the school and presented to the principal, O. W. Winter.

Moissaye Boguslawski, noted pianist, will give a public recital at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Field's tearooms in connection with the celebration of the Jubilee. The program will include selections by Scarlatti, Chopin, Alkan, Paganini-Liszt, and Rubinstein.

THEUNIS PRAISES GO AHEAD SPIRIT OF U. S. BUSINESS

Other Foreign Notables Come to Jubilee.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

George Theunis, retiring president of the International Chamber of Commerce and former prime minister and secretary of state for Belgium, arrived in Chicago yesterday. He will be a principal guest today at the Jubilee luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which will be attended by representatives of thirty-six nations.

"Your methods of meeting business depression are very interesting," commented Mr. Theunis in the course of an interview at the residence of his host, Silas H. Strawn.

"In Europe we pull up our coat collars and become more thrifty. Here you unbutton and spend more. You are young and optimistic, and you have a right to be so, for the economic possibilities of your country have hardly been touched.

A Contrast with Europe.

"You are rich because you have set up no unnatural trading barriers between your states, such as racial feeling and political lines have drawn in the European states.

"You are a democratic country where everybody may be a capitalist. I was reading a Detroit paper that the income of the laboring men in that city alone is 500 millions a year. It would take several Fords and Rockefellers to make that up.

"The business crisis is universal; we feel it harder than you do. Nobody can say how much longer this crisis will last; but a comparison of price movements and stocks indicate that if we have not yet emerged from the depression phase, we have passed through the greater part of it and are about to enter upon a more or less prolonged period of quiescence, preparatory to a recovery.

"The causes of the depression are of a universal character, namely, relative over capitalization, arbitrary, halting intervention on the part of governments, and economic nationalism.

World Understanding Grows.

"Armaments, tariffs, and public debts affect us all profoundly. The business men of the world have been able to understand and discuss these in greater sincerity than ever before. The payment of debts is tied up with the tariff, because we cannot pay debts without trade, and we cannot trade when high walls are put up. The question of armaments is political rather than economic, for it is bound up in the deep desire of each nation for security.

"In Europe the militarist parties are in the minority, but minorities are dangerous. The people of Belgium do not like to think of another invasion and occupation. The people of Germany have been made to feel that France might attack them.

"I am sure that the great majority of the people of both France and Germany, as well as the Belgians, are for peace always, but it is too soon yet after the war to expect the fear of war to be eradicated from the human heart. It springs from deep old racial fears and antagonisms. Peace must be preached. The feel of war must be gotten rid of. It is a psychological matter.

The Danger in Russia.

"Then, there is a new danger in the world. That is Russia. At this time, when there is so much fertile ground of social unrest, the Russians are sowing the seeds of the communist idea.

"I do not look for great economic competition from Russia in manufactured goods at least, for it takes many years to train mechanical experts. The Russians have brains, but they have little common sense.

"They have set up a social system which is the antithesis of yours. Here there is every opportunity for individual initiative. There the individual is just a tiny cog in a great state machine. I do not think their system will last.

Many Problems for Business.

"There are many problems for business men to work out and it is unfortunate that the members of the international chamber of commerce congress recently closed at Washington were not able to discuss the Russian situation frankly, due to private commitments and contracts.

"The present state of affairs is being prolonged unnecessarily, because the mental attitude toward the depression strangles fruitful and creative initiative. This is a vicious circle which must be broken. On the day when a sufficient number of people are convinced that better times are in sight, a wave of optimism will spread, and after a few false starts will set the economic machine in full motion again."

Other Nations Represented.

Denmark, France, Germany, Japan, Norway, Sweden, and Czecho-Slovakia were also represented yesterday in various groups in the city as Jubilee visitors from the International Chamber of Commerce.

Among the other foreign guests in the city or to arrive soon are:

Denmark—Benny and Mrs. Dessau, Thorkild Peter Hansen Juncker.

France—Henri Joseph Andre Bachellery, Andre Bertaut, Jules Narcisse Destombe, Jean Duchenois, Louis Henri Ferasson, Fernand and Mrs. Geneve, Daniel and Mrs. Laurent, Alexander Lavergne, Andre Rene Jean Picard.

Germany—Fritz Heinrich Curschmann and Mrs. Curschmann, Dr. Fritz Demuth, Bernhard Grund, Dr. Edward Hamm, Dr. Johannes Kruger, Dr. Robert Marx, Joseph Pschorr, Oswald Roesler, Richard Unger, Harald and Mrs. Voight.

Representatives from Britain.

This is the true picture of clothing prices. Note that $100 suits are not down to $50 and $50 suits are not down to $15. We repeat our statement in a previous ad: 'If any factor in the industry can force the issue of clothing prices, it certainly must be Hart Schaffner & Marx, the world's largest makers of fine clothes.' Our Jubilee special offers

WORSTED SUITS OF CUSTOM QUALITY

Because the decline of prices generally has given free and unbridled license to absurd liberties, we purposely omit comparative prices. These are not $75 or $100 suits, but we honestly believe they are the very best suits offered anywhere at $36 this year

About a thousand suits have been reduced for this occasion, all tell their own story of quality and value. Fine, sturdy worsteds, stout yet easy-draping, all have that distinctive custom feel and appearance. All sizes in a great variety of styles and colors, $36

CHICAGO MEETS JAPAN ROYALTY AT GRAND PARTY

Good Time Marks Stately Dinner for Visitors.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Midwestern democracy and far eastern aristocracy met each other in the grand manner at the soiree the Japan-America society gave last night in the Palmer house for Prince Takamatsu and his bride, Princess Kiniko. The triumph of the evening was that the event managed to be stately without being stiff. It probably will go down in history as one of the most pretentious public functions ever staged for visitors, royal or otherwise, yet everybody had a good time.

Formality due to the station of the guests of honor as the brother and sister-in-law of the Japanese emperor formed somewhat forbiddingly in advance reports and admonitions regarding the evening's program. The 600 guests were warned to be in their places fifteen minutes in advance of the dinner hour, or the doors would be closed against them. There were debates about the proprieties of meeting and greeting Orientals of such high degree. But in reality things moved along swimmingly.

Troop Forms Guard of Honor.

Footmen in plum colored livery, with dark knee breeches and gold braided coats, greeted the 600 guests in the foyer of the fourth floor of the hotel with requests to gather in the Red Lacquer room. Brilliantly garbed women and black clad men, many with chests resplendent with medals and orders, ranged themselves ten deep around the room for the reception.

Half an hour tardy, the prince and princess were ushered in through a double row of fully uniformed members of the Black Horse troop, forming a guard of honor. With the Japanese consul, Yoshio Muto, and their suites, they advanced to the center of the room, then passed around the outer rim of guests, meeting as many as could comfortably be presented.

The royal party then retired and the dinner guests drifted en masse into the grand ballroom, where all were in their places when the guests of honor entered. The tableau at the moment was as splendid as any Chicago has seen.

Lights Play on Flags.

Facing the visitors were the crossed flags of America and Japan, softly lighted by colored spotlights. Behind the prince's table was a background of silver cloth centered with an enormous green wreath, and greenery caught with gold decorated the walls. Eighty uniformed waiters stood motionless at the balcony rail, arms folded, while the guests were seated.

Mr. Chauncey McCormick, chairman for the dinner, entered on the arm of Prince Takamatsu wearing a gown of flowered taffeta. Princess Kiniko was escorted by Charles H. Cheney, president of the society. She, too, girlish and chic, she was gowned in an evening gown of heavy ivory satin with a cowl neck back and front. Molded at the hipline, it featured a short peplum beneath which the material flowed out into moderate fullness in the long even skirt. Her slippers were also of ivory.

Her highness wore a strikingly beautiful diamond necklace which went into a presented the ransom of at least a couple of kings and brought subdued gasps of admiration from the feminine group. The stones, each about carat size, were linked instead of mounted, the strand being of generous length. She wore no other jewelry and carried a small corsage of tea roses.

Others in the party seated at the prince's table were Rear Admiral and Mrs. Crosley of Great Lakes, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Parker of Fort Sheridan, M. and Mme. Muto, Mme. Ochiai, lady in waiting to the princess; Commander Yamagata, aid to the prince; Col. G. T. Langhorne, Stanley Hornbeck, Lieutenant Commander Midzuno, and Dr. Allen D. Albert.

Speaking in his native tongue, Prince Takamatsu expressed the pleasure of himself and the princess at their reception in Chicago, "of which we long have heard as a leader in the commercial and industrial life of the world."

Police Back Cleaners' Defiance of Al Capone

Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, arbitrator of the cleaning and dying industry in Chicago, yesterday was promised full coöperation of the police department in his defiance of Al Capone's attempt to assume control of the industry.

"We will give you the fullest coöperation and render every aid in our power," Commissioner Alcock told Dr. Squires, before the latter left for New York.

OCTOGENARIAN AND 2 PALS WIN HIS DIVORCE CASE

Three octogenarians thumped into the courtroom of Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday to ask him to dissolve a marriage performed eight years before he was born. The trio massed 245 years of experience in their plea before the youngest judge on the Cook county bench, who at 36 years might easily have been the grandson of any of them.

The divorce was asked by Benjamin Harris, 82 years old, 5328 Woodlawn avenue, a flagmaker. He was flanked by A. H. Hart, 83 years old, 1431 East 69th street, and Fred Meyer, 80 years old, of the Del Prado hotel.

Harris charged his wife, Dr. Sarah Harris, 79 years old, a dentist at 846 East 47th street, with desertion. The couple were married on July 31, 1887, and separated on Feb. 3, 1926. When Harris took the stand his voice broke and tears stood in his eyes.

"I've been treated shamefully," he told Judge Desort. "We were married 44 years ago and lived happily until her cousin came to live with us. The cousin is Morris Kuhns. His presence led to difficulties which ended with her leaving home. I want you to hear the whole story of our marriage."

"I'm sorry, but I cannot hear it now," said the judge.

Meyer and Hart were called to the stand and corroborated their friend's story. Each was asked how long he had known Harris.

"Not more than 65 years," Meyer replied after a moment of calculation.

"Since the Chicago fire," Hart said. "Not much more than 60 years."

CERMAK TO FILL MORE CITY HALL OFFICES TONIGHT

Expect 9 Appointments at Council Meeting.

Mayor Cermak may submit as many as nine appointments for approval by the city council at its meeting this evening. The subject of filling the important posts in the city hall that are still open was discussed in several conferences yesterday and while some questions were left unsettled it was said that at least eight appointments were definitely determined upon.

WM. L. O'CONNELL.

One place about which there is some doubt because the man selected for it said he had not been consulted was that of fire commissioner. The gossip was that Mayor Cermak had decided to offer it to William L. O'Connell, for many years leader of the Harrison-Dunne wing of the Democrats, and manager of the Lewis senatorial campaign last year.

Mr. O'Connell said he could not discuss such an appointment since it had not been offered to him.

Civil Service Appointments.

It is predicted that all three members of the civil service commission will be named. It is understood that the mayor has listed Joseph W. Cremin, of the real estate firm of Cremin & O'Connor, for the presidency of the board.

For the other two places he has selected Joseph P. Geary, formerly commissioner under the Dever administration, as the second Democrat, and Prof. Leonard D. White of the political science department of the University of Chicago as the Republican minority member.

Two more members of the board of local improvements are said to be on the list in order to give President B. F. Lindheimer a quorum with which to transact business. Those mentioned for these places are Joseph F. Higgins, formerly with Nash Bros., contractors and builders, and Joseph Honan, a real estate man now employed by the sanitary district. Higgins is committeeman for the 32d ward and Honan is committeeman for the 5th ward.

Predict Post for Ericsson.

It is predicted that John E. Ericsson will be named building commissioner. He is a brother of Henry Ericsson who held that office during the last administration of Carter Harrison. He has the indorsement of several Swedish-American groups.

Edward J. Kaindl, former alderman and nominee for city treasurer in the April election, is expected to receive his appointment as city collector, a post for which he has been scheduled for some time.

Harry Kohl, committeeman for the 36th ward, is listed for appointment as boiler inspector, an office he held under the Dever administration.

Two Aldermanic Contests.

Two aldermanic contests, echoes of the recent election, will be filed with the council. Both are instituted by former aldermen shown by the returns as defeated by narrow margins.

James H. Taylor will file against Ald. Wiley W. Mills of the 37th ward who was shown victor by 288 votes, and Eugene Nusser will file against Ald. George W. Robinson of the 36th. The returns gave Robinson a lead of 152 votes.

The council is judge of its own membership and under the law decides aldermanic election disputes.

175 SIMIANS STAGE BLOODY RACE FIGHT ON A FLOATING ZOO

Philadelphia, Pa., May 12.—[Special.]—The British freighter Cathlamet, forty days at sea from West African ports, was plowing past the Delaware breakwaters this morning.

A monkey, a pet of the crew and with liberty of the ship, discovered a new game. He pulled a peg on a door and a cage of monkeys were loose; he pulled another peg and a cage of chimpanzees were free. In all he released 100 monkeys and 75 chimpanzees.

A bunch of monkeys attacked a chimpanzee, which promptly yelled a chimpanzee "Hey, Rube" and the battle of the century was on.

There were gang wars on the decks, battles in the hold, and single combats in the yard arms. Crowds of monkeys chased chimpanzees from foremast to stern and chimpanzees chased monkeys from bridge to tail light.

They bit and slugged and scratched; they were knocked from masts and hit the deck still fighting; they chewed and clawed in coal hole and engine room.

And all the time they yelled, and shrieked, and screamed. The din was heard for miles. African geese, long legged ducks, and jungle wildcats, still penned up, added to the outcry.

Customs officers, fearing a mutiny, put out to the Cathlamet in a cutter. They found the crew manning the fire hose and playing streams of water on the battling simians.

Reinforced, the crew stopped the riot and put the rioters back in the cages.

But as the ship docked the chimpanzees were still beating their breasts with resounding thumps of their flats and shouting triumphant cries. Fifty monkeys had been killed or severely wounded.

The animals were consigned to zoölogical gardens or private zoölogists in this country.

DOCTOR KILLED IN AUTO CRASH ON NORTH SIDE

Dr. John E. Galloway, 40 years old, 2710 Pratt boulevard, assistant to Dr. Leroy Kuhn, superintendent of the West North Avenue hospital, was fatally injured early this morning when his car and a machine driven by William Klass, 2016 West Monroe street, collided at Western and Armitage avenues. Klass was held by the police and Dr. Galloway was taken to Alexian Brothers hospital, where he died a few hours later.

An unidentified man was killed and another who carried in his pocket a card bearing the name of Charles Stydle, no address, was probably fatally injured this morning when the automobiles in which they were riding collided at 18th street and Ashland avenue. The license number on the car in which the man who was killed was riding was issued to Elias Norland, 200 Laflin street, and the other car's license was issued to Ben Mansfield, 2709 Washington boulevard.

The deaths of Dr. Galloway, the unidentified man and two others raised the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 412. The other victims:

Jacob Del Granda, 7 years old, 143 North 22d avenue, Melrose Park. Fatally injured yesterday when he was struck in front of his home by an automobile driven by Joseph Sturino, 19 years old, 142 North 21st avenue, Melrose Park. He died a few hours later at the Westlake hospital in the suburb.

George Moeller, 11 years old, 1000 West 63d street. Killed when he was struck at 63d and Halsted streets by an automobile driven by Roy E. Hagstrom, 3051 South Morgan street. The lad was taken to the Englewood hospital by Hagstrom, but was pronounced dead on arrival there. Hagstrom was held for the inquest.

Mrs. Marguerite Gehrke, 41 years old, 724 Clinton avenue, Oak Park, died yesterday in the Elizabeth Condell hospital at Libertyville of injuries suffered in an automobile accident on the Rand road near Wauconda on Monday. The car in which she was riding, driven by Harry Peterson of Oak Park, overturned. Two others in the automobile were slightly injured, as was Peterson.

FOUND DEAD; GAMBLING BLAMED.

Anthony Ratzinick, 24 years old, 3221 South Cicero avenue, a guard employed by the elevated lines, was found dead last night in the bathroom of his home. A gas jet in the room was open. According to his wife, Josephine, he had sustained heavy losses gambling in "The Ship," a Capone resort in Cicero.

SOCIETY WOMAN SUES LOVE RIVAL FOR $250,000 DAMAGES

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—A $250,000 suit for alienation of affections brought by Mrs. Jane V. Murchie, socially prominent Bostonian, against the former wife of Commander J. K. L. Ross, wealthy Canadian race horse owner, was disclosed today in Supreme court when a motion to dismiss was denied.

Mrs. Murchie says that in January, 1930, Mrs. Ethel Aldine Ross persuaded her husband, Guy Murchie, Boston attorney, to leave her.

LIE DETECTOR TO CLEAR KIRKLAND, DEFENSE CLAIMS

Start Evidence in Second Trial of Youth.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Valparaiso, Ind., May 12.—[Special]—Carolyn Draves, a trim figure in black with steady, somber blue eyes, took the witness stand. An audience of country folk craned their necks. Twelve jurors with cuspidors handy sat up attentively in the jury box. And the second trial of Virgil Kirkland for the rape and murder of Arlene Draves was started this afternoon in Judge Grant Crumpacker's courtroom.

CAROLYN DRAVES. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

The crowd, eager for sordid details of a gin party in Gary last November which ended in the death of an 18 year old girl, got its fill. Attorneys in their opening statements were brutally direct in their predictions of what the evidence will show. The young girls in the back rows revealed that the knack of blushing has not been lost by the younger generation. None, however, were observed retiring.

Defense Springs Surprise.

The first day of the trial has its "surprise move," originating this time with the defense. Attorney Oscar Thiel told the jury that Virgil would be proved innocent by evidence gathered with the lie detector, a device which assumes to discover the truthfulness of persons under examination.

"We have put Virgil Kirkland under the lie detector," the lawyer told the jury. "He reacted in a manner that proves him one hundred per cent innocent. We will show that the lie detector is vouched for by professors of the greatest universities and that it absolutely can judge from the emotions of a person if he is telling the truth or not."

The 20 year old defendant, smartly attired in a light brown suit with a bright flowered tie, looked around complacently.

Carolyn, sister of Arlene Draves, was the first witness. She was placed on the stand by Prosecutor John Underwood to prove the corpus delecti. She also described the appearance of her sister's body as it lay on a slab in the undertaker's morgue and her vivid picture of the bruises and marks on the body. A protest from the defense attorneys!

Girl's Injuries Detailed.

"She had a great bruise on her chin," said Carolyn. To illustrate she raised her fist and laid it against her own jaw, as if to intimate that a blow had caused the bruise. She was instructed not to indulge in such actions.

She testified, with a sober composure, that she had last seen her sister alive on Thanksgiving day, 1930, and that she had next seen her on the morning of Nov. 30 in the morgue.

"She was 18 years old," she answered in response to further questioning with the suggestion of a catch in her voice. "And she weighed only about 108 or 110 pounds."

Deputy Coroner Chester A. Owen of Gary depicted the stoicism of young Kirkland when, after his arrest, he was called upon to view the body in the morgue.

"That's Babe," commented her professed lover when he saw the body, according to the witness. Kirkland then left the room.

Describes Talk with Kirkland.

Owen gave a minute description of bruises on the body. There was a large swelling on the right side of the forehead, he testified, small scratches above this swelling, a discolored area on the neck, a small bruise on the left breast, bruises on one arm above the elbow, discolorations on the shoulder blades, and a quantity of blood on the thighs. The jurors leaned forward to catch these details.

"Did you talk with the defendant, Kirkland?" he was asked.

"Yes, Virgil said he had had relations with Arlene more than once that night," the witness replied. "He was with her on the front porch of the David Thompson home where the party was held and in the automobile. He said he hadn't struck her, just slapped her a few times to bring her to when she was drunk. He also said that the four other boys had been intimate with her in the automobile or attempted to."

The four others referred to are Leon Stamford, Paul Barton, David Thompson and Tony Shirk. They are also under indictment for murder.

Identifies Bloodstained Shirt.

Owen identified a shirt worn by Kirkland that night which bore blood spots. He also identified a seat cover of the automobile in which the unconscious girl had lain. The cover was stained with blood.

Policeman George Harms of Gary also identified these articles. He searched the automobile and found the girl's slippers under a front seat, he said. Arlene was fully clothed except for the slippers, he said, although her stockings were rolled down below her knees.

The state is prepared to offer a much more complete case against Kirkland at this second trial, Prosecutor Underwood declared after he had dismissed two counts of the indictment, leaving Kirkland on trial only for murder by rape and murder by attempted rape. The state will have from four to ten new witnesses, he said.

In his opening statement the prosecutor repeated the state's story of the crime in detail. He said evidence would show that Kirkland a month before the slaying told John Churchill, an acquaintance, that "I haven't made Arlene yet, but I will or else beat the hell out of her."

"Thirty-one wounds were found on Arlene's body," he told the jury. "Blood was found on Kirkland's shirt and sprinkled over the rear seat of the automobile in which she was attacked. After their arrest Kirkland and his four companions all confessed to attacks or attempted attacks upon the girl."

Defense Attorney Thiel presented another side of the killing.

"The evidence shows that both Virgil and Arlene were drinking early in the evening and that by midnight she had in her system a considerable quantity of raw alcohol and wine," he told the jury. "It will also be shown that Arlene was not a virgin, that she had not been one for some time. She had previously submitted to the caresses of Kirkland.

"She died, not as a result of being raped, but from a fall on the porch which produced a blood clot in her brain."

Jury That Will Decide Fate of Virgil Kirkland

GARAGE OWNERS' HEAD PROMISES TO BAR RACKETS

Henry T. Jurgensen, president of the newly formed Chicago Public Garage Owners' association, of which David [Cockeye Mulligan] Ablin is organizer, yesterday promised payment of a $1,000 reward for the conviction of any person slashing tires of automobiles parked in the street. Letters carrying this pledge will be sent to the commissioner of police and the state's attorney's offices this morning.

"Our organization is legitimate and will furnish a needed service," Mr. Jurgensen told Charles Mueller, assistant state's attorney in charge of the racket bureau. "We intend to guarantee service to every car parked in a member garage. But all forms of racketeering are out."

The association yesterday protested against recent newspaper articles in which it was stated that Ablin "muscled" his way into the organization.

"The officers and board of directors, by mutual agreement, procured the services of David Ablin, who, by his previous experience in this field, was considered capable and qualified," the association's statement said. Ablin at one time was head of the Midwest Garage Owners' association and was driven out by George [Red] Barker.

HOUSE ADVANCES BILL FOR 2 TO AID SUPREME COURT

Only One Commissioner Needed, Snell Says.

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Over objections the house of representatives today advanced to third reading the bill to allow the Illinois Supreme court two commissioners to assist it in its work.

The principal objection came from Representative Truman A. Snell [Dem., Carlinville], who sought to amend the bill by striking out the provision for one of the commissioners.

"When this bill was before the judiciary committee of the house," Snell said, "Chief Justice Dunn explained that in 1927, when the commissioners were voted, the court was 240 cases behind on its docket. He said that the court now is only 47 cases behind. I submit that one commissioner ought to be sufficient at this time.

Urges Cutting Off Secretary.

"The other day we passed an appropriation to allow Justic Frederic R. De Young of Chicago an addition secretary and I voted for the bill; he should have an extra secretary, but if we added one helper to the court there we should take one off here."

Representative Roger F. Little [Rep., Champaign], the Emmerson floor leader, defended the bill stating that the court did not like to ask for the commissioners, but thought it really should have them.

Insists Court Is Handicapped.

Representative Frank A. McCarthy [Rep., Elgin] said the court was handicapped, two of its members having been unable to work at various times. It would be a mistake not to allow the extra help, he said.

The vote to table Snell's amendment showed 48 for it and 35 against it.

Voliva Files Sixth Suit Against Zion Residents

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, yesterday filed in the Circuit court at Waukegan the praecipe of a $50,000 suit for damages against Mrs. Margaret Hopkins, Zion undertaker. According to Carl Huth, secretary to Voliva, the action was taken as an aftermath of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed in the federal court against Voliva's business interests. Federal Judge Woodward denied this petition. Five similar suits were filed in the Circuit court at Waukegan by Voliva on Saturday.

KILL GANGSTER AND THROW HIS BODY FROM AUTO

Capone Henchman Found Slain in Woods.

Gangsters murdered Harry Hyter, a minor hanger-on of the Capone gang, and threw his body from an automobile in Jarunowski's woods, near 157th street and Torrence avenue, yesterday morning. Hyter lived at 2019 North Keystone avenue with his wife, Gladys, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Swanson.

Chief William Collins of the county highway police said he had found no specific clews to the motive for the killing.

Hyter had been shot in the head and chest and obviously the body was taken to the woods in an automobile, as the clothing was not wet although there had been an early morning rain there.

Wife Reveals True Name.

A ruby ring on his finger helped to identify the body after papers found in his pocket indicated that his wife's name was Gladys Swanson. Communication with the woman brought out the name of the slain man after the mention of the ring definitely assured her of the identity of the victim. She asked police to ascertain if the figure of a woman and the name Marion were tattooed on his right arm.

Hyter was known as the "Pierce robber," and was charged with holding up a party of prominent people, including Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, in Michigan boulevard, in January, 1929. Others robbed were John F. Hagey, vice president of the First National bank, and Mrs. Hagey.

Mr. Traylor identified Hyter, but when the case finally came to trial the banker said he was not positive, and the case was dismissed.

Known as Pal of Sam Hunt.

Hyter was next arrested with Sam Hunt, a Capone gunman whose activities have brought him in contact with police many times; Rocco Rotuna, and Murray Humphries. Hunt was later arrested after a shooting on the north side. Private watchmen who saw the shooting arrested Hunt, who had a sawed off shotgun in a golf bag. Hyter was known as a pal of Hunt.

When the body was found yesterday there was a receipt in the coat in the name of Gladys Swanson showing the purchase of a new automobile for $1,850 on March 13, 1931. Mrs. Hyter said she knew nothing of this purchase. Her husband was in the automobile financing business and was connected with "some firm on 26th street," she said. She said she had been married to him six years and never knew he had been arrested.

At the detective bureau it was said Hyter's record went back to 1921, when he and five others were arrested as members of a band of automobile thieves and bootleggers who operated at Gary. In his clothing yesterday were several cards with amounts in "gallons" mentioned, which led to the supposition he had been selling alcohol recently.

CITY FILES PLEA IN SUIT TO TEST TRANSIT LAWS

The city filed its answer yesterday to the quo warranto proceedings started by Attorney General Calstrom and State's Attorney Swanson to test the legality of the laws passed by the 1929 legislature to enable Chicago to grant a terminable permit to a consolidated transportation company. The case is pending before Judge Stanley Klarkowsky of the Circuit court.

The pea of jurisdiction sets forth that a proper constitutional basis for the consolidation was established both by the enabling acts of the legislature and by the comprehensive traction ordinance passed by the city council in 1930.

Unification of the transportation lines is essential to avoid congestion and accomodate the city's needs, the plea says, and the ordinance was passed only after the feasibility of the consolidation had been assured and the financial problems in respect to the merger had been settled.

The petition also sets forth that the merger is an economic move to increase the efficiency of local transportation and decrease the cost of maintenance and operation.

Dry Raiders Seize Alcohol Cooking Plant in Cicero

A recooking alcohol still with a capacity of 1,000 gallons a day was seized by prohibition agents late yesterday in a house at 1228 South 51st avenue, Cicero, the booze territory of the Capone syndicate. Thomas Sevort was arrested as the tender and 1,100 gallons of alcohol were destroyed. Other dry raiders wrecked a small brewery at Elm and Green streets, McHenry, and a saloon was raided at 3655 Southport avenue, where Van Rodenburg was arrested.

TURN DESPERADO OVER TO U. S. AT HEARING ON WRIT

Police Keep Custody of 4 Others in Gang.

The six gangsters captured in East St. Louis on Friday appeared yesterday before Chief Justice McGoorty in the Criminal court in a hearing on writs of habeas corpus for their release. One was turned over to federal authorities, another was released on bond, the case of a third was continued until today and the other cases were continued until Friday.

EDWARD O'HARA.

Edward [Machine Gun] O'Hara, former member of the notorious Joe Traum gang af Indiana, was turned over to Edward Moore, special agent of the department of justice, and William Bloom, deputy marshal. He is to be returned to Indianapolis, where he forfeited his bond in a liquor conspiracy case.

Start Extradition Action.

The cases of Howard Lee, Thomas P. O'Connor, and Jack Britt were continued until Friday when County Attorney Max Towle of Lincoln, Neb., said he has begun extradition proceedings to take them to Lincoln. The three have been identified as participants in the $2,800,000 robbery of the First National Bank and Trust company of Lincoln last September.

Attorney Louis Piquett, representing the three bank suspects, objected to their being held by the police and asked that the prisoners be removed to the county jail. The request was denied by Judge McGoorty at the insistance of Assistant State's Attorney Q. J. Chott that nothing be done to hamper the police investigations which may lead to the solution of many bank robberies, kidnapings, and murders, including the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven Moran gangsters.

Wins Release on Bond.

William McQuillan, another of the gang, known as a gambler, was released on bond of $2,000. Attorney Piquett said McQuillan was being illegally held, declaring that the prisoner had no gang connections.

Attorney John Cashin, representing Tommy Hayes, last of the six, demanded his client's release on a similar plea. Assistant State's Attorney Chott declared Hayes has a long criminal record and may be identified by witnesses of various crimes, now coming here to view the gangsters. The judge continued Hayes' case until today.

Witnesses to bank robberies in Wisconsin, Michigan, and southern Illinois are to arrive this morning to view the gangsters.

ARMY TO GIVE UP UNNEEDED POSTS, HOOVER ASSERTS

Hopes Other Departments Can Use Them.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—President Hoover announced today that the war department plans to dispose of between twenty and thirty army posts, world war camps, and other surplus real estate as a part of its economy program. The President did not enumerate properties to be abandoned, but it was learned that Camp Upham of Long Island, Camp Devens of Massachusetts; Fort Lincoln, N. D.; Fort Meade, S. D.; numerous historic frontier and coast artillery posts as well as Mexican border posts, are slated for transfer to other government departments if arrangements can be made.

ADMIRAL PRATT. [Associated Press Photo.]

It was learned also that President Hoover has called upon the navy for information regarding its surplus shore properties. As a result two navy groups are delving into the navy's 400 million dollar shore establishment for information which will later find its way to the White House. Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, stated today that he expects to recommend a cut in the shore establishment in the interest of efficiency similar to the one he inaugurated last year in naval forces afloat.

Plans Cut in Air Program.

Simultaneously it was learned that White House plans are under foot to reduce the size of future appropriations for the army and navy air services. The President's view, as explained today, is that these air services will not need so much money for new planes when the five year air expansion programs are completed.

In discussing the army's plans for abolishing a number of army posts, the President stated that he had appointed a committee representing the army, the department of justice, the department of agriculture and the veterans' bureau to study these proposed abandonments to see whether they could be utilized by other branches of the government.

Savings in Transfers Unexplained.

The President indicated that the government strategy is to attempt to placate communities where posts are to be abandoned by utilizing the properties for other public purposes. He also stated that it was possible some of the surplus properties could be utilized by states for institutional or educational projects.

Just how savings were to be effected in the national budget by transferring surplus property from one department to another instead of selling it was not explained at the White House.

"GIMME BOYS" OF EUROPE, J. J. DAVIS CALLS CHAMBER

Assails Proposals on Debts and Tariff.

Coatesville, Pa., May 12.— (AP) — Classing as "gimme boys," international chamber of commerce speakers who asked revision of the United States war debt and tariff policies, Senator Davis said today these demands were the "boldest affront of their kind ever offered to our nation."

The Pennsylvania Republican spoke at services dedicating the new veteran's hospital here. After summarizing the costs of the world war, and referring to President Hoover's statement to the international chamber of congress that five billion dollars was being spent annually to maintain armament, Davis said:

"The effect of this militaristic perfection prevailing in many quarters of Europe has already introduced itself in the internal affairs of the United States, as was disclosed recently at the conference of the international chamber of commerce, when spokesmen for leading world powers flatly nad bluntly demanded that the United States reduce or eliminate its tariff safeguards so that our home markets may become a dumping paradise for the products of Europe. Furthermore, they insisted that the United States should cancel the war debts owed to it by European nations.

"As bait they offered our country a small foreign market in exchange for a wide open door into our home markets.

"Strangely enough," Davis said, "those who demanded tariff and war debt policy changes did not suggest "revision of the Versailles treaty, the infamous document which is a breeder of future wars and which is largely responsible for the upset economic conditions prevailing in Europe and which in turn have affected trade conditions."

SALUTES

THE NEW CHICAGO

Few Chicago institutions have had the privilege that Sargents has had, of seeing Chicago rise from a struggling village to a metropolis of world-wide fame and importance. But in all its seventy-eight years of growth with Chicago, never has Sargents been more proud of its city than it is today. We have noted the keen desire for civic progress; we have become aware of the awakening of its long dormant spirit; we have felt the quickened pace of its pulse beat. With rightful pride, therefore, Sargents, which knew Chicago through bad times and good, salutes the new Chicago, knowing full well that it is again on the threshold of a future which will eclipse any of its past phenomenal achievements. And Sargents has kept abreast of the "I WILL" spirit—maintaining the best equipped laboratories and the highest trained registered pharmacists (18 in number) in the world to serve Chicago's ever increasing millions.

WITNESSES ARE OUT OF TOWN IN SHORTAGE QUIZ

Former City Officials Are Hunted in Vain.

Charles S. Peterson, former city treasurer, and five of the political leaders in the former city hall regime were among those whom the special grand jury's detectives were unable to find yesterday. They were wanted by the jury for questioning regarding the alleged shortage of $36,000 in the city treasury.

ROBERT PERBOHNER. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Peterson, Samuel Ettelson, former corporation counsel; Michael J. Flaherty, former president of the board of local improvements; Christian Paschen, former building commissioner; Carter Blatchford, member of the school board, and Earl G. Bingham, chief cashier in the treasury office, were the men who could not be located by the detectives.

Two Reported in Europe.

Ettelson and Faherty are reported in Europe. Conflicting reports were heard about Paschen and Blatchford. Detectives said they had given subpoenas for these two men to employés who said they would see that those named received them. Later it was reported that Paschen had started for Europe and Blatchford for Philadelphia. Peterson was reported in conference with his attorney, former Senator Charles S. Deneen, but he did not appear at the grand jury room.

Lewis Myers, president of the school board, did appear, and it is reported he told the jurors that Richard Wolfe, former commissioner of public works, who first told of the alleged shortage in the city treasury, was mistaken when Wolfe said he [Myers] attended the midnight meeting to contribute $5,000 to make up a $40,000 deficit.

Louis Golan and Robert Perbohner, the former an insurance agent for the previous administration, and the latter a member of the board of local improvements, were before the jury. They are reported to have partially corroborated Wolfe's story of the midnight meeting called by Ettelson.

Busch Is Witness.

Corporation Counsel Busch was also a witness before the jury. He had no knowledge about the shortage, he is reported to have told the jurors, except what he has heard since he took over the office formerly occupied by Ettelson. August Singer, who succeeded Peterson as treasurer, also was a witness again.

When the jury adjourned yesterday subject to call, probably not for another week, the jurors issued a statement saying that they are not ready to act.

"The evidence thus far presented is not such as to warrant the jury to act at this time," read the statement. "Later evidence may develop additional facts and then the jury will consider action."

Await Complete Audit.

It was explained that the jurors have not received the complete audit, nor have they been given all of the notes and paper placed in the treasury in lieu of cash. The jurors announced that they have been given some photostatic copies of notes, which are alleged to show the erasures of "O. K., C. S. P." These are some of the things the jurors want to ask Peterson about. It is also said that notes of more than $36,000 are charged up to Bingham.

Two representatives of the bonding companies, which were surety for the former officials, were also called before the jury. It is reported that they told the jurors the companies did not wish to prosecute on shortage charges. This seems to be the attitude, it was reported, of all the city officials so far before the jury. The jurors were told, it is reported, that any shortage will be refunded.

PHYSICIAN REPORTS KING PRAJADHIPOK'S EYE HEALING NICELY

Purchase, N. Y., May 13.—(AP)—A bulletin issued at Ophir hall by Dr. John M. Wheeler said that the operated eye of the king of Siam was found in good condition and the wound showed proper signs of healing when the first dressing was done today.

Queen Rambaisarni, relieved by the improvement of the king, joined the remainder of the royal party at meals. She found the king more cheerful this morning.

When she informed him of the message of greeting and inquiry received from President Hoover, the king asked her to thank the President. The queen personally dispatched a telegram to the President.

The king again listened to radio programs and operated the remote control arrangement of the receiving set beside his bed.

Cermak Invited to Be Honor Guest at Dinner

Mayor Cermak was invited yesterday to be a guest of honor at the Merit Service dinner to be held on the evening of May 25 at the Congress hotel. The affair is sponsored by the Woman's City club with the coöperation of more than 30 civic organizations. The scheduled speakers, in addition to Mayor Cermak, will be United States District Attorney Johnson, E. D. Griffenhagen, president of the Civil Service association; L. J. O'Rourke, director of personal research of the United States civil service commission, and Thomas E. Campbell, president of the federal civil service commission.

SHOUSE INSISTS DEPRESSION, NOT RUM BIG ISSUE

Austin, Tex., May 13.—(AP)—The opinion that the business depression—and not prohibition—will be the paramount issue of the 1932 presidential campaign was expressed tonight by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee.

Addressing the legislature, in a state which left the Democratic fold to vote for Herbert Hoover in 1928, Shouse defended the prohibition proposals of Chairman Raskob and said his party, when it regains power, will "do the obvious things for the relief of unemployment instead of merely talking about them."

In addition, he pledged the support of himself and of Raskob to the presidential candidate selected by the Democratic convention "whether he is wet or dry."

"It would be deplorable," Shouse said, "if the selection of our chief magistrate and the directors of legislation who must guide the destinies of the United States should hinge forever on the question of prohibition, however grave and far reaching that question may be."

SPANISH POLICE KILL RIOTERS FIRING CONVENT

Four Slain, 30 Wounded in Cordoba Battle.

Paris and Madrid of Marquis Luca de Tena, owner of the monarchist newspaper, ABC, and other aristocrats, we now understand," he said. "It is for this that I will file proceedings against Don Alfonso, the Bourbon, who in my opinion has not been king of Spain since Primo de Rivera became dictator."

Energy was shown in Madrid today. At 10 o'clock this morning troops fired on a mob looting the smoking ruins of one of the monasteries and wounded one man. The capital passed an animated day, but evidences of martial law were few. Most of the troops were withdrawn from the suburbs.

VATICAN IN PROTEST

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 12.—The Vatican state department today instructed Papal Nuncio Frederico Tedeschini at Madrid to demand an explicit apology through diplomatic channels from the Spanish republican government for the attacks on churches, monasteries, and convents in yesterday's disorders, it was learned tonight.

The Vatican protest, while not blaming these attacks on the republican government, will assert that violence against religious orders does not represent a general political tendency, but is the result of the anti-religious odium of a small minority of Spain.

Charges Treaty Violation.

The Vatican protest further points out "that attacks against religious orders is a violation of the concordat between Spain and the holy see to which the republican government is bound as much as was the previous royal government.

The protest will contest the theory that the violence against the church is a reaction to the alleged clerical meddling in preparations for the coming elections. Immediate repudiations of attacks on convents must be forthcoming, if diplomatic relations are to be continued, according to the instructions sent to the papal nuncio.

Vatican circles today did not conceal the fact that grave anxiety is felt over the violence to which expression was given against the Catholic church in the Spanish riots. Church authorities here, however, maintain that the attacks on the monasteries and convents came from the presence in Spain of communist and Socialist agitators, rather than being a general popular protest against opposition of the church to the republican régime.

Disorders Were Anticipated.

Such activities against the church were to be expected in view of the sudden ouster of King Alfonso and the radical change of government, according to those who speak with semi-official authority for the Vatican state department.

But, on the contrary, it is maintained that the Catholic attitude, so far as it is governed by central authority in Rome, toward preparations for the parliamentary elections, is perfectly simple and loyal and should lead to no equivocations, it was stated. This attitude was summed up as follows:

"Do nothing against the republic! Vote for those candidates who give assurance that they will act in accordance with Catholic principles!"

Vatican circles have refrained from discussing or taking action in the republican government's protest with respect to the pronouncements regarded as anti-republican in character by the cardinal primate of Spain, Archbishop Pedro Segura of Toledo.

FLEES HOSPITAL

MRS. ISABEL D. M'HIE.

RICH CHICAGO WIDOW FLEES FROM HOSPITAL

Dispatches from Baltimore yesterday stated that Mrs. Isabel D. McHie, widow of Sid McHie, Chicago broker, had escaped from a hospital to which she was committed after being judged incompetent to administer her large fortune. Apparently she was able to leave the place by trading garments with a woman who had gone to visit her.

About eight years ago Mrs. McHie gained notoriety by announcing that she had left all her property to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with the proviso that the largest hospital in the world for the care of animals should be built in New York. At that time she had carved a statue of herself with the epitaph: "The more I see of humans the better I like dogs."

VICTIM OF FUMES DIES AFTER HE IS SAVED FROM FIRE

George Cadman, 67 years old, 3545 Reta street, was overcome yesterday by smoke and gas during a fire in the plant of Toops Brothers, brush manufacturers at 3523 North Halsted street, and died two hours after being carried out by firemen in the John B. Murphy hospital.

Investigation by firemen indicated that Cadman, who had been listening to a radio broadcast, started the fire by dropping ashes from his pipe into a pile of celluloid scraps. He was overcome while trying to extinguish the rapidly spreading flames.

The brush factory was destroyed with a loss estimated by Battalion Chief Frank Braband at $15,000.

The Secret of making men like SALADS

"YESTERDAY FOR THE FIRST TIME I MADE A SALAD WITH HELLMANN'S MAYONNAISE. IT WAS THE FIRST SALAD THAT CHARLIE HAS EATEN IN A MONTH!"

YOU will be amazed at the flavor appeal that Hellmann's Mayonnaise has for men. Indeed, it offers a new way to induce almost any husband to eat the salads that he needs.

The reason for its unique flavor? Carefully-chosen ingredients, first of all. Breakfast eggs, special salad oils, thrice-strained vinegar, a unique blend of Far East Spices. All mixed in the exact proportions of its famous old French recipe.

And then double whipping . . . a special, scientific blending process that unites the ingredients to a harmony of perfection.

Try Hellmann's Mayonnaise on the next salad you serve your husband. If either of you feels that it does not measure up to every promise we make, please take back the jar and get your money.

Get a pint or half-pint jar today. Hellmann's is the mayonnaise that always has been identified by the Blue Ribbon on the label. It is sold in your grocer.

"AT LAST RUTH HAS FOUND A DRESSING I LIKE! IT REALLY MAKE THAT SALAD SHE SERVED YESTERDAY TASTE GOOD. IT HAD SUCH A FINE FLAVOR."

MOSCOW CLAIMS MASSES OF INDIA ARE GOING "RED"

Says People Are Tiring of Gandhi's Rule.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, May 12.—Despite the efforts of the British-Indian police, communist propaganda from Russia is being distributed throughout India. The activities of agents of the communist Internationale promise to make the present year a record breaker in the development of the communist party in India, according to the Moscow Pravda.

The Pravda devoted an entire page to the "growing revolution in India." For six years the communist Internationale university at Tashkent, which trains agitators for revolutionary activities in the far east, has been sending graduating classes to India through Afghanistan, disguised and plentifully supplied with funds. Their aim has been to separate India from British rule.

Britain Is Warned.

Pravda has often warned England what is going to happen when the activities of these bolshevik schooled revolutionists are crowned with success, and according to this official paper of the communist party, this day is rapidly approaching.

Until now, according to Pravda, the chief hindrance in developing a real revolution in India has been the absence of an Indian communist party to lead the Indians to freedom. This has been overcome by the communist university for agitators.

Pravda is jubilant over the latest events in India. It reports mass desertions from Gandhi. The paper says that the India communist party is growing in strength proportionately to these desertions and that the present crisis has tendencies to change into an agrarian anti-imperialistic revolution.

Admits Reds Cause Disorders.

The illusion of the masses concerning the nationalist congress has been entirely dispelled by Red agitators, Pravda says, and disorders are increasing daily at many points, chiefly at Bombay, where the communist party is strong.

The laboring class in India, says Pravda, has begun to fight with the property classes for leadership in the movement against the imperialism of Great Britain and for the agrarian revolution. This fight is being led by Russian trained leaders in the India communist party.

Already the formation of revolutionary peasant committees has begun, Pravda says, and the Reds have started to organize village laborers, especially plantation workers, who will be joined by the town proletariat under the banner of the communist party. The success of this program, concludes Pravda, means the complete destruction of British rule in India and the formation of a united socialist soviet republic of India.

RE-ELECTED AT 101

JOHN R. VOORHIS.

New York, May 12.—(AP)—John R. Voorhis, who is in his 102d year, was continued as grand sachem of Tammany Hall tonight. It will be his twentieth year in that office, although the by-laws of the organization forbid the reelection of a grand sachem. Failure of the sachems to agree on any one candidate resulted in continuance for Voorhis, chairman of the board of elections of New York.

DILLON GRANTED FIFTH DELAY ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Edward (Toddy) Dillon, collegiate bandit, identified in 74 robberies, yesterday exhibited the poise which gained him entrance into north shore fraternity circles, in the courtroom of Judge Harry Fisher and won a fifth continuance of his trial. The case was set for May 19.

Dillon appeared in court without his attorney, W. W. O'Brien. He asked for another continuance because his attorney is out of town. The judge declared himself opposed to the demand and told Dillon to talk to Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach to prepare for an immediate trial. Suavely Dillon pointed out that his attorney was acquainted with the facts and had prepared a defense. The judge consented to the fifth continuance.

Dillon was arrested in the loop several months ago at a theater in company with a north shore girl when one of his reputed victims recognized him. He has since been in the county jail, held for $75,000 bail on five charges of robbery.

POPE WILL ISSUE ENCYCLICAL ON LABOR NEXT WEEK

Will Speak Over Radio on Friday.

VATICAN CITY, May 12.—(AP)—The announcement that Pope Pius would issue an encyclical on labor, supplementing the famous encyclical "Rerum Novarum" of Pope Leo XIII. on the same subject, aroused intense interest today owing to the world-wide nature of the subject.

The pope is expected to issue his encyclical a few days after his radio address on Friday commemorating the 40th anniversary of Pope Leo's famous labor utterance. The radio address will be directed to 10,000 representatives of labor organizations of all parts of the world.

His holiness is now working on the document, and it is expected that the encyclical will be generally outlined in the radio address.

Recall Leo's Encyclical.

The encyclical of Leo XIII. was considered revolutionary at the time in economic thought and it is believed that Pope Pius will carry it a long step further. Pope Leo declared the workman's right to a living wage which would enable himself and his family to live well but frugally, to save something, and in time to own some property.

He urged the formation of labor unions to secure this right and urged employers to regard workmen as more than machines. The natural law, he said, intended labor and capital to be not inimical to each other, as had been supposed, but actually friendly, because they constituted two essential members of the body of economic life.

He defended private property and urged the extension of smaller ownership, but declared that the state should intervene if necessary to defend the rights of workers.

May Speak of Wealth.

Pope Pius, it is believed, will say that Pope Leo's document still lives today, but it is thought he will make further recommendations.

Pope Leo protested against concentration of wealth and the means of wealth in too few hands. Pope Pius, it is thought, will make the point that this concentration has been further accentuated during the last 40 years.

It is believed that the pontiff will supplement the pastoral to the archbishops and bishops of the United States, issued in September, 1919, in which it was declared that labor unions, though necessary, were too militant.

Rob Girl Cashier of $845 as She Leaves Her Office

Miss Clara Lauferski, 22 years old, 5937 South Justine street, cashier for the Mutual Life Insurance company of Baltimore at 7914 South Halsted street, was robbed of a satchel containing $845 as she stepped out of the office yesterday. The bandit approached her from behind and wrested the satchel from her in sight of a score of shoppers. The bandit leaped into a waiting car and fled with a confederate.

Former Securities Dealer Denied Plea in Fraud Case

Federal Judge Barnes yesterday overruled a demurrer to the indictment of Arthur J. Fournier, former head of a securities firm at 134 North La Salle street, who is charged with using the mails to defraud. Fournier, who allegedly defrauded hundreds of investors in the middle west through bucket shop activities, pleaded not guilty, and trial was set for May 19.

BISHOP STEARLY DEFENDS BIRTH CONTROL CLINICS

Newark, N. J., May 12.—[Special.]—Birth control clinics were described today as "a godsend and blessing to many harassed and troubled souls" by the Rt. Rev. Wilson R. Stearly, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Newark, at the opening of the fifty-seventh annual convention of the diocese at Grace church, Orange, N. J.

Faced It with Open Mind.

This subject, said the bishop, has for its background "certain well known facts such as the prevalence of abortion and the general decline of the birth rate in all western countries. It recognized the difficulty of dealing with a subject so intimate in character and so involved with many traditions and taboos.

"Nevertheless it endeavored to face the situation as it exists, with an open mind and a clear conscience. It affirmed the need for the better education in sex matters. It emphasized the truth that the sexual instinct is a holy thing implanted in human nature. It proclaimed the duty of parenthood as the glory of married life, the benefit of a family as a joy in itself, as a vital contribution to the nation's welfare and as a means of character building for both parents and children and the privilege of discipline and sacrifice to them.

Sponsored by Intelligent Women.

"The publication of the views of the Lambeth conference has done much to clarify a much beclouded region of experience.

"Practically, it has done something to fortify the position and to enhance the usefulness of those birth control clinics which, mostly under the sponsorship and direction of good and noble minded women, have gradually come to be established in many of our cities."

PROPERTY OWNED BY CHURCH NAMED IN U. S. DRY WRIT

Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday issued a temporary injunction under the prohibition law against a saloon at 1509 North Clark street, allegedly operated by Albert Bolognesi and owned by the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church and the Chicago Home Missionary and Church Extension association.

The order was one of thirty-six temporary injunctions against saloon speakeasies, beer flats and roadhouses in Chicago and vicinity. A saloon at 718 State Line street, Calumet City, operated by Thomas Clark and Catherine Strug, is owned by the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America, according to the petition.

The church extension association was found to be the owner of the Club Stamboul, 39 East Oak street, following a raid there in February.

CANADA MAY END BAN ON RUM SENT TO UNITED STATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., May 12.—Exporting of liquor from Canada to the United States may become legal again.

Parliament will soon discuss a resolution calling for rescinding of the bill passed last year making it illegal to ship liquor to the United States from Canada. The resolution is fathered by Col. Sidney Cecil Robinson.

When Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, was successful last year in passing a bill officially banning exports of liquor across the international boundary. Many raised a hue and cry against Canada sacrificing its money to help enforce an American law which admittedly in its own country is impossible of successful enforcement.

Despite the law, however, bootlegging of liquor into the United States has continued. Other methods have been brought into play. Exports of liquor from Canada to the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon have substantially increased in the last year, all indirectly being for American buyers.

BANDIT HELD; BAIL $40,000.

James Moran, 22 years old, who said his home is in Peoria, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds totaling $40,000 on eight charges of banditry by Judge Francis B. Allegretti in boys' court. Moran was arrested last Friday night after he had tried to hold up South Park Policeman Emmett McCormick.

At home anywhere. The unvarying better taste of Chesterfield has won millions of smokers and continues to win millions more. And here's why . . . Only the choicest cigarette tobaccos are used in Chesterfield, carefully selected for their mildness, for satisfying smoothness, for fine aroma and flavor. Blending and cross-blending gives to them an added smoothness, and brings out their best smoking qualities. More and more smokers are proving this for themselves every day.

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

CITY RULE FOR CITY STREETS, IS CRY IN SENATE

Attack Launched on State Control Bill.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—The administration's highway legislative program, which has been advancing smoothly to date, struck its first tough snag this afternoon, when house bill 270 was called for second reading in the senate. This bill is to enable the state to take control of city streets that are continuations of state highways.

SENATOR MICHEL. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Senator W. L. Finn [Dem., Iuka] offered an amendment providing that the state should compensate municipalities and private property owners for pavements built with special assessments that will be converted to the use of through traffic. On motion of Senator Richard Barr [Rep., Joliet] the administration floor leader, the amendment was tabled.

Senator Victor P. Michel [Rep., Peoria], presented an amendment barring the state from assuming control of parking and traffic on city streets designated as state highway extensions.

Provokes Hour's Battle.

Senator Barr made a motion to table, and an hour's verbal battle ensued.

"We would be inviting state highway police to come into our cities and tell us how fast we should drive," added Senator Thomas Courtney [Dem., Chicago].

"All you would be doing," argued Senator Barr, "is to let the state build some city streets for you."

"Let's see how true that remark is," challenged Senator Courtney. "Under this bill, the state would do no more than pay for a strip of pavement. The expensive acquisition of right of way for widening or other improvements made necessary by through traffic, would be left for the cities to pay. In any of our Illinois cities, the state would be paying only a small fraction of the total cost of the improvement."

Barr Wins, 25 to 23.

A vote on the Barr motion, after several delays, during which senators were rounded up from corridors, resulted in a count of 25 to 23 to table. Senator James Monroe [Dem., Collinsville], who said his community was having trouble with the state on regulation of traffic, gave notice he will make a motion to reconsider tomorrow morning.

COOK COUNTY TWENTY YEAR TAX PAYMENT PLAN HELD ILLEGAL

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Attorney General Carlstrom's office today declared unconstitutional the 20-year installment plan for paying taxes in Cook county.

A bill to extend the payments in this fashion was introduced by Representatives James J. McVicker [Rep., Chicago], provided that one-twentieth of the 1929 taxes in counties of more than 250,000 inhabitants would become delinquent on May 1, 1932, and one-twentieth on each succeeding May 1 until and including 1951.

SENATE STARTS TO RUE CIGARET TAX BY RIDICULE

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—With chortles and guffaws state senators today began to laugh the proposed cigaret tax out of the state house. One shaft of ridicule from Senator Earl B. Searcy [Rep., Springfield] was that instead the state might compel smokers to take out smoking licenses, similar to the drinking permits tourists take out in the province of Ontario.

Another barb of irony from Senator Harold G. Kessinger [Rep., Aurora] was that the state might obtain a fine lot of new revenue by compelling all men and women, juveniles under 18 excepted, to wear meters around their necks, and pay on a measured service basis for the air they breathe. Another helpful suggestion was that all citizens might be required to wear speedometers and pay the state for their movements to and fro on a mileage basis.

The debate, which bids fair to wash out the tobacco tax idea in a wave of laughter, arose over a bill to allow the state to borrow from unused portions of the gas tax fund—said to be some 17 millions—to meet the stringency caused by 17 millions overdue the state on account of the Cook county tax money.

Bills in House Would Abolish 2 County Jobs

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Two bills to abolish as useless the offices of county superintendent of highways and county veterinarian were introduced in the house today by Representative James T. Burns [Dem., Kankakee].

"The highway superintendent," Mr. Burns explained, "is merely a rubber stamp. The county veterinarian is wholly useless. These two offices cost each county about $10,000 annually and do not justify the expenditure."

House Speeds Bill Creating Sixty Wards in Chicago

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Representative George Garry Noonan's bill to create sixty wards in Chicago went to third reading in the house this morning after a fight to strike its enacting clause had failed. Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago] fought the bill, saying it would only mean increased expenditures.

HOUSE APPROVES 1 PER CENT RATE ON SMALL LOANS

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Representative James T. Burns' bill cutting the maximum interest which can be charged on small loans from 2¼ to 1 per cent passed the house this afternoon. The vote was 93 to 4.

In the appropriations committee the resolution introduced by Representative Thomas J. O'Grady [Dem., Chicago] to investigate the state department of printing on the grounds that it had padded its pay rolls was sent out with an unfavorable recommendation.

Eminent Specialists — Find Yeast has Remarkable Effect — Eat it daily!

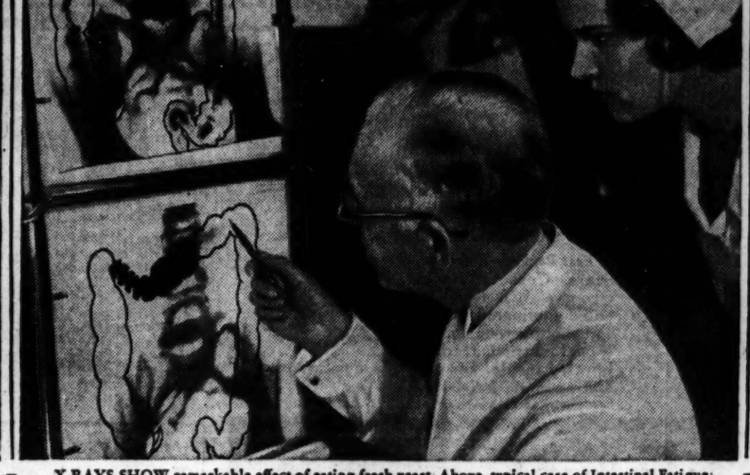
THE NOTED FRENCH authority, Dr. Labbé, says, "Yeast is entirely different from ordinary laxatives."*



X-RAYS SHOW remarkable effect of eating fresh yeast. Above, typical case of Intestinal Fatigue: Note unclean condition of intestine. Below, same intestine kept active and clean by yeast method.

EAT FRESH YEAST just plain, or dissolved in a third of a glass of water, or any way you prefer.

Actual X-RAYS prove fresh yeast keeps Intestines CLEAN

Read how you can actually strengthen the weakened muscles of your INTESTINAL TRACT . . keep POISONS from seeping into your system

LOOK at the picture above, in the center: It shows two actual X-ray photographs of the human intestinal tract, retouched to make them easier to understand.

Begin by examining the X-ray at the top. It reveals a bodily condition in serious need of treatment. It shows the retention of masses of undigested food waste in the intestine.

* * *

Can't you imagine what happens when this trouble is neglected? Putrefaction sets in. Poisons seep into your system, to cause headaches, complexion troubles, loss of energy, etc.

Now look at the other X-ray. It shows the very same intestinal tract after adding fresh yeast to the regular diet!

Note the difference. Note how contaminating particles of food residue have been cleared away, allowing undigested matter to pass through the intestine easily and regularly.

Why does yeast have this remarkable effect? Here is the answer, in the words of the great French intestinal specialist, Dr. Maurice Delort.

"The countless living yeast cells or plants," explains Dr. Delort, ". . . soften the contents of the intestine. They also actually strengthen the intestinal muscles, so that eventually they function normally, unaided.

"When intestines are kept clean and active this way, quantities of poisons no longer flood the system. 'Acid stomach' is corrected. Headaches and colds occur less often. The whole bodily level of resistance is raised."

* * *

So why go on dosing yourself with cathartics and pills? Turn to Fleischmann's Yeast. Correct Intestinal Fatigue with this natural food.

Just eat three cakes a day, before meals, or between meals and at bedtime. Each cake is rich in vitamins B, G and D. At grocers', restaurants, soda fountains. Start today!

* From a lecture by Dr. Labbé on the properties of yeast.

Fleischmann's Yeast is fresh yeast... the only kind that benefits you fully.

Eat 3 cakes a day!

Remember, it's important to ask your grocer for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label) . . . the only yeast that contains the Sunshine Vitamin D! Every cake is "irradiated" to give it this added element so important for sun-starved indoor workers. It is rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

FIVE YEAR PLAN IS RUSSIA'S FIFTH SIMILAR ATTEMPT

Was First Tried as Far Back as 1600.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kharkov, U. S. S. R., April 19.—[By Mail.]—"Stalin's five year plan is the fifth attempt to industrialize Russia," said Fred G. Koper, representative here of Stuart James & Cook of New York, engineers who have undertaken the modernization of the Don Basin coal mines.

"In 1600, Czar Boris sent a number of young Russians abroad to Europe to study western methods, and a century later Peter the Great went to Holland, worked incognito in the shipyards to learn the technique, and then attempted to establish that and other industries at home.

"Katherine II. in 1762 imported a number of foreigners, but after her reign the experiments ceased. The last attempt was in 1860, when Czar Nicholas II. made another effort to introduce foreign procedure and ideas in Russia's activities, but without success."

How Present Plan Started.

Charles E. Stuart came to Russia in 1928 to investigate whether there were possibilities, and the Russian government asked him to submit a report on the rehabilitation of the mining area. Mr. Koper came on a 90 day trip, but remained seven months to complete his findings.

The American concern is working now on twelve new projects, besides modernization of various old mines and reconstruction of several in exploitation.

Louis von Perbandt of Allen & Garcia, Chicago, came here last year, as chief consultant for his firm with the soviet state mining trust. The Chicago firm is reorganizing the working of various large groups of mines in the Don basin and superintending the rebuilding of many which were wrecked during the war, or abandoned after the revolution.

Send Commission to U. S.

The first Russian commission to investigate mining conditions abroad went to America in 1926 and reported at the end of that year to the technical commission in Moscow. Of the dozen members of this organization, which accepted the recommendations for American aid five years ago, all are now in jail serving penal sentences except one—he was shot. They were accused of sabotage and the supreme crime against the state, inefficiency, and of working in the interests of counter-revolutionaries.

American engineers here declare that reports of the wretched working conditions in Russian mines have been exaggerated and I saw for myself, when I visited several working nearby, that there is sufficient headroom for men to walk upright.

"Travel ways, where men work, must have one and nine-tenths meters head room, just above 6 feet," Mr. Koper explained. "In Pennsylvania the requirement is 5 feet, and in Kentucky and West Virginia there are no legal requirements. The height of main ways in Don basin mines averages higher than in the United States. The height is lower, of course, in working ways, where the face is the height of the width of the seam.

Install Modern Machinery.

"There are skips in all large mines to convey the workers down and fetch them and the coal to the surface. Their cages are not as good nor as efficient as ours at home, but in the mines we are modernizing we are installing the same machinery as exists in the best properties in America. The average here is 30 minutes for men to get from the change rooms to the working face."

I was informed that there are more than 1,000 coals cutting machine available in the Don Basin but only a relatively small portion of them are utilized, owing to lack of coördination among the various squads, and the difficulty in obtaining prompt repairs. There is constant delay in getting coal out, once it is cut. Sullivan machines from America predominate but tests are being made with English and German apparatus.

Labor troubles are experienced chiefly because of the nomadic character of the workers and their wandering proclivities. They pack up in gangs and abandon jobs in a mine to wander off to some distant property in the same area to seek work. Rumors of plenty of food, drink, and clothing in remote parts is generally the lure of the wanderers. They are not thrifty and refuse to labor if they cannot find something on which to spend their money, once they are paid. One mine was forced to shut down, when numbers of its employés quit suddenly without notice and started trekking a couple of hundred miles away where they heard boots were being sold.

I was also informed that the poor quality of food, and the insufficient dole allocated to each miner resulted in malnutrition and impaired the stamina of the men, thereby reducing their output.

More than 100 new mines will be opened in the Don basin in the next year and a half.

SOVIETS ABOLISH RATION SYSTEM IN STATE STORES

MOSCOW, May 12.—(AP)—Deflation of the currency, abolition of private traders, and building up of soviet state trade were seen today as the principal objectives of a decree partially discontinuing the card ration system in Russia. The decree abolishes the card ration systems on everything except food, fuel, and some building materials.

The new policy followed a 50 per cent increase in the price of many commodities. It is expected to deflate the Russian currency by making available at high prices clothes, shoes, and other necessities, from the sale of which the government expects to retrieve millions of rubles and thus obviate further issues of paper money.

All Free Wheeling—with single lever positive gear control —pioneered by Studebaker

HERE are four Studebaker cars that vary widely in price, but share equally in the long, unbroken chronicle of Studebaker leadership.

Studebaker's stock car records for speed and stamina, authenticated by the American Automobile Association, are still standing, but meanwhile Studebaker isn't standing still . . . it brings you today new records made under strict A. A. A. supervision, showing Free Wheeling's defeat of 39 cars of 19 makes, at all prices, for gasoline and oil economy.

Free Wheeling is the tried and tested development of long and close engineering study . . . changing old-fashioned principles of propulsion so completely that Studebaker is today leading the inevitable conversion of an entire industry to Free Wheeling!

It's the old story! . . . Studebaker today and Standard tomorrow! . . . it's happened before and it's happening again . . . for these four Studebaker cars are not only advance models, but an advanced era! They bring you ahead of general adoption the pecuniary benefits of a great permanent change, in models that protect you against sudden mid-season changes!

Free Wheeling, with single lever positive gear control, saves 15% to 20% in gasoline and oil . . . permits gear shifting without touching the clutch . . . and is so far in advance of ordinary standards of safety that public traffic officials everywhere endorse it.

Yet even Free Wheeling does not exhaust the appeal of Studebaker cars, which still remain, in every detail of making and designing, luxury and finish, the choice of those who seek high concepts of quality in exchange for a moderate expenditure.

THESE are seedling glads, offspring of the rarest and most expensive blood of the gladiolus race, bred in our trial grounds in the search for marked improvements over their parents. From the thousands tried annually only a few may be chosen. This choice is a matter of opinion. Among the rejected may be many which in your hands will prove finds. Thus this collection is a treasure trove. You are assured of flowers of surpassing quality and you may discover a variety which will become famous.

Second size bulbs, doz., 25c; 100 for $1.50; 500 for $6.50.
First size bulbs, doz., 35c; 100 for $2.50; 500 for $10.
Add 10 cents per doz. for postage to 300 miles.

A Rainbow Garden of 60 Glads, $1 Vaughan's Rainbow collection of gladioli has been famous for years for its varied beauty and big value. This year the value is doubled. Instead of 30 bulbs, we offer 60 for $1.00. Our Rainbow Collection includes 60 flowering size bulbs, six of each of ten varieties of wonderful colorings. A dollar never bought more beauty.

12 Rock Garden Plants $2 An exceptional selection of rockery subjects, including two each of the following 12 varieties for $2. Ajuga Reptans, Armeria Laucheana, Cerastium Tomentosum, Lianthus Graniticus, Gypsophila Repens, Iberis Sempervirens, Phlox Subulata, Rosea, Ranunculus Repens Fl. Pl., Rubrum Acle, Sedum Stoloniferum, Sempervivum Globiferum, Veronica Leucrium. 12 plants separately wrapped and labeled for $2.

Vaughan Bulb means a Flower Certain.

12 Perennial Plants, $2 Time to set them out. We have the largest line in years grown in our greenhouses. A bargain collection of 12 plants for $2 includes: Achillea the Pearl, Boltonia Latisquama, Dianthus Allwoodensus, Coreopsis Lanceolata, Gaillardia Barbatus, Eupatorium Coelestinum, Helenium Hoopesii, Physostegia Virginica, Stachys Lanata, Veronica Officinalis, Veronica Spicata, Gaillardia Grandiflora. 12 plants separately boxed and labeled for $2.

Flowering Trees and Shrubs Paul's Double Scarlet Hawthorne, 4 to 5 ft., $2.25; Bechtel's Flowering Crab, 3 to 4 ft., $1.75; 4 to 5 ft., $2.50. Prunus Triloba, the beautiful flowering plum, 3 to 4 ft., $1; Prunus Pissardi, purple-leaved flowering plum, 3 to 4 ft., 50c. We have a complete line of the most desirable flowering trees and shrubs for planting now.

Water Lilies It is time to plant the hardy varieties in your pool. One pink, one white and one yellow of excellent named varieties, 3 for $3; separately, $1.25 each. Egyptian Lotus, $1.25. All water plants and bog plants, also fish for pools.

OUR TARIFFS AND THEIRS.

Those who followed the proceedings at the recent meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce must have been struck with the repeated intimation that the United States was responsible for the present world-wide economic depression. To escape from it the United States was urged to alter its fiscal policies, to cancel the European debts, to lower its tariff walls.

Americans listened to these suggestions with extraordinary patience and humility. It is possible that the men from the eastern seaboard, accustomed as they are to looking Europeward for guidance, set the fashion in assuming an air of guilt. Fortunately, their sense of inferiority is not shared by the bulk of their countrymen.

America was settled by men and women who came from the less privileged classes of European society. They were hardy and adventurous and they valued the freedom to make of themselves what they could. They won political independence in large part to free themselves from old world notions of class and station. The country grew up in the belief that no material comfort, no position in life was too good for any man to have or aspire to.

The result has been, of course, a high level of general well-being in this country. In spite of present difficulties our people in the main are more comfortable, less broken with heavy labor, more free to pursue their own ambitions and desires than the people of any other country in the world. It would be absurd to pretend that the millennium is about to dawn over the United States, but it would be absurd, also, to pretend that the people of any other country have achieved so high a standard of living or know a comparable freedom in achieving their own ambitions.

Europe complains about our tariff walls which obviously have not deprived our people of material comforts, but says little or nothing about the tariffs which European countries maintain against our goods. If Europeans are to be spared the necessity for soul-crushing labor they must come to America for the means of avoiding it. The European peasant will wait long before his own country produces an automobile cheap enough for him to buy. In America the demand of common men for such comforts has been recognised and met. If the European peasant's wife and children are to be spared the necessity of back-breaking work in the fields American farm machinery is ready to do the work. To the extent that Europe bars our goods, Europe is condemning her citizens to hard labor. Our tariff serves no such purpose.

The Europe which seeks to bar out our material satisfactions for the common man is even zealous to prevent the lower classes from glimpsing American life in the movies. The fear is that the head of the European workingman will be turned. He, too, will want a comfortable house to live in, a telephone, a vacuum cleaner, an automobile, a radio and well-cut clothes. If he is to be kept in his place he must not know too much about American life.

American labor-saving and comfort-making machines and devices are the hope of a better day for the common man in Europe and the orient. It is the misfortune of the lower classes in Europe that their betters have forbidden them to enjoy what America has to offer them. It is the misfortune of the orient that political unrest in India and China has rendered trade unusually hazardous. But America can hardly be blamed for these harrowings of our influence for good.

A SCIENTIFIC EXPLANATION.

Municipal Judge George A. Shaughnessy in Milwaukee has received and officially considered a new and scientific excuse for excessive use of intoxicating beverages.

A sandblaster told the court that the excitement of working at high altitudes, in cleaning the sides of tall buildings, made it necessary for him to create an artificial excitement when he reached the ground; that he had overdone the thrills by drinking too much; that he was sorry, but the need for excitement was scientific and could not be denied. Also he presented alienists who supported his plea.

The judge was so impressed that he granted a sixty day continuance to see whether the offender might find some other way to attain the necessary excitement without creating disorder.

In his foray into the world of medical science, has the sandblaster supplied a new excuse that will be welcomed by police judges everywhere, not to mention the loyal body of occasional drinkers?

If what the sandblaster and the alienists supporting his claim say is true, the condition may apply to any who occupy offices in tall buildings.

Recent thrilling tales of war aviators seem to give substance to the claim by the sandblaster, and some of the famous balloonists of bygone days may have had science to justify their convivial habits.

It is recalled that even in the pre-prohibition days men who worked at high altitudes at times sought excitement as did the sandblaster, and also got into court, but not with his ready explanation.

Has not the sandblaster with his novel excuse oiled the way for the men who fasten steel skyscrapers together, the mountain climbers, ski jumpers, trapeze performers, human flies, steeplejacks, and tree sitters, who, while in hilarious moods through artificial excitement, are trapped by the police?

STEWING IN THEIR OWN JUICE.

The teachers in the public schools of Chicago have seen another pay day come and go without receiving their salary checks. Naturally they are troubled by the situation and naturally they are seeking through their organizations to discover some means of obtaining the money due them.

The teachers have not been paid because the educational fund is exhausted or nearly so. While public sympathy is with the teachers, public indignation over their misfortune is considerably tempered by the thought that in no small measure they are themselves responsible for their plight.

For reasons which the organized teachers thought sufficient, they gave their support four years ago to Mr. Thompson. Mr. Thompson had pledged himself to throw out Supt. McAndrew as well as King George. That objective seemed so desirable to the teachers at the time that they overlooked Mr. Thompson's record for incompetence and worse. Showing a singular capacity for disregarding the public interest, they voted for their demagogue and he won. He might have won without them; and again he might not have. At any rate, the teachers' candidate was elected.

They cannot plead ignorance. Thompson had been mayor for eight years. They cannot plead that they were misled by responsible and enlightened citizens. The voice of responsible and enlightened citizenship was overwhelming against them. The consequence has been twofold. The school funds were looted for political purposes; and for lack of strong leadership nothing was done to prevent the recurrent financial crises. The teachers deliberately blinded themselves to Mr. Thompson's obvious shortcomings as a public official in order to further other ends which they regarded as more important than the city's welfare. The teachers today are in much the position of a boy who failed to pass because he spent his time in a poolroom when he should have been studying. It is not good pedagogy to waste much sympathy on such a boy. He made his choice deliberately and must pay for his folly.

The mistake is now generally admitted, but there is a disposition to condone it on the ground that the teachers who voted for the demagogue did so on the advice of their federation. This defense overlooks the fact that folly commonly must be paid for whether it is the folly of an individual or a group; and the fact that the group is organized for large and noble purposes does not mitigate the consequences. The miners are paying for the mistakes in judgment made by the miners' union when it had what appeared to be a strangle-hold on American industry; the farmers are paying for the injury done to marketing agencies by farmer politicians and farm organizations; and the teachers are likewise feeling the weight of their mistake in uniting in support of a demagogue. In our day we have come to rely for many of our opinions, especially in politics, upon organizations created for mutual help. The temptation is to let the organizations do the thinking. Needless to say, an organization has no mind; what conclusions it comes to are the conclusions of individuals, and if their advice is followed uncritically it may lead to most serious consequences.

This is not said to justify but to explain the failure of the school board to pay what it owes. Certainly among the sufferers are some hundreds and perhaps thousands of teachers who did not vote for Thompson and are in no sense responsible for their plight. Unquestionably there are many others who have already paid a heavy price for their mistake and have learned their lesson. More than that, the failure to pay salaries tends to undermine school morale. It is therefore to be hoped that a means will be found promptly to meet the salary roll.

B. A. ECKHART AND THE WEST PARKS

It is unfortunate that the memory of a community is not good. If it were, men of bad record would not be returned to office, as has occurred in several notorious cases in Illinois and Chicago within our own time. If it were, valuable public service would have a more lasting reward. We offer these truisms upon the occasion of the death of B. A. Eckhart. A successful man of business and financier, Mr. Eckhart all through his life in Chicago maintained an active interest and quiet participation in the political affairs of the state, but he especially deserves a place in the civic memory for his rehabilitation of the west parks. Citizens now in middle life or past it will recall the demoralization of the west parks under what was called the Lorimer régime. When protest and reaction finally arrived it was Mr. Eckhart who was chosen to bring back responsibility to the west park management and restore the parks to a condition worthy of themselves and the city. This he promptly and thoroughly accomplished, and the present splendid playgrounds of the people are an honorable monument to his service.

THE MORNING AFTER THE NIGHT BEFORE.

[The Peoria Transcript.]

Although nothing which Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, told the international chamber of commerce was new, his delicious frankness in discussing the business situation gave tone to the chamber's deliberations.

"We have not failed," Mr. Traylor gravely confessed, "because of ignorance of economic theories, but because of our utter disregard and defiance of all economic laws. Ambition, stupidity and greed have dictated policies, and trouble has been the result."

The farmer, victim of overproduction and legislative panaceas, Mr. Traylor said, must "take his medicine like every one else" and learn that he can afford automobiles, radios, and other luxuries only to the extent that he can live on food produced on his own farm. "When we find," he continued, "that on approximately 20 per cent of the farms of the United States there is not a milch cow nor a chicken, and that on more than 30 per cent there is not a hog, and on approximately 90 per cent not a sheep, and that on many farms in our large agricultural states no gardens are kept and almost every article of food is purchased at the store, we are forced to the conclusion that the farmer, by and large, is not farming as he should."

This is brave talk for a banker. Yet Mr. Traylor scolds bankers and operators of the securities markets as well as farmers. He says the country is recovering from a spree, that it has been living beyond its means and that unless there is a return to sanity in governmental and private expenditures there will be no return to prosperity.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THIS THING AND THAT THING.

Why is it that everybody that rides on a float in a carnival parade always looks as though they had lost their last friend and just buried their last relative? . . . The cops are so polite since they heard about how Mayor Cermak felt on the subject that any one with any real feeling would scorn to do anything wrong because the policeman would be so pained if he had to utter a reprimand. . . . It was a young and quite lovely lady who drove past the stoplight in the loop yesterday. And the policeman stopped her and spoke to her in such tones of poignant sorrow that she should so far forget her duty to her city, her country, and her dear old mother by rushing by a stoplight as she did that she burst into tears and said, "Oh, officer, beat me with your great, cruel club if you must, but speak not in such gentle, heart-broken language. You are breaking may heart; I can't stand it, I can't stand it." "Gitthell outten here, then," said the policeman, "you're blockin' th' whole damn street." . . . They fused to throw stock ticker tape out of the windows of the sky scrapers at carnival time, but that hasn't happened during this week of Jubilee. . . . Probably the reason is that ticker tape with the stocks digging nice new lows for themselves all the time would bring such sad memories to the marchers that they would fall out of line and hunt some wild, wind swept place on the lake shore where they could be alone. . . . A man was poking around among the cars parked along the street. Ah, you think, the man wants to find some one from the old home town. Some one to whom he can rush up and grab by the hand and say, "Why, Billy, you old rascal, I haven't seen you since we used to steal watermelons out of old Blummer's melon patch. You've got to come right out to the house for dinner." And so we thought when we saw the man hunting around among the parked cars and looking with such eagerness at each and every auto. . . . So we asked him. . . . "No," he said, "but when I was coming in from Iowa yesterday some dirty bum stole my car and if I can find him I'm going to take him apart, piece by piece, and then scramble him up and take him to pieces again."

MICHELSON.

What constellations must be lit this night
To guide your first steps in Eternity,
Great soul, whose vision, piercing past the far
Bright barrier of stars, discerned that white
And farthest ray of Truth and strove to bring
Its full refulgence to His works that men
May know the universe and glimpse their God!
Now Light will speed from sun to distant sun
And spread: "He comes who knew us there below,
Who timed my golden race and marked my flash
From peak to peak, his mind more swift than I."

You move among remoter spheres and learn
What ageless data from the lips of Time,
While we, your heirs in knowledge, bow with loss.
Oh, know our richest heritage is not
Those accurate facts you spent your failing strength
To verify; it is the Fact that such
As you can be whose splendor and whose might
Of brain and spirit grappled elements,
Challenged infinity and gained sure ground;
The Fact that you are argument beyond
All refutation for the high belief
That Mind will hold dominion over dust,
Will win creation as the Maker dreamed,
That Soul will grope through matter and emerge
The final conquering force that He conceived,
Surmounting space and time, light, life, and death.

ADELAIDE LOVE.

IT RAINS and the skies are never weary. Ah, we could love the rain after the long dry spell, but we fear it will fall upon the wheat just the same as upon onions and flowers. Ah, if the farm board could only train the rain to fall only upon the onions and the flowers and leave the wheat fields as dry as the middle of the Sahara desert, how lovely that would be. But Mother Nature is an unruly jade and it looks like a bumper crop of wheat this year. How sad!

ERRATUM.

The Jubilee has got somebody haywire. We don't know who did it, but our private error catcher's shoulders are broad enough, so we'll blame her. Anyway, we had a lovely poem Tuesday morning written especially for our good and great fellow citizen, Max Adler, and his magnificent gift to Chicago, the Planetarium, and by all that's holy we woke up yesterday morning to find it appearing in print dedicated to David Adler. We can't find the poet's copy high nor low; Hank swears he didn't do it, the proofroom would lose an arm before it would do it; it's a darn good thing our private error catcher's shoulders are broad enough. Anyway, we apologize to Max Adler and hope he will forgive us all.

Oh Mercy! Look Who's Here!

"COMMUNISTS Blamed for Spanish Riot."—Chijourcommerce. That's no news. The communists are blamed for everything—from the earthquake in New Zealand to the boll-weevils in this year's cotton. But if the communists were NOT blamed for the Spanish riot—ah, that would be news indeed.

NEW PREVENTIVE FOR RINGWORM OF FEET.

THE onset of ringworm of the feet does not await the warm weather. As soon as the trees began to bud the letters asking about this trouble began to come in. There are a few promising developments since the close of the last season.

Dr. H. Goodman suggests the use of a preventive dusting powder. The one he recommends is a mixture of 2 parts salol, 2 parts chloral hydrate, and 100 parts of a sterilized powdered silicious earth. Any other inert powder should answer as well for a base for the salol and chloral, provided it is sterilized. Heating will do this. The heating must be done before the salol is added, since heating that drug destroys its power to kill ringworm fungus.

The advice is to wash the feet well with soap and water, often enough to keep them clean. After drying thoroughly dust this powder between the toes, around the nails, and on the thick skin of the soles. Persons who walk barefooted around gymnasium floors and around swimming pools and beaches should dust their feet preliminary to dressing.

There is no objection to adding this powder to the long list of cures for ringworm of the feet. If it is used as a cure, discretion must be exercised as to washing the toes. If the surface is raw and oozing, a cream is better than soap and water as a cleansing agent.

Since ringworm of the feet is now recognized as our most popular disease, there is a surfeit of remedies on the drug store shelves. Any person can keep a case well in hand by a reasonably near proper use of any one of a half dozen remedies now available. Those that contain salicylic acid should not be used on raw surfaces.

The purpose of this acid in such a combination is to cut away the piled up skin cells and let the fungus killer get at its prey. Therefore, if there is no thickened skin salicylic acid does more harm than good. Many of the remedies are somewhat irritating for some other reason. Irritating applications should not be overdone.

There is some evidence tending to clear gymnasium and swimming pool floors of the charge that they spread ringworm of the feet. Experience is teaching that there are varieties of pomphylax that are not due to ringworm.

USES MENDING TAPE.

E. E. S. writes:

Having for many years been troubled at night with mouth breathing, I read with much sympathy the accounts of those who report this and resulting discomforts.

I was advised to use adhesive tape, the removal of which each morning I found most trying. Later I tried mending tape with such pleasing results that I would like others to try it, too. Of course, a little saliva moistens this and it comes off easily.

LABORATORY TEST NEEDED.

E. T. M. writes:

1. How, besides the urine test, can diabetes be detected?

2. What vegetables are good for a diabetic to eat?

REPLY.

1. Great thirst, multiple boils, loss of weight cause it to be suspected. Laboratory test supplies the only conclusive evidence.

2. Cabbage, lettuce, greens, radishes, onions, tomatoes, squash, pumpkin. In fact, almost all vegetables except potatoes, peas, beans, and corn.

CAUSES OF HIVES.

Mrs. L. G. writes: Can hives be caused from anything except diet? I have dieted for several years with no result.

REPLY.

Among the many causes of hives are: Association with cats, chickens, or other animals, including birds. Articles of food are most frequently responsible.

LIME IN FOODS.

Mrs. R. F. writes:

1. Are there any foods that contain lime? Will you name a few if there are?

2. Is it healthful for an adult to drink lime water by itself?

3. What is the cause of heartburn?

REPLY.

1. Yes. Milk, butter, cereals, bran, whole wheat flours, nuts are some of them.

2. In most cases it will make no difference.

3. Among the causes are gallstones, infected gall bladder, adhesions, stomach ulcer, indigestion.

MILK CHOCOLATE.

J. F. S. writes: How much milk chocolate would it be safe for a person 70 years old in good health to eat daily? Would too much injure the kidneys?

REPLY.

You are not likely to take too much. Milk chocolate throws no burden on the kidneys. The taste of a man of seventy is not likely to lead him astray.

ABANDONED EXCAVATION.

Chicago, May 7.—[Friend of the People.]—Over two years ago a large lot at the southwest corner of Normal avenue and 57th place was excavated with the intention of building an apartment house, which has not materialized. For two summers the huge pit has been not only a catch-all, an eyesore and general nuisance to the neighborhood, but a most prolific breeding place for mosquitoes, which makes it impossible to sit outside in warm weather. Cannot something be done about this? J. P. G.

You are advised that an inspector has been assigned to make a thorough investigation, and if any violation is observed over which we have jurisdication, proper action will be taken to effect an abatement.

ADVERSE POSSESSION A BAR.

Chicago, April 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—One hundred years ago a relative left his home in an eastern city and never returned to claim his part of the estate which now is improved by valuable buildings. Could the relatives get their rights at this late day?

B. L.

It seems probable that rights of the relatives have been barred by adverse possession.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

JUDGMENT.

Chicago, April 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—"A" owes "B" $300 for a grocery bill. "B" has obtained a judgment against "A" for that amount. 1. "B's" understanding is that the judgment runs seven years and can be renewed, "B" receiving interest on the amount at the legal rate of interest. "B" holds neither note nor mortgage as security for the judgment. 2. Can "A" be forced to give "B" a note or mortgage, so the judgment will resolve itself into a [3] tangible asset? 4. Does he have to wait seven years before legal action to do that? "A" holds a county job that pays him $5.25 per day. 5. Can his wages be garnisheed? "B" understands one who is so employed is exempt from garnishment. F. J.

1. The life of the judgment is 20 years, but in order to preserve the lien against real estate, additional proceedings are necessary at the end of each seven years.

2. This cannot be directly forced, but the judgment debtor may prefer to do what the creditor asks, rather than have the creditor sell assets to pay the judgment.

3. We do not see why the judgment is not more tangible than a note would be. In order to collect a note, it is necessary to take a judgment.

4. No.

5. Yes.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 13, 1915.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson is putting the finishing touches on the note to Germany calling on that country to make amends for the killing of Americans in the war zone and to give adequate assurance that it will discontinue operations endangering the lives of noncombatants. The note is phrased in exceedingly courteous language, although it sets forth in unmistakable terms the firm determination of the United States to obtain protection for its citizens in the exercise of rights guaranteed by international law. It is made plain that the United States will leave nothing undone either in diplomatic representation or other action to obtain a compliance by Germany to the request made.

GENEVA.—The correspondent at Rome of the Journal de Geneve says he is able to affirm that Italy's intervention in the war has been absolutely decided upon.

LONDON.—Continued gains by the allies and the repulse of German counter attacks are related in official reports from Paris and by the British war office. Field Marshal Sir John French reported that east of Ypres "we repulsed another German attack, the third failure experienced by the Germans at this place."

LONDON.—Rioting and pillage swept rampant over London tonight. The smoldering hatred and suspicion of Germans living in England, fanned to frenzy by the sinking of the Lusitania, found expression in the wrecking and looting of hundreds of shops owned by Germans and the injuring of many persons. In the Camdentown district it is estimated that at least 150 shops were damaged.

CHICAGO.—Survivors of the family of William Mounsey, hard hit in two tragedies of the sea, anxiously are awaiting the arrival of a cablegram. Almost certainly the message will verify reports of the death of the father on the Lusitania. Possibly it will tell, too, of the virtual resurrection of Mrs. Fannie Mounsey, mourned as dead since the sinking of the Empress of Ireland a year ago. It was to attempt to identify a woman found wandering in Liverpool streets as his wife that Mounsey was on his way to England.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 13, 1901.

CHICAGO.—The buffet of the officers' club at Fort Sheridan was abolished by Col. Van Horne and now the post is dry enough to satisfy even the most rabid of the agitators who have selected the fort for reform. The officers' club has been to its members what the canteen was to the enlisted men before it was abolished. At headquarters of the post evidence against the closing of the canteen continued to come in. Four saloons in Highwood ignored the Sunday law and did a big business with the soldiers. Rumors of desertion were rife at the fort.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The President and Mrs. McKinley arrived here two days ahead of the schedule time as the result of the illness of Mrs. McKinley, necessitating absolute rest and special medical attention for her. It is doubtful whether the program for the week can be carried out, as the President will not rejoin the cabinet officers and the rest of his party until his wife's health shows improvement. At least a week of rest will be necessary before she can resume the trip, according to Dr. Rixey, the President's physician.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 13, 1881.

CHICAGO.—The Catholic Young Men's union, which has been in convention here for the last two days, adjourned after having reelected Bishop Keane of Richmond, Va., president and Father Patrick Taafe of Brooklyn first general vice president. One resolution adopted attracted considerable attention. It was that offered by Judge E. F. Dunne of this city and supported by him in a strong speech. It denounces the public school system of the United States and predicts all manner of evil if that system should be maintained. The resolution concludes that the public school system "unless soon abandoned will irremediably destroy the whole system of American government."

CHICAGO.—The brewers wound up their national convention with the election of Herman B. Schaarman of Brooklyn, N. Y., as president. In the evening a banquet was held at the Grand Pacific which was attended by Mayor Harrison, the Hon. E. B. Washburne, Harry Rogers Jr., president of the Board of Trade; Charles Randolph, the Hon. William Bross, Harry Rubens, Thomas Brennan, Philip A. Hoyne, Dr. Truman Miller, A. C. Hesing, and many other notables of Chicago. The toast, "Lager beer, the adopted beverage of America, the drink that cheers but does not inebriate," was responded to by Senator Kerby of Ohio.

CHICAGO.—Robert G. Ingersoll will deliver his new lecture entitled "The Great Infidels" in Central Music hall on Friday evening, May 20.

SCHOOL COSTS.

Chicago, May 9.—Reading about the bankrupt condition of the schools, I am "curious to know" why the board of education did not begin to economize in time to prevent it. Educators are idealists, and try to put their fads into practice, regardless of the question of money needed to carry out their dreams. But the hard headed business men on the board seem to have been hypnotized in such a way that they made no attempt to reduce expenses by paying for essentials only.

Take, for example, the new junior high schools being opened. This type of school, with its special rooms, expensive equipment, and highly paid teachers, is (I was told by a school principal of my acquaintance) one of the causes which has increased the cost of schools. I am not saying these schools are not all that educators claim them to be, but wouldn't it have been more sensible to get along without swimming pools, musical instruments, special teachers, and other luxuries until the taxpayers had money to pay for them without bankrupting the schools?

"Cut your coat according to your cloth" is still a sensible adage to remember, and I can't see why it can't be followed in city finances as well as in private life. C. T. K.

POLICE MYSTERY SOLVED.

Chicago, May 11.—There is nothing puzzling about the "dream letter" written by Miss Freda Edwards before her death. If the police will take the time to read the last two or three pages of "East Lynne" they will find that this girl wrote, practically word for word, the dying words of Lady Isabel Carlyle.

10 CENTS AT GREENVIEW.

Greenview, Ill., May 10.—I have been selling eggs at 10 cents a dozen for the last two weeks and for 12 cents for some time before that. Butter is 20 cents. Today I sent six dozen eggs and two pounds of butter to town and they just brought $1. A READER.

13 CENTS AT EARLVILLE.

Earlville, Ia., May 9.—We have been selling our No. 1 grade eggs at 13 cents per dozen, No. 2 at 9 cents per dozen, ungraded at 11 cents. Evidently the profits in the egg handling business are not affected by depressions. If the farmer could sell his eggs at what you pay for them he could make a profit. As it is, the middlemen seem to be the only ones who do. Just another problem of the just distribution of profits. How can the producer and the consumer get together? R. M. BELL.

THE PARK AT LOMBARD.

Davenport, Ia., May 8.—The lovely little park at Lombard, Ill., twenty miles west of Chicago, is at this time one of the most beautiful in the United States. Authorities have said there is no finer spring planting in the country.

A magnificent collection of lilacs acquired over a period of sixty years by the late Col. W. R. Plum, who bequeathed his property to the village, is the outstanding feature of this delectable spot. Jens Jensen, the landscape architect, ably assisted by an enthusiastic park board, headed by William R. Plum, Col. Plum's nephew, has made of this small estate an arrangement so harmonious and so exquisite that it is an unbelievably beautiful thing.

The week of May 10 will be the perfect time to see this and perhaps for a few days into the following week. Over two thousand lilac bushes will be in bloom, including hundreds of the best varieties, and more than ten thousand tulips are flowering with them. Hundreds of these lovely spring things are adding their beauty to this delightful place—a charming rock garden surrounds the pool—blossoming hawthorns and fruit trees have as background tall and somber cedars.

"Go down to Ken in lilac time, it is not far from London." For the good of our souls we can easily paraphrase this: Lombard is not far from Chicago. V.

STREETS OF THE SOUTH SIDE.

Chicago, May 8.—Commissioner of Public Works Sprague, it is reported, has notified the railroads in the near south side terminal area that the Cermak administration expects action in rearrangement of terminals and opening of streets in the district. Chicago has been patient and given the roads ample time to decide on their terminal plans. Their plea that they cannot afford the cost of the improvement, that motor car, bus and truck competition has reduced their revenues, etc., cannot be taken seriously in view of the fact that other railroads have built new terminals in Chicago and in fact these same objectors roads have spent millions of dollars in other cities for improvements.

President Lee of the Western Indiana road has stated that he favors the opening of one street, Franklin street, at present and believes that this will be sufficient for street traffic needs for a few years. This is far from a satisfactory statement. The development of the entire district as well as that of the near south side, of vital importance to Chicago, depends upon the opening of Dearborn and La Salle streets as well as Franklin street. Chicago needs this improvement now, not in the future.

If Mayor Cermak solves this terminal problem and forces the opening of these blocked streets, he will have accomplished more for Chicago than have any of his predecessors.

THE FUTURE OF CAVALRY.

Chicago, May 10.—A news article from Washington, D. C., in THE TRIBUNE tends to show that the cavalry horse will be replaced by motors. On the other hand I wish to quote several men in authority regarding cavalry as recently published by the 6th corps area headquarters.

Gen. Pershing: "There is not in the world today an officer of distinction recognized as an authority on military matters in a broad way, who does not declare with emphasis that cavalry is as important today as it ever has been."

Lieut. Gen. Liggett: "How we would for a couple of divisions of cavalry, trained as our regular cavalry is trained. Had these been available on Nov. 1, 1918, I do not think any organized force of the enemy would have gotten over the Meuse, and our captures in material would have been much greater."

Marshal Haig: "Cavalry is indispensable—not only to act as mobile infantry, but to reap the fruits of victory. Without cavalry it would have been impossible to have held the positions at Ypres or to have held the German attack."

Field Marshal French: "The greatest threat of disaster with which we were faced in 1914 was staved off by the devoted bravery and endurance displayed by the cavalry corps."

Gen. von Seeckt: "The aviator has come to aid not to replace the cavalry. Close reconnaissance is left to the cavalry whose vision is not dimmed by clouded skies. In combination with airplanes, squadrons of cavalry find new employment. The motorization of armies is one of the most important questions of military development. It may be briefly pointed out that for the time being roads, bridges, forests and mountains still oppose mass employment of motor vehicles."

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker: "In all the history of war cavalry was never more important than it is today."

Gen. Summerall: "There has been a great deal of misinformation broadcast relative to the cavalry. It is a fact that cavalry is of far more importance than it has ever been."

A. E. MACMURRAUGH.
First Lieutenant, 317th cavalry.

ENCOUNTER WITH THE CONSTABULARY.

Chicago, May 8.—This morning I was enjoying a very sore and cut mouth. My face is swollen to a good size. To make a long story short, I went through a stoplight as it was changing, and, of course, not taking the time to see if there were any policemen or firemen around, I just turned the corner when a policeman pulled up alongside of me and, as usual: "Where the h— do you think you're going?" I stopped, opened the door so that the policeman could see that I didn't have any gun handy. Well, then things began to happen. Another car with a fireman in it stopped just ahead of me. The fireman got out and came over to my car and said: "You ought to have a sock on the jaw." And I got it. The policeman sat idly by without lifting a hand, and told me to drive on.

Being a taxpayer and helping to pay these men I think I ought to at least say something about their conduct. Although I have heard of such cases before, it is the first time I have run into any of it. Although I suppose I was lucky for escaping arrest, I can't get over the fact that you can be assaulted with a policeman three feet away from you. Although it would have been the first time I have been arrested I certainly would have welcomed it that time.

GANG CAREER OF CHILD PRODIGY IS ENDED "ON SPOT"

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—The bizarre career of Roy Howard Sloane, child prodigy, student of the law and a young man with a nice taste in other people's automobiles, was ended early this morning. Recently he had argued his way out of Sing Sing, but that type of approach apparently did not work with companions of quite another world. He was found fatally wounded not far from a Dyckman street speakeasy.

Sloane is a son of Mrs. Anna Bogenhan Sloane, holder of university degrees, writer, teacher and founder of the National Arts and Crafts Institute in Washington, D. C. Sloane himself was a student at Columbia university.

Like most of the incidents of his life, Sloane's taking off was fantastic with a background of night. He was standing outside the Mad Dot Boat club, a false mustache and $5 in his pocket, when a maroon car he would have cherished drove slowly by. A door swung open and a shotgun blazed twice. Sloane staggered around the corner and collapsed. He died an hour later.

That he had stood for just the required moment on some gang's "spot" was clear beyond a doubt. The whole thing seemed to have been thoroughly arranged, but the reason was obscure. He was out on bail for a Fifth avenue jewelry robbery attempt, and some one might have thought his eloquence could lead to state's evidence.

Another theory was that he had abandoned his own vocations in favor of "muscling in" on other persons' private affairs. But no one seemed to know.

AIMEE IS BACK; GREETED BY ECHO OF "KIDNAPING"

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Aimee Semple McPherson returned to the United States today with a seven scene biblical music drama partly written, thirty pounds less weight, and a new son-in-law.

The latter was William Smyth of Tenefly, N. J., who, as purser of the Dollar liner President Wilson, met Miss Roberta McPherson, the evangelist's daughter, when they sailed from San Francisco on his boat Jan. 23, and married her March 4 at Singapore.

The party, which, in addition to the Smyths and Mrs. McPherson, contained C. W. Walkem Jr. of Kansas City, Mrs. McPherson's music director, arrived on the President Garfield of the Dollar line.

Mrs. McPherson at first dodged reporters and cameramen who wanted to see her. She fled to the cabin of Capt. Godfrey Cullem, atop the bridge, and held to her refuge there until Smyth climbed the heights with a message from the newspaper men. Then she emerged and posed "for just one picture."

She wore a blue dress, a yellow fur coat, a small blue hat, snakeskin slippers, and the brightest and reddest pocketbook on the boat.

Mrs. McPherson said she felt much improved. She feels ready to return at once to Angelus temple and resume her work.

Mr. Walkem refused to discuss a report from Los Angeles that Jonathan L. Perkins, an evangelist, and Mrs. Kennedy had collaborated on a book, shortly to be published, that will reveal new facts about Aimee's supposed kidnaping several years ago.

"We haven't told her about that," he said. "She might have a new breakdown if we did. But if there's anything in that book that isn't true, she'll make it hot for them."

EVEN THE AIR IN NEW YORK HEEDS CRY TO CLEAN UP

It Is Being Investigated Daily, Too.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Manhattan's campaign for clean sunshine is winning ultra-violet rays, but there still is enough dirt in the skies to fill the test tubes of the Central park meteorologist. In fact, the "cleanest" day this spring found the city with 1.79 tons of dirt per cubic mile overhead, which is something more than a ring around a bathtub.

Nevertheless, spring sunshine means something more than a date on the calendar to New Yorkers this year. The air is 50 per cent cleaner than it was a year ago, according to David R. Morris, who looks after such matters from his weather observatory in the midtown park.

March Is a Clean Month.

March was the cleanest month so far, and is not likely to see its record of only 1.90 tons of dirt per cubic mile beaten. Just the same that much atmospheric dirt would build a nice wide automobile highway all the way across town.

April came close to March's mark with 2.13 tons per cubic mile, and Mr. Morris says that is about 50 per cent under the mark for April, 1930, when the strength of the cleansing winds was weaker and industrial activity greater.

The daily averages of April pollution ranged from 1.79 tons on April 12 as the cleanest day to 4.10 tons on April 17, the dirtiest day.

Explain Cause of Pall.

Meteorologists explain these black days as being due to wind direction, humidity and the failure of people to observe smoke laws. New Jersey, across the Hudson river, is a great manufacturing center and on days when the wind blows out of the west many tons of its smoke is swept over Manhattan. Then sometimes the wind dies down and leaves it hovering cloudlike over the town, blotting out the sun and depressing the populace.

New York health authorities fought the smoke menace all winter, haled scores of offenders into court, set watchers on top of skyscrapers and patrolled power plant and manufacturing sectors. The campaign was carried to the rivers and harbor where the tugboats and even ocean liners were compelled to observe the smoke laws. The drive eliminated a lot of smoke and the city's air and health were considerably improved. Now nature is stepping in for a final spring cleanup.

BIG PLANTS PUT IN MACHINES TO BANISH SMOKE

Contrast to Railways Cited at Hearing.

Seven large metallurgical plants on the south side which in the past have contributed heavily to the city's smoke pall have started or recently completed the installation of improved equipment, virtually eliminating them as smoke offenders, Frank A. Chambers, head of the city smoke abatement department, announced yesterday.

The progress made by industrial establishments toward smoke abatement, as contrasted with the failure of the railroads to proceed with electrification of their lines and terminals was stressed by Mr. Chambers on Monday before the Thon legislative subcommittee on electrification, which is holding hearings in Chicago. He cited specific instances yesterday to support his testimony.

Will Eliminate Smoke.

A program involving large expenditures has been nearly completed by the Illinois Steel company at its plant at 3426 East 89th street, Mr. Chambers said. The program includes the installation of blower engines, new open hearths, precipitators, and blast furnace gas equipment. Virtual elimination of smoke will result from this program, Mr. Chambers has been informed by G. T. Hollitt, the company's steam engineer.

Other concerns listed by Mr. Chambers as having undertaken improvement programs to rid their plants of smoke, and the approximate expenditures at some plants follow:

Wisconsin Steel company, 106th street and Torrence avenue, $7,000,000.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, 92d street at Lake Michigan, $120,000.

Federated Metals corporation, 40th and Wallace streets. More than $100,000.

H. Kramer & Co., 21st and Loomis street.

Have Powdered Fuel Plant.

One of the most important anti-smoke improvements recently, according to Mr. Chambers, has been the installation of a modern powdered fuel plant at the McCormick works of the International Harvester company at 21st street and Western avenue. This plant now is supplying smokeless fuel to several metallurgical furnaces and boiler plants and has eliminated smoke from twenty-five smoke stacks.

Mr. Chambers said his department is conducting a study with a view to opening a campaign against invisible fumes and dust as well as visible smoke. Preliminary studies, he said, have shown that unseen gases in many cases are as damaging to health as black, sooty smoke.

Son of Lord Beatty Is Visiting Chicago Relatives

Peter Beatty, son of Lord David Beatty, formerly first sea lord of the British navy, came to Chicago yesterday for a brief visit with relatives. He was accompanied by Ronald Tree, a half-brother, who formerly was a London newspaper man. They spent yesterday visiting the retail and wholesale departments of Marshall Field & Co., the Adler planetarium and the Field museum. The two are the sons of Lady Beatty, the eldest daughter of the late Marshall Field I.

WORLD'S LEADING HOSPITALS USE PLUTO WATER

Main building of the Cook County Hospital group, Chicago, one of the world's largest hospitals. Pluto Water is always kept on hand for attending physicians. More than a million patients a year are treated here.

"Doctors' orders are commands in the hospital. A saline water laxative is one of the essentials. Pluto Water is acknowledged the ideal saline water laxative; and so we keep on hand a supply to meet the requirements of our huge staff of physicians."

Cornelius Vanderfoort
Chief Pharmacist,
Cook County Hospital.

IN HOSPITALS, one of the first requirements is a ready supply of those remedies which are regularly prescribed by the attending staff. Life or death may hang upon their availability.

Pluto Water—America's favorite laxative for half a century—is a staple in leading hospitals the same as bandages or iodine! In addition to its use at other times, Pluto Water is a frequent part of pre-operative treatment.

There are excellent reasons why Pluto Water has been the choice of doctors for more than fifty years. Pluto is a saline laxative. Unlike harsh drugs and vegetable laxatives, it is gentle in its effect—considerate of the system—yet it is always certain, always prompt and always complete.

Pluto Water brings you all the health-laden saline mineral properties of the famed spring waters at French Lick, Indiana—home of America's greatest health resort. Due to its saline content, Pluto cleans the system in Nature's way, by flushing. It really water-washes the digestive tract, acting within thirty minutes to two hours from the time it is taken!

Thousands of doctors prescribe Pluto Water—for home use the same as for hospital use. Keep it always on hand in your home—it is the finest form of health insurance. Two sizes, at your nearest drug store—20c and 45c.

73 of America's leading business concerns have bought 27,605 Chevrolets

CHEVROLET

The next time you see a Chevrolet business car or truck, notice the firm name on the side! More likely than not, it's a concern you know, and whose business judgment you respect. A great tobacco corporation. A famous public utility. A nationally-known manufacturer of household products. Or an oil company, with stations in every neighborhood.

Prominent among the thousands of concerns using fleets of Chevrolets, are many of the recognized leaders of American industry. And their growing preference for Chevrolet is shown by this significant fact: 73 of these outstanding business firms have purchased a total of 27,605 Chevrolet cars and trucks!

If you were to examine the cost records of many of these firms, the reason for their choice of Chevrolets would be quickly apparent. These records are based on gas and oil consumption, upkeep and repair expense, and depreciation. And they show, in cold figures, that Chevrolet actually costs less to operate than any similar type of vehicle on the market.

Twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline* is nothing unusual for a Chevrolet Six. Drivers often remark about the low oil consumption. They frequently comment, too, on Chevrolet's ability to keep running, continuously, without need for repair. And many reports show speedometer readings of 50,000 miles or higher, on cars that are still giving dependable service.

Naturally, an automobile with such a splendid record in the service of American business represents an extremely wise investment—whether the equipment contemplated is a personal car, a salesman's car or a truck. This is particularly true, when you consider all the advantages that Chevrolet offers above and beyond economy: the superior performance of a 50-h. p. six-cylinder engine; the dependability and safety assured by modern design and careful manufacturing; and the long life resulting from the use of fine materials.

Before you make any investment in low-priced transportation—be sure to investigate carefully what Chevrolet has to offer. And the more carefully you do investigate, the more quickly you will agree that today's Chevrolet Six—at the new low prices—is the Great American Value!

ALDERMEN ACT TO UNIFY COUNTY TRAFFIC RULES

Massen Hopes to Have New Code Ready for Fair.

The movement to create uniform traffic rules for use throughout Cook county was given impetus yesterday by the city council committee on traffic regulation. Ald. John A. Massen [48th], chairman, said he believed that new regulations could be placed in force by the time of the World's Fair.

ALD. MASSEN. [Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

Officials of the Lincoln, south and west park boards have expressed a willingness to coöperate, Ald. Massen said, and a subcommittee will be appointed to work with them. The subcommittee also will work with the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"It will be a great accomplishment and a boon to motorists," said Ald. Massen. "There is no reason I can see why we should not be able to complete the task before the World's Fair visitors arrive."

To Study Parking Problem.

An effort to ease the parking problem, particularly in relation to the numerous "no parking" zones, will be considered by another subcommittee. Charges were made in the committee meeting that many of the 100 foot no parking zones could be reduced to 25 feet without placing hardships on the property owners.

This subcommittee also will study diagonal parking and the advisability of parking only on one side of narrow streets. Diagonal parking now is prohibited by city ordinance, but is not always enforced, according to Ald. Massen.

Consider Charge for Signs.

A third subcommittee was appointed to consider a plan to charge property owners for the cost of installation and maintenance of "no parking" signs that are placed by the city at their request. The annual cost to the city for the installation and upkeep of these signs is $60,000.

ITALY'S WAR CHIEF REJECTS PLAN TO CUT PERIOD OF SERVICE

ROME, May 12.—(AP)—A suggestion that Italy reduce the period of military service from eighteen months to one year was rejected today by Gen. Gazzera, minister of war, who told the chamber of deputies that the nation must prepare adequately because her neighbors "have armed themselves to the teeth."

Italian preparedness is to prevent war, however, he asserted, "just as one puts a roof on his house as a storm protection."

The nation is poor and must economize, he said, making the spirit of her armed forces balance their lack of numbers.

GREENLAW URGES LEGISLATURE TO PROTECT PARKS

Fights Leasing of Lands to Private Groups.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Protests that the south side lake front might be cluttered up with buildings and park lands be converted into private building sites under measures pending at the state house were raised today by groups of south side civic organizations, with Walter S. Greenlaw as spokesman. They declaimed that Chicago today is in need of another Montgomery Ward as "watchdog of the lake front."

At a hearing in Chicago yesterday, the objectors urged Gov. Emmerson to veto the bill now on his desk for the rebuilding of Larabida sanitarium in Jackson park, and today this was followed by an onslaught upon house bill No. 973.

Permits Leasing of Lands.

This measure authorizes park authorities to lease not to exceed 20 per cent of the land and water areas under their control, and erect and maintain or permit the erection and maintenance of such buildings and structures above or underground, as may be requisite for public park purposes. The park commissioners may lease such buildings, enclosures, equipment and appliances in their discretion. One purpose of the measure is said to be the establishment of an underground garage to replace the open space where cars are now parked across the Illinois Central tracks.

Protests against this measure were sent here today by Mr. Greenlaw.

"The public parks should not be converted into prospective building sites for private enterprises," says the statement.

Opposes Diversion.

"Our parks are taxed to capacity for the uses for which they were created, paid for, and maintained by the taxpayers. Why should the commissioners desire that they be diverted to other uses?

"These parks belong to the taxpayers and even the legislature has no right to authorize public boards to take them away or convert them to other uses than park purposes as those purposes have been understood since 1869 when Jackson park was created."

BRIAND FACES BIG ODDS IN BATTLE FOR PRESIDENCY

BULLETIN.

VERSAILLES, France, May 13.—(AP)—The French senate's 120 Socialists, meeting briefly at noon today, failed to agree upon support as a body for Aristide Briand in this afternoon's election of a new French president. It was understood, however, that most of the Socialists favored him.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, May 12.—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand is not going to have anything like a walkover at tomorrow's presidential election. He is running against Paul Doumer, president of the senate, and every one expects that the vote will be very close. M. Briand tonight is only slightly the favorite.

Those at home or abroad who in the last six years have been led to believe that M. Briand and his peace policy were accepted by France and represented France may have in this election a clear demonstration of how true or untrue that is. The foreign minister is fighting here with greater odds against him than he ever fought to win the coöperation of Germany or any other country in the organization of peace. Virtually all those with whom he has served in cabinet in the last six years are opposing him today.

Press Denounces Him.

The entire nationalist press is clamorous with anger that he has dared to accept the nomination from a group of parties which includes the Socialists, and that, indeed, he has dared in the face of the opposition to accept the nomination at all. But, observers point out, if he had not accepted the nomination yesterday he would have been howled down today as afraid to put his position and policy to the test of a secret ballot by both houses of parliament.

It is not only the extreme right press which has come out into the open in opposition. Even the semi-official Le Temps is unusually outspoken in declaring that M. Briand has made a mistake to listen to the siren voices of the left offering him the presidency and in denouncing him as a party candidate of the left just because the whole right has refused to support him and prefers the 74 year old president of the senate.

Expect Great Battle.

Every one agrees that tomorrow the battle of the ballot papers will be extremely severe. The votes of the 892 members of the two houses meeting together are expected to be almost equally divided between the two principal candidates, with Jean Hennessy and a few other outsiders perhaps picking up a few votes on the first ballot.

Whether at the second ballot, if he does not win on the first, there will be a swing toward or away from M. Briand is what makes his position interesting. If there is no clear decision on the first ballot—that is, if no candidate gets 51 per cent of the total votes—there is always an hour's suspension, during which the groups and parties discuss how they will vote on the second ballot. It is then that politics as it is played in France will be carried to its highest point of skill.

FIGHT BLAZE IN LOOP HOTEL.

Firemen yesterday extinguished a blaze on the 14th floor of the Great Northern hotel, 237 South Dearborn street. The fire, originating in a grease chute, caused a large amount of smoke, and a crowd gathered.

START BUILDING NEW POSTOFFICE LATE IN JUNE

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Construction of Chicago's new $23,675,000 postoffice will be started toward the end of next month, according to the present expectations of the treasury department.

The specifications are due from the architects this week. As soon as they are received bids will be advertised for and under the provision of the law the contract cannot be awarded short of five weeks thereafter.

As the result of delays which have been variously attributed to bureaucratic red tape and official incompetence the building of this postoffice at the largest mail distribution point in the country will be begun six months later than was originally contemplated.

The Chicago postoffice was one of several hundred federal building projects the status of which was reported today by the White House. Other buildings for Chicago, the plans of which are partially complete, are the customs appraisers' stores to cost $1,150,000 and the marine hospital to cost $510,000.

Federal buildings in the central states now under construction with their limit of cost follow: Appleton, Wis., $260,000; Battle Creek, Mich., $230,000; Benton Harbor, Mich., $120,000; Bloomington, Ill., $325,000; Carbondale, Ill., $125,000; Decatur, Ind., $85,000; East Chicago, Ind., $185,000; Flint, Mich., $650,000; Iowa City, Ia., $190,000; Kokomo, Ind., $175,000; Lebanon, Ind., $90,000; Marshfield, Wis., $120,000; Mason City, Ia., $385,000; Milwaukee, Wis., $1,550,000; Muncie, Ind., $180,000; Oelwein, Ia., $85,000; Oshkosh, Wis., 420,000; Ottawa, Ill., $75,000; Pekin, Ill., $60,000; Racine, Wis., $320,000; Warsaw, Ind., $95,000; Woodstock, Ill., $90,000; Bay City, Mich., $475,000; Boyne City, Mich., $65,000; Cicero, Ill., $165,000; Freeport, Ill., $275,000; Greenfield, Ind., $100,000; Lafayette, Ind., $375,000; Marengo, Ia., $65,000.

STUDY PROPOSAL TO TAKE KINKS OUT OF HARBOR

Suggest 2 New Channels for Calumet Project.

Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], chairman of the city council rivers and harbors committee, announced yesterday that his committee will study the merits of a recent proposal to make the projected Lake Calumet harbor more accessible by means of new channels linking it with the Sag canal and the Grand Calumet river.

ALD. ROWAN. [Tribune Photo.]

The suggested plan called for one channel from the north end of the harbor eastward to the Grand Calumet, giving lake vessels easy access to the harbor and another southwestward to the Little Calumet, simplifying the entrance of barges from the inland waterway. By means of the two proposed channels, miles of tortuous navigation would be avoided.

Sees Bridges as Problem.

"The idea furnishes something to think about and work on," Ald. Rowan said. "It will be given attention as we proceed with plans for the harbor improvement."

The chief practical difficulty in digging the new channels, according to Ald. Rowan, would be the necessity for constructing new bridges, three or four across the east channel and at least one across the west channel. On the east bridges would be required at Torrence avenue and at the Nickel Plate, Chicago and Western Indiana, and Belt line railroads, and on the west at the Michigan Central railroad.

Ald. Rowan said that probably next week he would arrange for members of his committee to tour the entire Calumet district waterway system when the Calumet harbor situation will be studied first hand.

Becomes National Problem.

"The development of Calumet harbor and other terminal facilities in that area has ceased to be a local problem," Rowan said. "With the approaching completion of the inland waterway it has become of national interest and importance. Everything possible must be done by the city of Chicago to stimulate preparations to handle the water borne commerce it is going to receive."

On May 26 a public hearing, called by representatives of the war department, will be held in the city council chambers on the subject of bridge clearances in the Chicago region.

FAVOR BILL FOR COMMISSION ON REGIONAL PORT

Provides Chicago Area Harbor Survey.

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—A bill to create a Chicago regional port commission a body to be appointed by the Chicago Association of Commerce for a comprehensive study of harbor facilities around the lower end of Lake Michigan — went to third reading in the house of representatives today despite an attempt to defeat it.

E. J. SCHNACKENBERG. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago] moved to strike the bill's enacting clause when it was called on second reading.

"It would appropriate $15,000 of the state's money for use by private individuals," Schnackenberg claimed. "This would establish a bad precedent, for the individuals who would spend it would be appointed by the president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. No one is more interested in Calumet harbor and Lake Calumet than I, for it is in my district, but there have been surveys made on it already.

"The Commercial club of Chicago spent $50,000 for just this purpose and they had Maj. Rufus W. Putnam and other fine engineers to make their survey. The United States congress is conducting a survey now and there's no reason for this further investigation. It is ill-advised legislation."

Minority Leader M. L. Igoe [Dem., Chicago], sponsor of the bill, replied that Maj. Putnam has appeared before the appropriations committee of the house to ask for the $15,000 and had approved the plan to establish the commission.

"I can't understand Mr. Schnackenberg," said Igoe. "Last week he voted for bills just because the Chicago Association of Commerce was for them. The Indiana legislature has already appropriated $15,000 for this purpose, contingent on Illinois' action, and Col. Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, told me that both Gov. Emmerson and Gov. Leslie of Indiana would sign bills if they were passed.

"This commission is an important body. It wishes to determine just what we may do to provide harbor facilities from the Wisconsin state line along the entire Chicago waterfront and around the tip of the lake shore in Indiana."

DIES OUTSIDE DOCTOR'S OFFICE.

Harry S. Grese, 65 years old, 3136 Flournoy street, died suddenly yesterday afternoon while sitting in his automobile parked outside the office of Dr. F. W. Slobe, 4725 South Western avenue. Grese apparently had felt a heart attack approaching and had driven to the physician's office.

Leacock Tells How Dry Law Helps—Canada

That's Part of "Wet Wit and Dry Humor."

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

If you are one of the devotees of Mr. Stephen Leacock, the funny man of the Canadian educational circles, or if you have stern and set bound feeling about prohibition either way), or for a lot of other reasons you'll be delighted with "Wet Wit and Dry Humor" (Dodd Mead) which, according to a modest note, "is compiled in friendly appreciation of prohibition in the United States, the greatest thing that ever happened—to Canada."

STEPHEN LEACOCK.

The funniest things that Mr. Leacock has written about prohibition or drinking are garnered from his various volumes and there are added many funny new set pieces, direct from the brain of that verbal florist. Occasionally an essay will be included which has little to do with the subject but which lives up to the title in dry humor even if the wit isn't wet.

One of the less wet humorous ones is the essay called "Children's Poetry" revised. "It seems reasonable," says the author, "that if the older poetry, the heritage of our race, is to remain, some one has got to revise it" (after amusingly telling why it's necessary). . . .

"Sometimes a mere alteration of the title would do a lot. Thus 'The Charge of the Light Brigade' might be 'The Light Brigade C. O. D.' or perhaps 'The Cash and Carry of the Light Brigade.' Then there is that rebellious masterpiece of Edgar Allan Poe which should read henceforth 'Quoth the Radio, Nevermore.'"

He has explained: "The circumstances of this hurried, rapid age, filled with movement and crowded with mechanical devices, are rendering the older poetry quite unintelligible to the children of today. For example when 'Young Lochinvar had come out of the west,' we need to know at the start that this doesn't mean the middle west. We learn also that he came on a 'steed.'" Children nowadays would be likely to think, he says, that if young Lochinvar had 'a steed,' it would mean 'something the same as if he had a Chrysler or a Buick; in other words, he had this year's steed.'

"Similarly when the poem says 'He stayed not for brake and he stopped not for stone' the meaning is taken to be that he left in such a hurry that he didn't go into the garage and get his brakes tightened up and when the poem says 'He swam the Esk river where Ford there was none'—well, the meaning seems obvious."

Mr. Leacock has a long tale of an afternoon spent in the famous cellars of a great house with Meadows, the butler, as guide, sampling the great vintages of fine old Rain Water, rare Dishwater, French Tap Water, Pump Water, Trough Water, Dutch Canal Water and West Indian Bilgewater (omitting the ticklings of the palate behind by each of them.

There is a long, amusing "Confession of a Soda Fiend," a parody on the confessions of men brought to destruction by drink.

Among the 25 skits there is one on guide books, in which the author parodies the old guide books of Quebec to fit the modern mood. There is much more wet wit in it than in many of the sketches. "The ancient city of Quebec," he writes among other things, "has her own, proud way of dealing with the modern liquor problem. She gives no licenses but sells liquor only through the medical profession, and then only to those who need it. As we descend the slope from the legislature we pass the gay little street of doctors, with its thronging crowd of sick people around each door. The law is very strict, it appears. No prescriptions must be filled out for more than a barrelful at a time. The enforcement of this law is aided by vigorous public opinion in its favour."

If you have ever suffered at a banquet, you will be amused at Mr. Leacock's description of "The Dry Banquet," which has all of the horrors of the wet banquet, plus the fact that at them he has been forced to drink. "I have attended four dry banquets in the last four weeks," he writes, "and am suffering still. At the latest of them I drank a pint of water to the health of the President of the United States. I drank, as a loyal British subject, nearly a quart for King George. I drank half a pint to the Supreme court of the United States; one pint to each of our larger railroads, and one gill to the league of nations. It is, frankly speaking, just a little too much."

In an essay on "Is Prohibition Coming to England?" the author discusses the attitude of the Scotch toward whisky. "Because they manufacture the best whisky in the world, the Scotch, in popular fancy, are often thought to be addicted to the drinking of it. This is purely a delusion. During the whole of two or three pleasant weeks spent in lecturing in Scotland I never on any occasion saw whisky made use of AS A BEVERAGE. I have seen people take it, of course, as a medicine, or as a precaution, or as a wise offset against a rather treacherous climate; but as a beverage, never."

And one of the gems of the volume is a recipe which the author gives for "A Cool Drink for May."

"The month of May is the time of year when dandelion wine, owing to the presence of dandelions, is perhaps easier to make than at any other time. An excellent recipe is as follows:

1. Pluck, or pick, a small basketful of dandelion heads.
2. Add to them a quart of water and leave the mixture to stand for five minutes.
3. Pour off the water, remove the dandelions, and add as flavoring a quart of 1872 champagne.
4. Drink it.

Samples, these, of Mr. Leacock at his characteristic wet wit and dry humor.

GASOLINE ALLEY—NOT A UNANIMOUS OPINION

DEAN CLARK HUNTS SERIOUS DRINKERS AT UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

Urbana, Ill., May 12.—(AP)—Thomas Arkle Clark, dean of men at the University of Illinois, who has sounded the death knell for many sub-rosa and "blacklisted" fraternities, has started to swing the ax on four chapters of Kappa Beta Phi which are said to exist on the campus.

Kappa Beta Phi, the reverse even in name of Phi Beta Kappa, famous honorary scholarship fraternity, is believed by Dean Clark to include in its membership many Illinois campus leaders. Some students have been seen wearing its key openly. Dean Clark classes it as a "drinking" fraternity.

Dean Clark several years ago waged a vigorous campaign against similar forbidden organizations, with the result that all were quietly dissolved. He has announced he will seek to disband the Kappa Beta Phi chapters in the same manner, without scandal or undue excitement.

University rules provide that students belonging to such unauthorized organizations are "subject to university discipline."

London Fog Seems to Fill This Altalker

"THE LADY REFUSES."

"For I have my code, too," she said, and lo! her lip did curl,
"Though you may be a landed lord and I a Cyprian girl. . . ."

Produced by Radio Pictures.
Directed by George Archainbaud.
Presented at the Palace theater.

THE CAST.

Jane Loring ..... Betty Compson
Sir Gerald Courtney ..... Gilbert Emery
Russell Courtney ..... John Darrow
Berthine Waller ..... Margaret Livingston
Nikolai Rabinoff ..... Ivan Lebedeff
Dobbs ..... Edgar Norton
Milly ..... Daphne Pollard
Freddy ..... Reginald Sharland

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

There's a lot of fog in this picture. Outside and inside.

The scenes are laid in London. The heroine, a woman from the streets, runs from the outdoor fog into the life murk of Sir Gerald Courtney, who is in a terrible way about his adored son who has become entangled with an adventuress. The lady [June] does considerable toward clearing up the latter opacity for the nice but, I think you'll agree, somewhat obtuse gentleman. Then, circumstances and "code" send her forth again into the London "soup." There she is, as the picture ends, but you have hope for her, for you have heard Sir Gerald say:

"Wherever she goes, I'll follow her!"

You'd have to be a naive soul, to accept "The Lady Refuses" as entirely credible. Excellent acting, however, makes it an interesting picture. Betty Compson in the rôle of the lady who refuses the gentleman, gives a polished, appealing, and as believable a performance as the script permits. You'll be fond of Sir Gerald and applaud the performances of other players. Daphne Pollard is rich in a brief comedy bit.

I would like to think that the movie is the reason for the Palace's nice business this week. But I fear me Peggy Joyce inspires the activity at the box office window. "Just what IS her fatal charm?" is one of those questions that have never been answered, and seems likely to prove a perpetual teaser.

See you tomorrow!

CRITIC LAUDS WORK OF BUSINESS MEN'S CHICAGO ORCHESTRA

BY EDWARD MOORE.

There is one musical organization whose performances, though not attaining or perhaps not even desiring the glittering display of professional virtuosity, it is always a pleasure to hear. That organization is the Chicago Business men's orchestra, a full sized symphony orchestra that is moved by the spirit of pure amateurism. Its annual concert took place at Orchestra hall last night.

It is probable that there is no other orchestra like it in the country. All its ninety or a hundred members gain their livelihoods through other means than music. There is not a professional musician in their ranks except their conductor, Clarence Evans, the eminent principal viola player of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. They play merely because they like to play, which does not interfere with the fact that they hold regular rehearsals at which there is nothing but hard work done.

But because they like to play so well that they are willing to work at it they get things done that are worth while. Their ambitions grow from season to season, likewise their ability. This year they felt capable of learning and giving a public performance of Brahms' Second Symphony, and they were justified by their showing. It was a performance showing far more in the way of careful preparation and intelligent understanding than a mere skimming of the surface.

And that this should not be their only contribution, they were able to furnish an excellent accompaniment for the Tschaikowsky Piano Concerto in B flat minor, which any experienced orchestral player will tell you is far from being child's play, and in which Mrs. Agnes Bodholdt Conover was the soloist. She is a pianist of great ability, with a fine, firm tone and a sense of rhythmic impulse that puts life into her music.

These were the great successes of the evening. Others of smaller dimensions but still notable accomplishment were the "Roman Carnival" Overture by Berlioz, which opened the concert, and the "Festival at Bagdad" from Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade," which closed it.

Healthy View Hospitals, See New Methods

Florence Nightingale's Memory Honored.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The strong and the healthy flocked to Chicago's hospitals yesterday. They learned first hand the reasons why the ill and the handicapped no longer fear the four walls of a hospital room.

MRS. ELIZABETH McELWEE. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The day primarily was an observance of the 111th birthday of Florence Nightengale, the founder or organized nursing, whose memory is honored on National Hospital day. But to visitors as they walked about, it proved a revelation of the advances of medical science and the nursing profession as the wards and laboratories.

Hospital day meant more than the ordinary celebration for the Chicago Home for Destitute and Crippled Children. It marked the formal dedication of the Nancy Adele McElwee memorial, the new hospital unit for little cripples at the University of Chicago.

The donor, Mrs. Elizabeth McElwee of Lake Forest, was present for the dedicatory services of the building, which is a memorial to her daughter, who died in 1896 at the age of 12 years. The $300,000 building was presented in her behalf by the Rev. Herbert W. Prince, pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, and was accepted by Vice President Frederic Woodward of the university and Robert F. Carr, president of the hospital board.

Dr. Robert B. Osgood, professor emeritus of child surgery at Harvard university, in the dedicatory address called attention to a statement attributed to Sir Robert Jones: "The war has shown that cripples are made and not born."

"Alas, cripples will continue to be made in our day and many succeeding days," Dr. Osgood declared. "Thanks to medical societies and civic groups, the public is slowly becoming cripple conscious. The dedication of this memorial is another evidence that the cripple is no longer looked upon as a burden but accepted as a privilege."

Dr. Woodward in accepting the memorial for the university spoke of the aims of the hospital as being "devoted to curing the ills of children, rehabilitating cripples, and educating surgeons in the care of crippled children. He described the home for crippled children as "one of the strongest charitable institutions in Chicago."

Visitors viewing the hospital for the first time discovered that an atmosphere of cheer and color had been built into the rooms. The first floor's equipment is in deep rose and black, the second floor, green; third, yellow; fourth, light blue, and the fifth and sixth, green. There is a playroom called Nancy's garden, and the hospital solarium appears to be a circus with a tent ceiling, acrobats and clowns adorning the walls, and even the radiators disguised as band wagons. In the basement is a gymnasium with appartus specially made to strengthen the muscles of cripples, and a swimming pool.

Among other Hospital day observances was the dedication of the North Chicago hospital at 2551 North Clark street, and the formal opening of the child diseases department of St. Bernard's hospital.

The new department at St. Bernard's is equipped with all facilities available for the care and treatment of children, including thirty beds, a milk laboratory, sterilizers, service room and isolation rooms. As in the crippled children's hospital, the walls here are decorated with bright colors. The cribs and beds are separated with glass partitions in order to prohibit cross infections.

Dr. Robert E. Cummings is head of the department. The Ladies' auxiliary and St. Bernard alumnae acted as hostesses at the open house and babies born in the hospital were invited back to a reunion. A bronze tablet bearing the names of the donors of the department was a part of the day's observances.

A musical program and refreshments as well as a tour of the hospital was the Augustana hospital's observance of Hospital day. E. I. Erickson, superintendent, was in charge of the entertainment of visitors.

More than 500 persons gathered yesterday in the Wesley Memorial hospital for the observance of National Hospital day. Among the speakers were George Dixon, president of the hospital; Health Commissioner Bundesen, and the Rev. John Thompson. The nurses chorus and the Schumann quartet rendered musical selections.

10,000 ASK KINDER TREATMENT FOR DOGS CITY SEIZES

Changes in the administration of the city dog pound are asked in a petition circulated by the Chicago Humane Education society, which will be presented to Mayor Cermak. Mrs. Charlotte Hunt, president of the society, announced yesterday that the petition has been signed by 10,000 taxpayers.

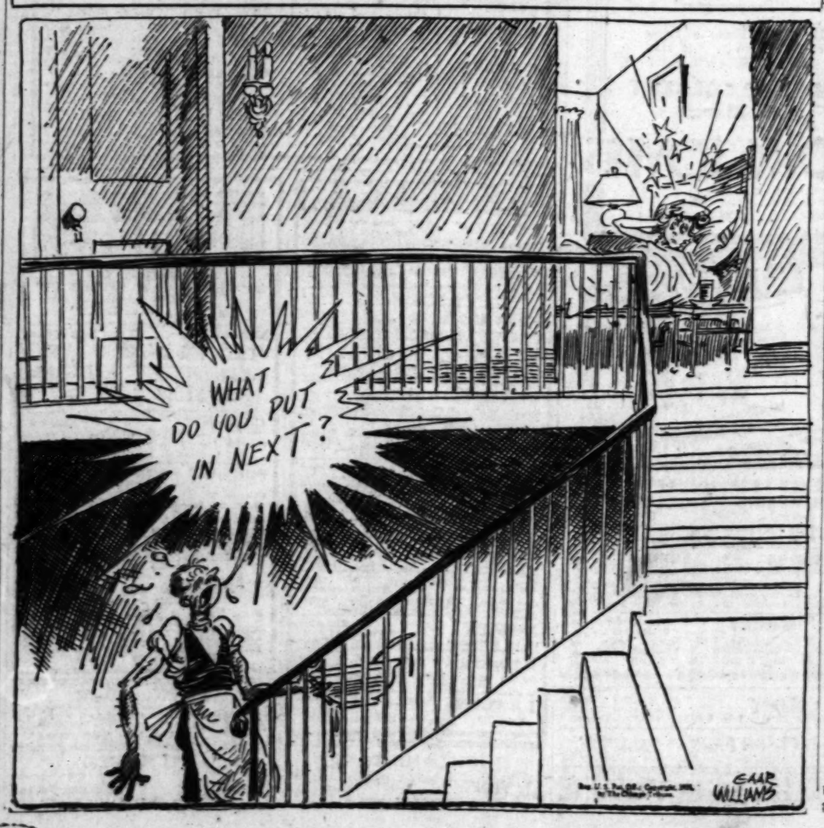
The society requests, Mrs. Hunt said, that William Stuart, who has been in charge of the dog pound for 27 years, be either retired, pensioned, or transferred to some other division of the police department. The practice of catching dogs with wire nooses is intolerable, she said, and should give way to modern methods.

In a letter sent to Acting Police Commissioner Alcock yesterday Mrs. Hunt requested that the district captains be ordered to canvass their territories to enforce the dog license tax for 1931.

"In view of the fact that the license does not protect the dogs from the clutches of the dog catchers, should the canines stray with muzzles," the letter stated, "we ask that your patrolmen first warn owners of dogs before impounding their pets."

A new dog pound is being constructed now by the city. It is being financed under an ordinance of Jan. 5, 1929, which provided that all money collected from dog licenses each year over $100,000 should be placed in a special fund for construction and maintenance of the new pound.

WOTTA LIFE! WOTTA LIFE!



THE STAGE

THE Dramatic League of Chicago is beginning to frame its program of plays for next season. "Alison's House," by Susan Glaspell, recently awarded the Pulitzer prize, is almost a certainty; and "Peter Ibbetson," with Glenn Hunter instead of Dennis King, is a possibility. Two London successes, bearing the titles of "The Improper Duchess" and "The Venetians," have just been acquired.

The former play was written by James Bernard Fagan, an English dramatist easily remembered for his "And So to Bed" of two years ago, and vaguely for his "The Earth," a drama of newspaper life acted here briefly in 1909. Yvonne Arnaud has the title rôle of "The Improper Duchess" in London, and will be imported with the play.

"The Venetians" comes from the pen of Clifford Bax, said to be related to the Arnold Bax of symphony orchestra programs. Its heroine is acted in London by Edna Ralston, and if the sponsors of the Dramatic League cannot interest a native star [probably Grace George] in the rôle, Miss Ralston will be offered a contract for an American tour.

William Harris Jr., producing manager of "The Greeks Had a Word for It," has become inspired by the Chicago Jubilee. He has decided that this city has a play-going potentiality that is being neglected; and he contemplates opening an office here.

"I intend to spend six months in Chicago and the other half of the year in New York," he says. "I'd like to establish a headquarters where theater reporters and managers can meet and discuss an industry that must never be permitted to die. Somebody will have to do something soon, or there won't be any plays in Chicago at all."

"On the Spot," the play that starred Mayor Cermak's career as a first nighter, will end its engagement at the Grand Opera house next Saturday night. It will move to Philadelphia, without Anna May Wong, the Chinese actress, who will return to Hollywood for service in the films that made her famous. Irene Homer will inherit her rôle. The Grand Opera house has nothing to offer in place of Edgar Wallace's gangster melodrama.

Mrs. Fiske, en route to act "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh" in California, remained in Chicago long enough to sign a contract with Tracy C. Drake for an engagement at the Blackstone theater next November. She has already selected the play, which is described as "a sparkling comedy of social satire, written especially for her."

"High Hat" is now the title of the play formerly called "Ritzy," which is headed toward Chicago for a summer engagement. Its tour will begin in Boston late this month, with Lynn Overman, Edna Hibbard and James Spottswood in the leading rôles.

Michael Michalesko, star of Yiddish drama, will begin an engagement at the Lawndale theater tomorrow night. He will offer a drama called, "I Want a Child," which has prospered in New York this season. Children under 16 years of age will not be admitted, which means that "I Want a Child" is regarded as "sensational."

Van Dyck Paintings Bring $157,000 at Berlin Auction Sale

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 12.—The soviet auction of the world's famous art collection founded in the 18th century by Count Alexander Sergejevitch Stroganoff netted $500,000 today, the first day of the auction, in Berlin. This gave an interesting picture of what the world is willing to pay for paintings in spite of the present world depression.

Van Dycks were held in the highest esteem judging by the price of $157,000, which a Dutch dealer paid for two of his portraits after a heated battle. Rembrandt's "Christ and the Samaritan," which was expected to be the favorite, netted the soviet only $50,000.

Romney's remarkable portrait, "Two Women Went to England," sold for close to $12,000. A Reubens, "Quite Out of Fashion," an interesting painting, was sold for slightly over $6,000.

A few paintings by the French old masters, Poussin and Boucher, found no purchaser, while those by Greuze, Madame Vigee, and Lebrun sold comparatively well.

India Making Its Own Brand of Christianity

Foreign Mission Control, Hymns Are Passing.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 12.—The new turn Christianity is taking in India practically is unknown to outsiders, even to leading Christian missionaries now at work in India. This is explainable on the same grounds as those applicable to the British administrators in the country. They were unable to understand the awakening of the national consciousness of the masses and did not realize that the feeling against a political domination by another race was as acute as it was. The Christian missionaries, from outside India, similarly are not very closely in touch with the new nationalism as it expresses itself in the Christian religious world in India today.

This is taking the form of making Indian Christianity free from outside control and guidance.

As far as administration is concerned, there is now a definite move on behalf of young Indian Christians to remove the control of their church administration from the hands of clergy appointed by non-Indian groups and they are organizing church councils and church committees in different parts of that country to regulate the coming in of foreign missionaries.

In order to remove the defect of artificiality found in Christian language and idiom, the younger Indian Christians are revising the vernacular Bible. This attempt is meeting with an intense an opposition from orthodox Indian Christians as the new prayer book met with in England.

The young Christians also are evolving a new hymnal, containing songs of devotion and service, suitable to the Indian temperament, and expressing Christian thought. N. V. Tilak, Krishna Pillai, and Vedanayaga Sastri are poets known not only to the Christian world in India, but honored and respected by Hindus and Mohammedans, for the contribution they have made toward the development of Indian literature and thought.

A leading Indian Christian recently has begun to put the church music to Indian airs and tunes. "How can anybody," he asks, "be inspired and led into adoration of the Adorable One if the strains of music that rise from our places of worship strike such jarring notes upon his ears? Nothing stirs an Indian so much as good Indian music."

"Is not Christian music," he finally asks, "to be a vehicle of Christian witness also?"

The most revolutionary expression of the new Christian nationalism, however, is to be found in the temple that is being built at Tiruppur by the Christa-Kula-Ashram there. This is the "Hermitage for the Family of Christ"—and the Christian colony is building a real Hindu temple after the type of Kambanathi Mendepam, a beautiful piece of Dravidian architecture, near Tinnevelly. It will have a gopuram, a tall structure like the temples of South India, with a rectangular wall, a garden, several halls and a "mulasthanam" or holy of holies, the chancel. There will be a stone table at the chancel [the altar] on which is to be placed on one side a carved marble slab with a cross in the center and encircling it a vine creeper and a plant with a corn of wheat about to fall on the ground on the other side. Below, on the stone altar will be the words "Om, Shanthi!" which will correspond to "Holy, Holy, Holy."

Above all this new expression of Christianity in India is the motive which is behind it. Young Christians have become tired of mere imitations of the west.

In several congregations in India theological teaching is given in the vernacular. Translations of the commentaries on the scriptures are being taken in hand. The present system is condemned as "destroying all originality and initiative from the Indian Christian clergy."

Mathews Advises Churches to Shun Page One Publicity

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Churches must shun "front page" publicity. So warned Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago divinity school in a lecture yesterday before the youthful theologians of that institution. He argued that such notice of their doings would prove them merely interesting and no longer basic to normal social life.

Dean Mathews declared that when churches, religious institutions, high officials of the church, and pastors find their activities front page copy it will be when something is fundamentally wrong with them or because they are in some sort of trouble.

On the other hand, Dean Mathews said he took comfort in reading crime news from the front page of the daily press. He declared its presence there was an evidence of the stability of society. News, Dean Mathews explained to the students, is the story of the exceptional. Crime, he said, is still news. Therefore, the dean concluded, crime is exceptional and not basic to society.

"When a sensational murder no longer makes a good front page story," Dean Mathews asserted, "then I shall begin to fear for the stability of our civilization."

There is nothing exceptional in theological discussion, the students were told. Dean Mathews declared that few human beings exist who do not engage in such discussion almost daily.

"Religious discussion is too common to be news," declared the dean. "There is no reason for the newspapers to become pulpits and discuss theological principles. When churches become front page news—with regularity—they will no longer maintain the basic position they now enjoy."

Eyelashes Must Match Hat Colors? Only Rumor, Gals

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You do read kinda comical things in the news columns pertaining to beauty items. A year ago one would have thought from what she saw in the papers that your nail tips would have to be kept under the table or be branded terribly old fashioned in pale pink polish. But the best dressed nails are conventionally holding to the quieter lusters, while only a very, very few freak hands have displayed the green, black, and other threatened nail enamels.

The intense bleeding heart reds, which have managed to hold on longer than they were expected to [and in many quarters longer than they were wanted to] are not considered in good taste, as you know.

But it wasn't on finger nails I started out, really. It was to speak about another beauty fashion note, just reported in the news items. It read that eyelashes would be painted to match hats. Paris, as always, was blamed for the originality of the idea. However, not Paris, but the race track just outside the big shopping city was the scene of the reported eyelash painting. And a pair of light green eyelashes worn with a light green hat [or vice versa] was the particular feature.

Investigating the rumor that your eyelash and your hat would have to match, it was found there weren't enough eyelash color to go round, so that relieved us of having to find something for the red hat wearer and the yellow and the heliotrope.

What happened, no doubt, was that a beautiful blond girl was trying out the blueish green eyelash treatment and the hat just happened to be green. For the blonds are experimenting with eyelash treatment in blues, and wisely, since the black mascaras haven't given any sweet, angelic expression to their eyes. On the contrary, the black mascara hasn't been kind at all to them.

There's a brownish coloring that is kinder—and the blues, as I say. You get one of those platinum blonds with black tinted eyelashes and eyebrows and she looks like, something that's just been sold out of the window.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

S. O.: IF A COLD SHOWER OR bath is not possible the cold sponge bath may be used. Saturate a large sponge with cold water and squeeze it over the arms, legs, chest, and back. Follow with a vigorous rubdown with a coarse towel.

N. M.: TO CHECK PERSPIRAtion under the arms, apply a 25 per cent solution of aluminum chloride in distilled water every other night until three applications have been made. You may use it once a week thereafter to prevent recurrence. My leaflet on perspiration will be found helpful, and may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Food Talk.

Mrs. M. K. asks us to discuss the making of cherry and berry pies from both fresh and canned fruit. And she especially wants to know how to prepare a deep fruit pie successfully.

The chief difficulty in making berry and cherry pies is to conserve the juice. It has a tricky way of coming out of the pie and running all over the oven. This disaster may be more easily avoided with canned than with fresh fruit. In the canned fruit there is a definite amount of juice to contend with and this may be handled so that none of it will be lost. I like to drain every drop of juice from the fruit and boil it down to a thick sirup, return the sirup to the fruit, and pour into the pastry lined shell. If one does not want to concentrate the sirup so much it may be thickened with two tablespoons of flour or one tablespoon of tapioca. If you seal the edges of the upper and lower crusts together perfectly, there is no need of flour or tapioca.

To obtain the finest flavor, all the juice of the canned fruit should be used. The addition of a few drops of lemon juice improves the flavor of some canned berries, especially blackberries. In my opinion there are only three canned berries that are good for pies—blueberries, blackberries, and gooseberries. Strawberries, raspberries, and loganberries are a little too fragile to stand up under that extra manipulation required in cooking them in a pie.

To prevent the escape of juice the under crust should be wet around the edge just before laying on the upper crust, then the two should be pressed firmly together. Vents should be made in the top to allow the steam to escape. A heavy, close textured cloth may be pinned tightly around the edge to confine any juices that might overflow. There is a pie tin on the market which has an upright flange attachment that clamps tightly on the tin in such a way as to prevent any juice from flowing out over the edge. Any juice which does boil through spreads over the crust and provides a deliciously appetizing color.

For fresh berry and cherry pies about two tablespoons of flour or tapioca should be mixed with the sugar and sifted over the top of the fruit. No water should be added. A lump of butter gives a rich flavor and is liked by many, but this is not necessary.

Canned fruit pies do not require so long a time as fresh fruit pies do to cook.

They may be cooked at a high temperature provided the juice is concentrated. The canned berry pie should be cooked in a hot oven [425 degrees F.], and it will require about 20 minutes for baking. The raw berry or cherry pie will need to be baked for the first 15 minutes in a hot oven, then the heat should be reduced to a moderate oven [325 degrees F.], and cooking should continue about 35 minutes. This means about 50 minutes in all must be allowed for the thorough cooking of the raw fruit pies.

To make a deep pie it is necessary to use more berries or cherries. If the fruit is raw a longer period of cooking will be required. All other details of baking are exactly those that we have described above.

Some Don'ts for Parents on the College Problem

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday we hadn't room for some nuggets of wisdom that I think every thoughtful parent of a boy or girl near college age should hoard away mentally. After casting off, as suggested yesterday, both the rosy specs that glorify a college education to you, or the belittlin' eyeglasses that discount it, it will be worth your while to read over these nuggets of wisdom garnered by Dean Milton F. Loomis of New York university and offered to parents.

"1. Don't encourage or insist upon a college education for your children merely as a matter of social prestige or as a result of social pressure.

"2. Don't discourage attendance upon a particular college merely because it is a choice of your children's chums.

"3. Don't insist upon or take blindly for granted your own college as a logical choice.

"4. Don't insist upon college education merely because you had it.

"5. Don't insist upon a college education merely because you did not have it.

"6. Don't insist upon a college near at hand merely to maintain contact and supervision.

"7. Don't encourage (if possible prevent) a college merely to promote athletic interests.

"8. Don't encourage college merely as an avenue of membership in a fraternity or a sorority.

"9. Don't treat your son and daughter as a total loss merely because they did not go to college.

"10. Don't discourage college merely for financial reasons."

Thomas a Becket Cup, at Auction, Brings $55,000

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—Lord Wakefield today bought the "St. Thomas Cup," attributed to Thomas a Becket, for $55,000 and will present it to the nation. The duke of Norfolk, who owned it, authorized its sale at auction.

Always Dead Tired?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? Chances are you're poisoned by clogged bowels and inactive liver. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients. They act easily upon the bowels, help free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up the liver. Rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

Musical Fete in Evanston Begins Monday

BY THALIA

THE list of boxholders for the twenty-third annual Chicago North Shore Music festival to be held all the evenings of next week at Patten gym in Evanston is much the same as always. It includes Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines, Mr. and Mrs. John H. S. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, Miss Cornelia Lunt, Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Pexpress, Harold H. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Poppenhusen, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Shaffer, Mrs. James A. Patten, James Scott Kemper, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Buffington, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Rew, Mrs. Rumsheller McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dill Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Lansing B. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, and many more Evanston- and north shore residents who have been attending the festivals for many years.

Festival week always means a gay and pleasant accompaniment of dinner parties before the concerts. The Robert Burnhams customarily have informal supper parties at their residence every evening after the programs, their guests including many of the musicians.

Next Tuesday night, they are departing from the "informal supper" custom because Paderewski is to be their guest. As he partakes of no nourishment before a concert, the affair is to be a midnight dinner and afterwards there will be bridge, because the famous pianist likes to play for relaxation. There will be only about 12 guests that evening, although I believe the Burnhams' parties are usually large. Admiral and Mrs. Walter S. Cooley are to be box guests of the Burnhams at the Tuesday evening program.

Party at Barrington Is Shower with 80 Guests.

Sunday's drizzling rain didn't dampen the spirits of the "spring celebration" party that the Robert McCormick Adamses engineered on their property out in Barrington, although the picnic luncheon may have been a tennis wettish. About eighty out of the hundred or so bidden to the picnic went despite threatening skies, and I hear they blithely sat through several showers, as there was no available shelter on the ground.

LOST AND found! It was during a rousing game of croquet golf at the Saddle and Cycle a few days ago that Beatrice Burnett Hersey discovered she'd lost her diamond bowknot pin—a lovely one that had been one of her wedding gifts. She knew she'd had it at whist she arrived. So, forthwith, a tremendous search of the course was instituted. "Monnie" Waller hailed a couple of the gardeners to rake through the grass, and the rest of the players set to for an ardent inspection of the ground they'd been playing over. Presently a modest heroine espied the glittering bowknot right by the second tee, and the game went on. It hadn't been bungled on or anything.

Kellogg Fairbanks Going to Lake Geneva at Week-End.

Apartment—The Kellogg Fairbanks will be in their Lake Geneva place by this week-end and Miss Janet is planning to be with her parents for the summer. . . . The Lower North Community council announces its annual luncheon tomorrow at the Knickerbock hotel at 12:30 o'clock, with Raymond Sayler of the University of Chicago and the Lower North Guild Child Guidance center giving a report on the study of delinquency he has been making and discussion following. . . . Board members of the Winnetka branch of the Infant Welfare are to give tea for contributors to their annual drive for funds at the residence of Mrs. Austin Jenner on Friday, and the last board meeting of the season will be at Mrs. Willoughby Walling's next Monday.

The 22d annual South Shore Country club horse show will be given in the club's lake front arena on June 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13. There will be performances on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons and evenings, and on Saturday morning and afternoon. The Saturday morning performance will be, as usual, for the children. Festivities incident to horse show week include a "horse show reception party" on the opening evening, the "midweek party" on Thursday evening, and the annual horse show ball on Saturday night.

Alice Colby Judson and Gordon Canning to Marry.

Miss Alice Colby Judson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McIntosh Judson of Evanston, and Gordon Canning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Canning of Hubbard Woods, are to be married on Tuesday, June 9, the services to take place in the evening at the First Baptist church in Evanston, with Dr. Charles W. Gilkey officiating, assisted by Dr. James Madison Stifler. A small reception at the country club of Evanston will follow the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Henneberry observed their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary very quietly yesterday. They gave no party to celebrate the occasion, as they have in other years.

FLOWERS FOR HOSPITALS

Jean J. Henderson, Ruth Bubik, and Ellen Griffith were photographed yesterday while gathering flowers in Kankakee for distribution to patients in hospitals and to others who live in parts of Chicago where flowers are not to be seen in the ordinary course of the day's living.

Flower Lovers Plan to Cheer Ailing Persons

Lilacs are having a hard time to decide whether to take a chance on the weather and spread their full-bloom fragrance this week-end through the wards and corridors of 25 institutions in Chicago, it was found yesterday in a survey of the city and suburbs from which the thousands of blooms are expected Friday and Saturday of this week.

As in the two last years, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is sponsoring a lilac time with the coöperation of the Chicago Flower, Plant and Fruit guild. Five receiving stations will be open this week-end to receive the offerings of generous hearted commuters who care to cut and carry in their floral offerings for the sick and poor.

Members of the guild will be stationed at the Union station, the North Western station, the Randolph street station of the Illinois Central railroad, the La Salle street station, and the Aurora-Elgin station. Conductors on trains will take care of the bouquets as in other years, or the donors can present them personally at the various stations.

From these central collections TRIBUNE trucks will distribute the lilacs and other spring flowers to the various institutions. Springtime, as represented in the lilacs, is being eagerly awaited, according to the various hospital matrons, wardens, and settlement workers. The institutions include the Visiting Nurses' association at 3456 South State street, 734 West 47th street, 1748 West Harrison street, and 343 West North avenue; the University of Chicago settlement, the Church Home for the Aged, Billings hospital, Mary Crane nursery, Hull house, Madonna settlement, Michael Reese settlement, Chase house settlement, Infant Welfare station, Howell Neighborhood settlement, Gads Hill Visiting Nurses, Chicago Lighthouse, Chicago Commons, St. Elizabeth, Laird Community house, North Western settlement, Seward Park at Elm and Sedgwick streets, Cook County hospital, and Presbyterian hospital.

In some sections north and west of Chicago the lilacs have been delayed by cool weather. But because the suburbs south of Chicago now have lilacs in full bloom, the lilac time has been set for this week-end. The flower guild plans to continue as in other years their collections of flowers and distribution to some of these institutions Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of each week following their coöperation with THE TRIBUNE.

Those who have lilacs blooming after the close of the first distribution this week-end will be advised of dates on which collections later will be made at the stations, so that their offerings will be appreciated by persons who have no opportunity to get out into the country.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Vice President Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gann will leave tomorrow morning for Louisville, Ky., for the races. They will return here Monday.

The Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson, was the ranking guest at luncheon given today by Dr. Leo S. Rows, director general of the Pan American Union, in honor of the Minister of Panama, Dr. Hermodio Arias.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. P. J. Hurley gave a dinner tonight.

The Belgian Ambassador M. Paul May, was the dinner guest tonight of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim in their home in Bethseda, Md.

Mme. Wu, wife of the Chinese minister, was the guest for whom Mrs. William Fitch Kelley of Chicago and Washington gave a luncheon today in her city home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman gave a dinner tonight at the National Woman's Country club in honor of Mrs. J. Wilmer Biddle of Philadelphia. She arrived today for the national horse show which is to open tomorrow at Bradley farms.

Flirts with Three Men; Girl Finds She's Being Caught

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What's the cure for a girl who confesses that "she's deceitful and an awful liar?"

She's keeping up correspondence with two men out of town, and a third in her home town also believes he's the favored one. Two of them already have called the girl's hand with proposals, and the third shows all the symptoms of an early declaration.

Some of the poor lonesomes who write me would say: "Some girls have all the luck." But apparently it isn't so lucky to find yourself being cornered by three deeply interested young fellows all matrimonially inclined. Nor is it so easy to explain away the encouragement the "awful liar" has been giving them all.

The girl reports herself in a perfect frenzy, since one of the out of towners is threatening to appear before her dad and mother in the good old conventional hand asking style.

I suppose many girls quality as doubtfully honest when they're playing along with two or more young men. They must be giving similar encouragement to several, which would imply less than the standard of honesty exploited in the text books. But whether you can adapt text book theories to man winning maneuvers, I don't know. Personally, I think it's playing a game that involves subtlety and skillful maneuvering, and a certain amount of evasion while you're trying to decide which of one or two or three you'd like for permanent companionship.

I've a feeling that any girl who'd malign herself as an awful liar can't be anywhere near that. However, she has the problem of worming herself out of her tri-suitor situation. Wouldn't it be easy enough to forestall with a letter the out of towner? Tell him his visit to maw and paw isn't going to be a successful one. It would seem kinder to tell him by letter that there wasn't any hope than to tell him to his face.

Anyway, it's a situation that has to be met without further evasion, apparently, so it looks as if our "awful liar" would have to turn herself into an honest woman and be through with deceitfulness.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Mills will open their country place at Woodbury in the first week in June.

Mr. and Mrs. George Higginson Jr., who have been visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Count and Countess Gianguilio Rucellai of Florence, Italy, are due next Monday on the Conte Grande.

Mrs. Stephen H. P. Pell gave a luncheon at Sherry's yesterday with Mrs. Edgar M. Church of Philadelphia and Mrs. Robert K. Kelley in her party.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Cobb have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Beatrice Chandler Cobb, to Reginald A. F. Williams at the Church of the Heavenly Rest on Thursday, May 28.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Balding have returned from Melton Mowbray, England, where they passed the winter.

"Stomach Pain! Tho't I'd Die" Pain Gone Now!

"Was in a terrible state for years with acid indigestion," writes Mrs. Nellie Cremas of Kansas City, Mo. "After eating had such terrible pains in my stomach I thought I'd die. Would get nervous and numb, and my heart would nearly stop beating. Nothing helped until I tried Adlerika. Now I can eat, sleep, enjoy life again."

ADLERIKA is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests directs 900 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops many headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness in acid conditions. ADLERIKA also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ADLERIKA today at your druggist. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, sour breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

THE CLICK OF THE GATE

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

Clare, fifteen year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously. She and her mother lived in a remote section of Paris. Clare attended a school play one evening and was brought home by friends. Her mother heard the car stop in front of the house and Clare's friends bidding her good night, but when she opened the door Clare had vanished.

Iris has been separated for years from her husband, Marcel de Bertincourt, a man of great charm, but no moral sense. They are cousins and the possible heirs of their Aunt Victoire, the Comtesse de Castelmauroul, who has ruled Iris' life until recently, when Iris found employment with Helen Roderick, an American woman.

Iris planned to divorce her husband and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood. Charnwood was about to depart on an eight months' trip to Africa when Clare disappeared, and he has postponed his trip to help Iris.

When the comtesse learns of her niece's disappearance she insists that Iris come to her home to stay until Clare is found. Iris learns when she arrives at her aunt's that her husband is already domiciled there. He seems to have changed in character, and has taken charge of the search for Clare. He has been seeing Clare, unknown to her mother, for some time past, and knows more about the child's life and her friends than Iris. The comtesse is bent on reconciling the estranged couple.

Alan calls on Helen Roderick and learns that she and Marcel are friends, unknown to Iris. When Alan calls on Iris the comtesse refuses to allow him to see her. As he leaves the house a servant approaches him and directs him to enter a door to his left. Iris had seen him and sent for him. She tells him that her aunt is doing all in her power to help her and that she must not offend her. They plan to meet at Helen Roderick's. Alan calls at Helen's and meets Marcel there.

INSTALLMENT XXI.

JEALOUS PANGS.

"I ran across him at Le Touquet a month ago. I didn't know who he was, of course."

His hostess watched Charnwood with narrowed eyes as she agitated the shaker and filled a glass for him. She appeared to be considering something.

"Marcel was in Le Touquet at that time," Helen replied at last. "Did he recognize you, do you think?"

"I'm sure he did." He drank half the icy liquid with appreciation, then set down the glass to take out his cigaret case. "What a world!" he ruminated. "Five minutes ago I didn't suppose I should ever make the fellow's acquaintance, and now he turns out to be a person I've rubbed elbows with for three whole evenings over a baccarat table!"

Miss Roderick, having recovered her composure, opened her lips as though to comment on the awkward moment just passed. Then she closed them, probably recalling that she was not officially informed of the situation.

"It is queer," she remarked abruptly. "But then our circle is so small. One continually runs across the same people everywhere—London, Paris, Deauville, Cannes . . ." Her tone changed. "How frightful all this is! He dropped in to let me know what was happening, and it seems they have not discovered one thing of any importance. What is to become of poor Iris I can't conceive. Have you been able to see her?"

"If that's your program, I'd best clear out."

"With difficulty," he answered, his experience still rankling, and forthwith recounted the afternoon's events.

She listened keenly, nodding once or twice.

"The old Gorgon!" she exclaimed when he described his interview with the comtesse. "I'm not the least surprised. She resents any one who has the slightest influence on Iris—always has. Power—that's what she wants—unlimited power. She delights in pulling strings and in keeping people under her thumb. Well!"—with a laugh—"I see myself acting as go-between from now on. Will it be for long?"—and she looked at him closely.

He shook his head.

"God knows! I can't understand why I don't get an answer to my wire. If I haven't heard by Tuesday I shall have to leave on the Wednesday boat."

Although his reticence forbade him saying more, it was plain that Miss Roderick grasped his dilemma.

"O, surely we'll have news of Clare by then! That poor man who's just gone is moving heaven and earth. Did you notice his face? I didn't know anything could knock him to pieces as this has done. He was up all night with the police, exploring every rat hole in Paris. Pretty ghastly some of his jobs are, too. Do you know what he's been doing this afternoon? Viewing the dead bodies at the Institut Médico-Légiste. They no longer call it the morgue. What a business! No wonder he's dithering with nerves."

She shuddered slightly.

"Dead bodies!"

"Of course. Some one has to do it, and he wants to spare Iris. You see, there's no blinking the fact that this may mean suicide—or murder."

Their eyes met.

"If the child is dead," Charnwood said painfully, "I suppose it won't be long before we know about it."

"It all depends. There was a case recently——" and she went on to relate the circumstances surrounding the death of an American art student—who, following an unhappy love affair, had taken strychnine.

"It was a week before they found her—lying in a ditch, in the valley of the Chevreuse. So you see what can happen—and meanwhile the most agonizing suspense!"

The picture this evoked chained his attention to such an extent that for several seconds he lost what his companion was saying.

"I beg your pardon?"

She repeated her last sentence.

"One can't help thinking things. If a calamity like this doesn't succeed in bringing two people together, nothing ever will!"

He stared a little, examining her sharply. No, she did not seem at all anxious for the De Bertincourts to make up their differences; she was merely voicing an observation on life in general. Yet her remark was so identical with the thought in his own mind that it emphasized a growing fear.

"Do you honestly suppose there a chance of——"

Suddenly he checked himself. The suggestion of intimacy in the tête à tête he had interrupted came before him as a warning not to give confidences rashly. Miss Roderick was scarcely known to him, moreover, she showed signs of cherishing a soft spot in her heart for the man he began dimly to regard as a rival. All very well to declare herself disinterested; he was not so sure.

"Chance of what?" she reminded him, her eyes consciously averted.

"It's of no importance. I was wondering, what about a spot of dinner somewhere? Will you come out with me?"

"Dinner! I daren't! Do you realize this is our busiest time, just before going to press? I shall have a poached egg and a pot of coffee on a tray and slog at proof correcting till the small hours. L'Etoile must shine, though the skies fall. Thanks all the same."

"If that's your program, I'd best clear out, or you'll be cursing me. But I'll call in again, if I may."

"Please do," she bade him warmly, adding as though genuinely concerned, "And mind you, let me know what you decide about staying on."

She accompanied him to the door, where he said good-by, left with a lingering impression of something speculative in her manner as if for some reason of her own she was mentally weighing his potentialities.

However, he promptly forgot her, his thoughts veering to his surprising discovery about De Bertincourt. Over a chateau briand garni and a pint of Bass he set himself to review the chance encounters of a month back, examining the remembered scenes in an attempt to shed some revealing light on the Frenchman's personality. Unfortunately there was little to recall, nor with a single exception were the incidents other than ordinary.

Le Touquet—the end of the season. Charnwood, on his way to Paris, had stopped off for a few days with friends who had a villa. The casino was nearly empty, only the baccarat room in full swing, and here, punting occasionally but mainly an idle spectator, he had observed the man he now knew to be Iris' husband, in company with a young, expensively clad Parisian of the gamine type, pointed out to him as the comedienne of the moment—Susanne Mariy, much potographed, slavishly copied in all her fads of dress.

He could see the pair now, De Bertincourt with his air of superior breeding and sensitive but expressionless features, laying down card after card negligently, as though indifferent to the result; the actress, on the contrary, avid and restless, her glittering eyes fixed on the green baize, on small hand hovering like a bird of prey to snatch up her winnings.

Twice Charnwood had spoken to them—once to restore the woman's platinum mesh bad which had slid to the floor, and once to offer his Dunhill to her companion. In the former instance his courtesy was disregarded, in the latter he was politely thanked. In the course of the second evening he had seen the actress rake in a bank of some forty thousand francs, while De Bertincourt, without turning a hair, lost a slightly larger amount.

However, it was not at the palatial Casino of the Forest but within the popular one facing the Plage that Charnwood had caught his most interesting glimpse of the comtesse's nephew, and it was to this glimpse he now turned with a feeling of slight curiosity.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for Chauffeur's Uniform.

"I am one of a family of nine and have been out of work since January. I was recently offered a position as a chauffeur, but could not take the job because I couldn't afford to buy a uniform. I wonder if you could assist me in obtaining one, size 38. C. N."

Is there a chauffeur's uniform about to be discarded that this young man may have? Since it is the only thing standing in the way of employment, it seems a pity that he cannot get one.

Seeks Homes for Cat, Kittens.

Jumper Smart and New for Evening Frock

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Jumper frocks were among the smartest novelties offered by the Paris couturiers this spring, and Parisiennes are proving their approval by wearing them all round the clock. Two-piece dresses vie with one-piece frocks and tailored suits for daytime. But the real, honest-to-goodness jumper frock, with top contrasting in material or color to its skirt is a sensational evening innovation, favored by Worth, Cheruit and Molyneux.

Worth likes the jumper allover embroidered in tiny dull beads with a split satin skirt; Cheruit shows gold or silver embroidered chiffon jumpers with crêpe or faille skirts.

One of the prettiest jumper frocks of the reason is sketched today. Molyneux makes the above — the ankle skirt of coffee colored crêpe de chine that gains its fullness by four accordion plaited fans. This shorter skirt length is significant of the informal trend of summer fashions, as is the jumper frock itself, for that matter!

This jumper is of shiny silk lace in coffee color to match the skirt. It is trimmed with a band of the crêpe de chine round its hem and a schoolgirl sash of the crêpe de chine, cut bias, is worn at the natural waistline. Interesting features of this jumper are the deep armhole decolletés and the narrow effect of the front and back decolletés.

Deep amber or topaz jewelry set in gold will add a smart finishing touch.

Lost Chinese Blue Revived by This Painter?

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The marvelous blue lost to the skill of Chinese artists, that blue which blossomed at its purest and most marvelous in far off times, has perhaps been discovered again in the work of young M. Henri Hiltz, whose exhibition of pictures in lacquer at the Drake hotel is unique. The work is as exquisite as it is unusual. Chiefly these paintings are upon screens, gorgeous screens, magnificent screens, subtle screens. They are in their spreading leaves beautiful enough to grace a queen's ballroom.

It is difficult when the exhibition is as small as this and would be impossible were it not of such fine work to find words pungent enough to whet the interest of those who read so that they at once will go and see what all the commotion is about. This week has seen us keen on the Thieme paintings in the Carson Pirie Scott galleries; keen on the Chicago Artists' show in the Palmer house, and today we are as keen on this curious craft discovered at the Drake.

Henri Hiltz is a young Frenchman, born in Paris, educated and trained at the Beaux Arts and a pupil of Paulin Bertrand. He has met with success in portraiture and in landscape painting. Leaving these he has developed for himself this decorative art of lacquer painting fashioned after the lacquer work of the Chinese and Japanese. America gave him his inspiration to execute this painting in the grand manner. He felt that for this art large spaces were best, so, inspired by the American skyscraper, he fashions his pictures on a giant scale. A mural, for instance, of the Blue Bird theme is wrought in majestic proportions, the bird against rolling clouds of blue upon a red background.

The three screens, however, cause us to indulge in the greater rapture. He who can see the "La Corbeille de Fleurs" [basket of flowers] screen unmoved is indeed a stoic. Here is beautiful color and composition, with the back of the screen as fluent and decorative as its surface. The "Meeting in the Jungle" gives us a magnificent elephant and a wary tiger, featured against a tangle of trees. The "Dancing Girl" is remarkable for its subtle play of projecting shadows, blacks and grays, that come alive as you shift the angle of the panels.

The exhibit will continue to May 31 and is worth seeing.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Once, while I was teaching in a rural school, I had dressed up rather more than usual and had taken special pains to look nice. When I entered the school room one of my little second grade pupils, after giving me an appraising glance, exclaimed:

"O, teacher, sometimes you look so cute and sometimes you just look like yourself." M. M.

One day when I was visiting a friend she sent her 4 year old son to see if his grandmother was awake. He returned with the report, "Grandma isn't awake—she is sleeping right out loud." S. N.

RECAPTURE YOUTH

By Reducing, Easily, Comfortably, and Immediately

Not every woman is so fortunate as to have that youthful form over which modern frocks can be so skillfully molded. It is possible to rid your body of that excess fat, quickly and easily, and, in addition, improve your general health.

Fayro Bath Salts contain nothing except pure ingredients, which, dissolved in water, give you a healthful invigorating bath. Fayro opens wide the pores of your skin and the excess fat beneath the surface disappears. Your skin, invigorated by the mineral salts, takes on a new texture and color.

Don't endanger your health by taking doubtful preparations internally. By eating less starchy foods the loss of weight can be hastened, but don't restrict your diet too much unless on the advice of your physician.

Hundreds of physicians and enthusiastic users of Fayro in all parts of the nation have written *letters of the excellent results they have obtained.

Dr. C., of Marshall, Minn., says, "I have tried Fayro in several cases I am attending now with very good results. One patient lost two pounds in two baths and four pounds in one bath. I believe it very good."

"Yesterday I received one package of Fayro. Last night I used it and lost three and one-half pounds. I was delighted." This is part of a letter from Miss S.

Fayro is sold only on an unconditional guarantee that if you are dissatisfied for any reason your money will be instantly refunded. More than a million and a half treatments have been sold on this guarantee. You risk nothing in giving it a fair trial.

One dollar at drug stores and toilet counters everywhere.

*Write for copy of sworn statement before Notary Public that no testimonial for Fayro has ever been solicited or paid for in any way. Fayro, Inc., North Side, Pittsburgh.

RROW'S TRIBUNE

HOPE NATURAL GAS WILL CUT CHICAGO RATES

Get Ready for Coming of Texas Pipeline.

HOW natural gas piped into Chicago from Texas bring about a reduction in the rate Chicago gas users pay?

Clarke W. Hadley, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, and J. E. Matthews, chief engineer for the commission, said yesterday they believed it will, eventually. Bernard J. Mullaney, vice president of the People's Gas Light and Coke company, said the question could not be answered at this time.

The question was raised by the near completion of the 24 inch main which will run the Texas gas fields and is to cross Illinois to the Indiana state line, and by predictions that the use of gas for heat will be largely expanded. The main is now laid to within a short distance of Chicago. It may go beyond the Indiana line.

Basis of Cost Changed.

In preparation for the advent of the natural gas the commerce commission has already given permission to the gas company to change the basis of charges to the consumer. Because the company has given notice it intends to use the natural and manufactured gas, and the natural has twice the heating power of the gas now in use, the company will be permitted to charge the consumer on the basis of a half content of the gas delivered.

Formerly the company was required to furnish gas of a heating value standard of 530 British thermal units commonly called b. t. u.'s] per cubic foot. It is now permitted to charge on the basis of therms used, a therm being a unit of heating value equal to 100,000 b. t. u.'s. The company and the commerce commission say the new rates will be almost exactly the same as the old.

Jurisdiction in Doubt.

"We cannot say at this time whether we will have jurisdiction over the pipe line company," said Chairman Hadley. "If the pipe line company sells to the local gas company and not to the public it cannot be classified as a public utility and therefore we would have nothing to do with its rates."

Chief Engineer Matthews said it was generally believed the local company could buy natural gas 10 per cent cheaper than it can manufacture gas. There is the question of how much of a supply there is of natural gas. Mr. Matthews said his information is that the investment is based on the expectation there will be 30 years' supply.

Gas Official Noncommittal.

"We can't say now what the cost to us for natural gas will be," said Mr. Mullaney. "The subject is an experiment. We are going to try it. It wouldn't be good business for us to talk now of a possible reduction.

"In the last nine years we have voluntarily given the public three reductions. We believe in doing that and that it is good business. But regarding future rates, it wouldn't be right for us to discuss them publicly before we discuss them with the commerce commission."

The expectation yesterday at the commerce commission offices was that the pipe line company would have its mains extended into Chicago by July and that the natural gas would be coming here by October.

Geo. M. Cohan's Daughter Undergoes an Operation

New York, May 12.—(AP)—Georgette Cohan, daughter of George M. Cohan, famous actor, was reported tonight to be seriously ill following an operation. No alarm, however, was felt over her condition. She underwent another operation a month ago.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: So Near and Yet So Far.

BURY MAN WHO MIGHT HAVE BEEN KING OF FRANCE

DREUX, France, May 12.—(AP)—While republican france discussed today the chances of Paul Doumer and Aristide Briand at tomorrow's election in Versailles, a few staunch royalists, a number of whom bear historic names and titles, gathered here this forenoon for the funeral of a man who might have been the nation's king.

More than five years after his death at Palermo, Sicily, the remains of Philip, duke of Orleans, were brought here yesterday in the utmost secrecy. This morning the coffin containing them was borne into the historic chapel of Saint Louis, and a solemn mass of requiem sung for the repose of the exiled prince's soul. Then the coffin was taken to the chapel crypt, and the long wandering pretender to the throne was laid at rest.

Chief among the mourners was the duchess of Guise, sister of the royal exile, and wife of his cousin, the present pretender to the French crown. The same inexorable law of the republic that prevented the late heir from living in his own fatherland kept the duke of Guise from attending.

Bomb Smashes Two Plate Glass Windows in Grocery

A black powder bomb tossed against the door of the grocery of Tony Zeoli at 614 South Hoyne avenue early this morning smashed two plate glass windows of the store and aroused the neighborhood. Zeoli was asleep in a room at the rear when the explosion occurred. He told the Marquette police that he had operated the grocery for six years and had never had any trouble. He said he knew of no motive for the bombing. The damage was estimated at $50.

Democrats of Kentucky Pick Laffoon for Governor

Lexington, Ky., May 12.—(AP)—Judge Ruby Laffoon, Madisonville, was selected as the Democratic nominee for governor of Kentucky by the state Democratic convention late tonight. Laffoon, judge of the Hopkins county Circuit court, was nominated on the first ballot. He entered the convention with the largest number of instructed delegates in a field of eight candidates. He received the votes of 1,735 of the 1,986 delegates. The convention was the first conducted by the Democratic party in Kentucky for thirty years for nominating state officials.

Mrs. Helen Brian Funeral Services Will Be Today

Funeral services will be held today at Texarkana, Ark., for Mrs. Helen Brian, mother of Mrs. Lucille Brian Gilmore Harrison, former Chicago newspaper woman. Mrs. Brian died on May 1 in Texarkana and funeral services were delayed to permit the arrival of Mrs. Harrison from Budapest. Mrs. Brian, widow of a Louisiana judge, had been a resident of Chicago for the last 14 years.

YSAYE FUNERAL FRIDAY; KING AND QUEEN TO ATTEND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, May 12.—The funeral of Eugene Ysaye, famous violinist, composer and one time conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, who died in his sleep today after a long illness, will be held on Friday. Among those who will attend will be King Albert, whose kapellmeister Ysaye was and whose court functions the late artist always attended with his American wife, the former Annette Dincin of Brooklyn. Queen Elizabeth, Crown Prince Leopold and Princess Astrid will also attend.

One of the first to call and offer condolences today was Ysaye's talented pupil, Queen Elizabeth, who for the past 25 years has taken two violin lessons weekly from him, and who is popularly supposed to have helped him write his last opera, "Peter the Miner," which scored a great success at its premiere in Liege two months ago.

The queen laid a spray of roses on the dead master's coffin and then knelt and prayed, weeping audibly.

Bernard Eckhart Funeral Services to Be Tomorrow

Funeral services for Bernard A. Eckhart, president of the B. A. Eckhart Milling company, for many years a civic and business leader in Chicago, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Fourth Presbyterian church. Interment will be in Rosehill cemetery. President J. C. Murray of the Board of Trade yesterday appointed 22 members to represent the board at the funeral services. Mr. Eckhart was the oldest member of the association. He died Monday in his residence at 1530 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. E. J. Aikin Funeral Services to Be Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held tomorrow from the Methodist church at Marengo, Ill., for Mrs. E. J. Aikin, wife of the Rev. E. J. Aikin of Marengo, who died on Monday at Waterman, Ill. Mrs. Aikin was the mother of three children. The family formerly lived in Aurora and Chicago. Burial will be at Elgin, Ill.

FIREMAN HURT IN ROOF CRASH DIES OF INJURIES

Fireman John McAneny, 37 years old, 447 West 74th street died yesterday in St. Bernard's hospital of burns and injuries suffered on Monday morning, when he fell through the roof of a blazing building, fought his way through burning debris, and leaped four floors to the ground in an endeavor to save himself from the flames. He leaves a widow and two children.

Coincident with McAneny's death it was learned that the fire, which wrecked the five story plant of the A. L. Randall furniture company at 76th and Wallace streets, was being investigated by Paul E. Bertram, first deputy state fire marshal, acting at the request of Investigator George T. Scrivener, who expressed the opinion that the fire may have been incendiary. The damage was estimated at $500,000.

ANTOINE BEDARD, MILL COMPANY HEAD, DIES AT 93

ANTOINE BEDARD.

Antoine Bedard, pioneer Chicago sash and door manufacturer, president of the Bedard-Morency Mill company of River Forest, died yesterday in his home at 555 Monroe avenue, River Forest. He would have been 94 years old next month. Death was due to heart disease.

Until he was stricken six weeks ago Mr. Bedard was the active head of his company, which played a prominent part in the building of both Oak Park and River Forest. Born in Quebec on June 29, 1837, Mr. Bedard came to Chicago 74 years ago and entered the mill manufacturing business.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning in St. Luke's church, River Forest. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery. One son and three daughters, Mrs. Arthur de St. Aubin of Oak Park, Antoine J. Bedard of Chicago, and Mrs. Julius V. Brenelsen and Adeline H. Bedard of River Forest, survive.

Cyrus A. Barr, Official of Continental Bank, Is Dead

Cyrus A. Barr, 51 years old, a vice president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, died yesterday morning in his home, 336 Essex road, Kenilworth. Mr. Barr came to Chicago from Des Moines, Ia., 12 years ago. He had been connected with the Des Moines National bank successively as assistant cashier, cashier, vice president and later as a director. He is survived by his widow and two children.

3 PLAY HOOKEY, GIVING NO. SHORE KIDNAPING SCARE

Three children of wealthy parents who left the exclusive Lake Forest day school because they were tired of their studies, were the cause of an exciting search yesterday morning when the police of north shore towns turned out in full force to scour the highways in search of kidnapers.

The children, all 7 years old, were Joan Holden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hale Holden Jr., 489 East Illinois road, Lake Forest; Helen Priebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Priebe, Maple court, Lake Forest, and Audria Mullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Mullen, 250 Laurel avenue, Highland Park.

At 11 o'clock in the morning a teacher telephoned to Police Chief Frank Tiffany of Lake Forest that the trio had disappeared from their classes. Chief Tiffany called his night force out of bed and flashed an alarm to neighboring towns to guard against the escape of the "kidnapers." Two hours later the children were found exploring a wooded ravine on the campus of Lake Forest college.

FIND WEALTHY WIDOW LEAPED TO HER DEATH

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned yesterday by the coroner's jury which investigated the death of Mrs. Mary Whipple Jacobs, 61 years old, a wealthy widow who was killed on Monday night when she leaped from her ninth floor suite in the Mozart apartment hotel, 102 East Chestnut street.

Thomas Hough, 812 Lloyd place, Winnetka, an official of Halsey, Stuart & Co., who was a son-in-law of Mrs. Jacobs, told the jury she had been losing her eyesight and two weeks ago had endeavored to kill herself by asphyxiation.

Mrs. Jacobs was the widow of Col. William Vaughn Jacobs, first president of the Calumet Electric Street Railway company and wealthy capitalist.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

FOSSUM—Knut O. Fossum. A tribute of love to my husband, who passed away two years ago today, May 13, 1929, at Graceland cemetery.
Where are you, dear, in darkest ground?
So restful, still, and not a sound.
But I am happy, even so,
For you are with me, where I go.
Your soul is living, I'll be brave,
For I shall meet you, yonder grave.
ZULEIMA O. FOSSUM.

MORTON—Lieut. Samuel J. Morton, born July 7, 1894, passed away May 13, 1923. On the occasion of this the eighth anniversary of the passing of an heroic soldier, loving son and brother, and ever faithful friend, the following memorial verses are dedicated in fond remembrance and everlasting affection:

Eight years have passed since you, good friend,
Were taken by the hand of Fate.
The eighth fond message now I send:
Sleep on in peace—we grieve and wait.

We seem to hear your voice, e'en now,
The voice of friend and comrade, too;
Peace be with you—we stand and bow
In memory's hall, our thoughts for you.

Sleep on in peace—the passing years
Forever keep your memory green.
Time does not wipe away the tears;
Tears shed for you—though you're not seen.
PETER MONDANE.

MORTON—Samuel J. Morton. In loving memory of our dear son and brother, who passed away 8 years ago today.
MOTHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

GROVE HOLDS SOX TO FOUR HITS; A'S WIN, 5-2

PITTSBURGHER WINS HANDILY IN DERBY TRIAL

Earns a Place as Kentucky's Hope.

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—There's good cheer among the Kentuckians tonight. For after they saw the Derby trials here this afternoon they recovered hope for a Kentucky triumph in the derby Saturday.

Pittsburgher, the big bay son of Bo Mahmoud-Wistaria, which looks on his famous uncle Exterminator, won today's test, and, running over a muddy track which he did not like, turned in a sensational performance. He covered a mile and sixteenth under a snug ride by Jockey Robert Jr. in 1:45 3-5 and beat Spanish Play, the winter track 3-year-old champion, by three-quarters of a length. He was well in hand at the finish. A nose back of Spanish Play came Charles Fisher's Sweep All in third place.

Runs in Top Form.

While some claimed Sweep All had been roughed around a bit it seemed a race truly run, with Pittsburgher much the best. For he took the sensible route, lost ground on every turn and was running easiest of all as the trio of leading western Derby contenders came charging down to the finish line. He will like a hot track better and he is surely to horse the easterners will have to beat if they are to carry the Derby prize back to the Atlantic seaboard.

Pittsburgher was an outsider in the betting, just as he will be in the Derby. When the rain came up even his most ardent admirers deserted him and he paid nearly 7 to 1. He let Prince d'Amour, Spanish Play and Sweep All make the pace for him, took the lead at the head of the stretch and didn't have to hustle much to draw out home in front. Prince d'Amour finished far back and the Derby trial probably eliminated him from the Derby.

Handling of the battle plan of the Greentree stable, which holds such a powerful hand in the Derby, was turned today.

Surf Board, a great speed horse and two mile stayers, Twenty Grand and Anchors Aweigh, are to carry on in the pink and black jacket of Mrs. John Hay Whitney, who maintains the Greentree stable.

Then the Other Two Come.

The Greentree strategists, so we learned today, have discovered there isn't much except plenty of early speed in the ranks of the western Derby contenders. So the story goes that they are going to send Jockey Tony Skeets out on Surf Board to show the westerners some real speed in the first mile of the Derby mile and a quarter.

Then the Greentree strategists are certain that Twenty Grand and Anchors Aweigh will come dashing along in the last furlong and probably finish one-two in the Derby. "And they better not let Surf Board get into too long a lead or he may beat them all," remarked Jimmy Rowe, who trains the Greentree stable horses.

Of course, the Greentree stable was not the only Derby outfit making plans for the running of the race. For as Derby day draws near, big Jim Healy, who trains Mate, becomes more and more confident that the hero of the Belmont at old Pimlico last Saturday is going to be a greater hero at Churchill Downs late next Saturday afternoon.

"I'm convinced that Mate will again run every horse that he beat in the Belmont," Trainer Healy said today. "They tell me there isn't much in the way of good Derby timber in the west. So if it's Twenty Grand, Equipoise and Ladder that we have to beat I feel that the race is as good as won for Mate. I'm really more afraid of some western colt beating us than any of the easterners."

Twenty Grand Favorite.

Mate's price in the Derby continued to be 2 to 1 today with Twenty Grand the favorite at 5 to 2. You could get 4 to 1 in spots on Equipoise and 6 to 1 on Ladder. If you talk to Healy you can't help but feel that 2 to 1 is a good price about Mate.

This was a work day for all the Derby candidates, although some of them was asked to go in for any serious effort. Mate just loafed around the old Downs course as he jogged five furlongs in 1:04 and was pulled up at the end of three-quarters in 1:20. He showed more than ever that he is as fit as any horse that will go to the post in the Derby.

Twenty Grand and Anchors Aweigh worked a half in :50 3-5, while the other two Greentree stable eligibles, Surf Board and St. Brideaux, went the same distance handily in :50. Kurtsinger and the noted Negro exercise boy, Marshall Lilly, were in the saddle on these horses.

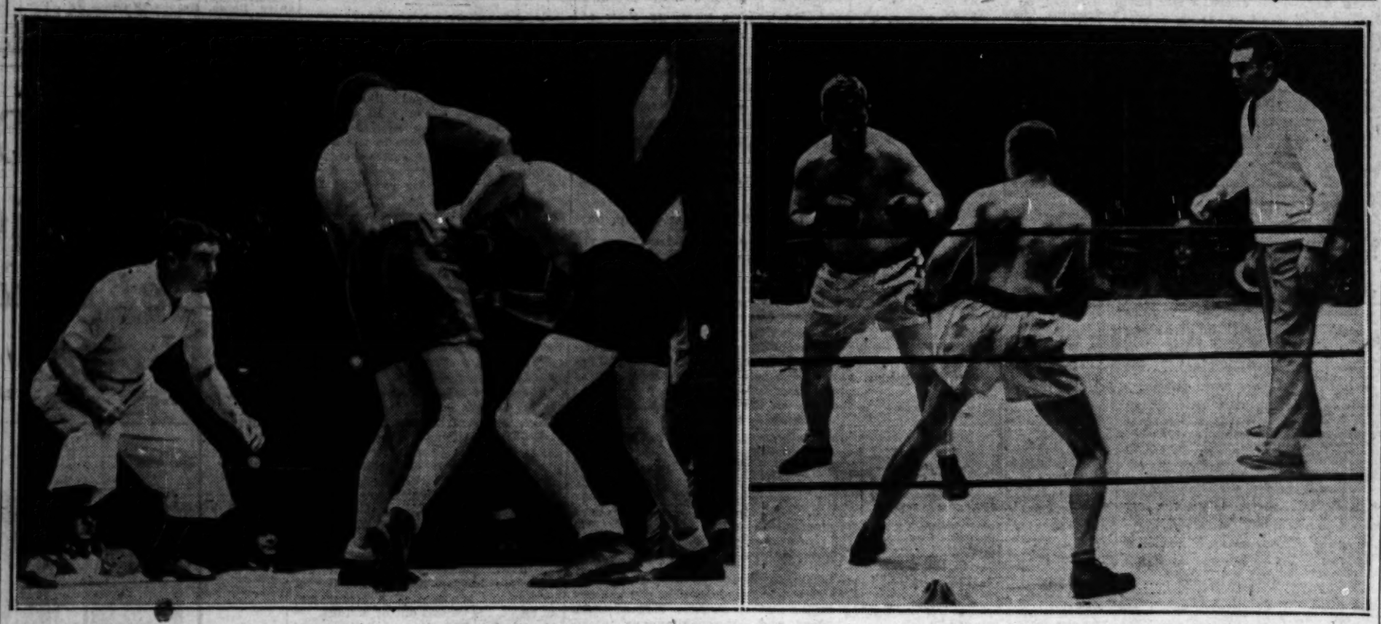
Ladder Takes Easy Gallop.

Equipoise and Ladder just galloped over the track and took in the beauty. Insco and Boys Howdy, two more on western hopes, did not go in for any serious work because the track was bad. They may get their final Derby tryouts tomorrow morning if the track improves. Mate and Equipoise are to be tuned up for the big race on Thursday morning.

Both the Agua Caliente Derby winner, Twenty Grand, a likely starter although he will have one more test in a race here on Saturday afternoon. He beat several older performers impressively yesterday.

THE GUMPS—OPPORTUNITY KNOCKING AT THE DOOR

WHETTING THE CROWD'S APPETITE FOR BOXING'S BIGGEST SHOW



Two famous professional fighters officiate while amateurs exchange punches in preliminaries to the international Golden Gloves contest last night at Soldiers' field. At the left William Stribling is refereeing a bout between Tony Sutton and Peter Smagatz, while at the right Max Schmeling is officiating as Rudy Sterbenz and Adam Smith hammer away at each other. A crowd of 40,000, the largest ever to see an amateur ring show, attended the contest, which was won by the American team. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

AMERICAN BOYS GAIN VICTORY BY RUSH AT START

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Golden Gloves fighters started with a rush last night. Three of them won in succession—Leo Rodak, the flyweight from South Chicago; Nick Scialaba, the scrappy Italian, and Don Gonzales, Spanish born, from Cleveland.

Henri Bruyere, French bantamweight, and Gabriel Lerat, French featherweight, were knocked down. But they rose to carry on. Their aggressiveness and willingness to meet greater odds won the crowd, whose cheers rang out as loudly for them as for the winning Americans.

U. S. Needs Strong Start.

It was well that America started with such a rush. Marcel Esnault, lightweight champion of France, outfought Scotty Sylvano of America. And then the French lads came through with two championships in the four remaining bouts.

Capt. Freddie Caserio, who led his team to overwhelming victory over New York and who captained the American team in its victory last night, was defeated by stout hearted Jean Zigan from Nancy. It was a sad blow to Caserio and the decision was very close. But Freddie took it like the sportsman he is.

Yustin Sirutis, the 210 pound eastern intercollegiate champion in 1930 from New York university, was the other American to lose. Fernand Laudrin, outweighed, stood toe to toe with his taller opponent, trading punch for punch. He slipped in a few extra punches, and his gameness and endurance were rewarded. The bout easily was the best amateur heavyweight contest in three months of Golden Gloves.

Jack Kranz from Gary, Ind., intercity light heavyweight champion, won international honors when he whipped Capt. Alexandre Elyas. Krantz jabbed and crossed with his right effectively. There was no doubt of the result.

Console Beaten Americans.

There was jubilation in the American dressing room after Kranz had come back with the international victory assured. But in their joy all the lads found opportunity to console Sylvano and Caserio, who had been beaten.

The French boxers have been praised for their sportsmanship. Certainly no team ever visited Chicago which fought cleaner or with more regard for the rules. But the Golden Glovers were perfect hosts. Fighting under several international rules of

Early Birds Take No Chances; Begin Roosting at 4 o'Clock

Quite a number of the 50 cent customers at the international bouts at Soldiers' field last evening made sure they weren't cheated out of the choice space between the 25 yard lines. They were on the premises at 4 o'clock. By 6 o'clock the crowd of early birds had swelled to about 2,000, equally divided between the east and west slopes of the Stadium proper. Those who held reserved tickets on the floor remained away as long as possible.

The press territory around the ringside bore all the earmarks of a professional affair. The two telegraph companies had close to 20 wires in service. In addition to this a number of nearby cities which had boxers in the Golden Gloves tournament were represented by experts.

The movie fans of the country will not be denied a glimpse of the happenings. Five different news reel operators were turning out their stuff from two towers, one south of the ring and the other north.

Fans who had seats in the reserved section and who had previously attended some of the outdoor championship battles, probably noticed a vast difference in accommodations. The reserved seats, and there were 22,000 of them, were built on a vast floor. This not only tended for protection against the damp ground but improved the view for those toward the rear. The platform was elevated away from the ring.

There was no trouble finding policemen or ushers. Two hundred and fifty city police and two hundred of the south park force were on hand to look after details. The seating was handled by 300 of the blue uniformed ushers now in style at the Sox and Cubs parks, the Stadium and race tracks.

The solid dome of black over the amphitheater was broken by shafts of lights from huge army searchlights ordered down from Fort Sheridan by Maj. Gen. Parker. One at the south end sent heavenward a white light, one at the northeast corner a green, and one at the northwest corner a red.

The best footwork of the program was revealed by Young Stribling and Max Schmeling, respectively challenger and world heavyweight champion, while refereeing in the preliminaries. Stribling was attired in a snappy white jersey and knickers and blue stockings. Max devoted less time to his saratorial effect. Among other things he wore a pair of gray pants with a Hamburg cut and a white sweater.

The White Sox were well represented. Manager Donie Bush, Coach Mike Kelly, Sey Leberous, Lou Blue, Frank Grube, Hal McKain, and Ted Lyons were in seats a few rows from the ring.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight title holder of the world, watched proceedings from a ringside chair.

Before the show started a brass band entertained by remote control. The musicians did their tooting way down in the empty south end of the field and the fruits of their labors was conveyed to the folks through coveys of enunciators hoisted over the ring.

French veterans, wearing their horizon blue uniforms and bedecked with service medals, visited the dressing rooms of the invading boxers and made presentations of floral pieces. Then the veterans took seats where they could provide some rooting in their native tongue.

The dressing rooms before the bouts provided a study in contrasts. It might have been the difference in preparatory methods. The American boys were stretched in positions of repose. The Frenchman lads were fidgetting around as if nervous, but not concerned about their physical state.

Traffic to the field offered no problems. There was no congestion either of autos or pedestrians due to the gradual manner in which the ticket holders arrived. After the show there was some congestion both for cars and hikers, but it wasn't serious.

Between rounds and bouts the spectators in the gold bond seats devised means of keeping the lower extremities warm. They hammered their heels on the board flooring.

When Dave Barry was introduced as referee of the Lerat-Gonzales 126 pound division fight fans in the 50 cent seats turned loose a resonant boo. Then they counted in unison up to fourteen. They were proving they hadn't forgotten the always disputed long count in the Chicago meeting of Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

The chief ring casualty of the evening was suffered by Jacques Delahayes, who was forced to meet Phil Dardell of New Lork in the 147 pound class. In the second round one of Jacques' teeth was knocked loose. He spit it out and continued with his work. When not losing his teeth Jacques is a barber at Rollerville.

Mickey Cochrane, the Athletics' star backstop, was another baseball notable who called around to watch proceedings.

FRENCH PROVE SELVES REAL 'SONS OF FRANCE

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

France may well be proud of her gallant amateur boxing champions who opposed the American team in the International Golden Gloves bouts at Soldiers' field last night. Although beaten in the team total by the narrow margin of 5 bouts to 3, these visitors who came four thousand miles for the contests made a much better showing than was generally expected against the best and toughest boxers who over have emerged from the Chicago-New York series.

The eight sons of France who had won championships in their own elimination trials displayed courage of the highest order. In several instances they showed gameness worthy not only of the best traditions of the fistic arena but also of the nation they represented. In all bouts sportsmanship was the order of the day. The French accepted their defeats when they came gracefully and their three victories with undisguised elation.

French Boxers Surprise.

In their knowledge of boxing as science or as the oft-quoted manly art of self-defense the French were an agreeable surprise. In defense, in footwork, and in their elastic ducking they were equal to their opponents, and often showier.

In attack, the visitors were not as consistent. Those three French heroes who took home with them international titles quickly adopted their opponents' American style, which is a rushing attack with power in the punches. It was aggressiveness and willingness to trade blows with an opponent taller, with longer reach and about 30 pounds heavier that enabled Fernand Laudrin, a military aviation mechanic by occupation, to defeat Yustin Sirutis of New York, in what possibly was the high light of the night.

It looked like just a shame as the big American faced the much smaller Frenchman. Down in Gotham where Sirutis attends New York university, they tell you Sirutis, if he decides to turn pro, is the best heavyweight prospect of years. After the contest had gone a round it was not such a shame, and at the end Laudrin was the fresher of the two. The crowd, which matched in behavior the splendid sportsmanship of the boxers, gave the winner a great greeting.

Use High Guard.

Those visitors who lost, one of whom was an alternate, usually were outpointed and outslugged. They were

WEATHER MAN IS ONE ENEMY CUBS CAN'T OVERCOME

Giant Final Is Called Off; Face Robins Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 12.—Cubs' postponement number 9 was necessary today, cold weather being the reason the New York Giant management called off the contest. Nine postponements to date and the season won't be a month old until day after tomorrow.

Six of the cancellations will result in double headers, the first of which will be played in Cincinnati on May 26. Three of them will blot out open dates on the schedule.

Double Headers Next Visit.

The Cubs will be back here for a three day series beginning on Monday, June 22, and as a means of swelling attendance on the three early week days, it is certain that the series will have one double header to play off yesterday's postponement. It also is probable that today's setover will be played off on the next trip here.

Tomorrow the Cubs will move over to Brooklyn for what is intended to be a three game series. But they have at least two postponements with every team in the league they've met so far, so there doesn't seem to be any reason to hope they can play three straight days with Brooklyn. At least the Brooklyn series doesn't involve any trunk or satchel packing, for the team stays right in the same hotel in New York until they proceed to Philadelphia Friday night.

Hornsby May Start.

Manager Hornsby was uncertain as to whether his injury will permit him to start in the Brooklyn series. He said this morning that if the ground at Ebbets field is soft he will take no chance on further wrenching the sore muscle, but if he finds the footing firm he probably will start.

Robert Smith, who was to have pitched against the Giants today, will go against the Robins tomorrow.

'Tres Chic' French Boys' Tribute to American Crowd

BY HEROL EGAN.

"They are tres chic, the spectators of Chicago. Did you hear how they applauded us when we won?" said Marcel Esnault, the marble worker who kept his word that he would "carve out" a name for himself after the fights last night.

"And how was the refereeing?" he was asked.

"It was perfect. And all the judges were fair to us. We could not have been treated better back in our own France."

Marcel has great respect for the boy he beat, Scotty Sylvano.

"He is the best fighter that I have ever met," Marcel said. "It was a big honor for me to have won."

Fernand Laudrin was just as good-natured and phlegmatic as ever back in the dressing rooms as he showed his diamond studded belt to admiring friends.

"Sirutis hurt me a little in the first round," he said. "But not bad. When the second started I knew that I would win. But it made my arms tired swinging up at the Eiffel tower.

"They fight much harder in America than in France. It is fighting here instead of boxing. I should like to stay here for a few months in order to learn from them," said Jean Zigan, who beat Fred Caserio.

Dr. Charles Sebeng, delegate of the French Boxing federation, said:

"I am very, very happy even though my boys lost the tournament. I cannot praise too highly the referees, judges, and officials. It is a great triumph for amateurism. You are far ahead of us now in amateur boxing. But we will make great progress now, thanks to the great stimulus that this tournament has given the sport in my country."

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Robert Moses Grove, the long faced southpaw, threw the ball with such great skill yesterday that the White Sox couldn't declare a profit on their day's toil against the Athletics. Grove, with his usual nonchalant delivery, opened his heart only to the extent of four hits. The title holders did far better with what Pat Caraway tossed at them; so they carried off the opener of a three game series, 5 to 2.

Caraway can attribute his second jolt of the campaign to the fact that his deception wasn't quite functioning full blast at the outset. In the first three innings he was wild and the Athletics profited not only with passes but hits. A fielding slip by Frank Grube, the rookie backstop, also was of assistance. All of these things served to post four Mack runs on the scoreboard. For the rest of the distance Pat was more like himself and held his opponents in check except for a moment in the ninth when Al Simmons broke loose with a homer.

Reynolds Hits Twice.

A four hit victory is enough to satisfy the most fastidious of pitchers but in reality Grove did even better than this. Two of the four safeties against him were drives that infielders knocked down but couldn't recover in time to do themselves any good. The other two were legitimate and the product of the same batter. Carl Reynolds uncorked a clean single in the first inning when two were out and in the fourth was responsible for a triple that was the moving factor in all the runs scored by the south siders.

Two hits and a pass off Caraway were sufficient to send the title holders off to a one run lead in the first inning. Haas singled to left with one out and Cochrane walked. Simmons flied out, which was unusual for him to say the least. Then Foxx lined a single to left, Haas scoring, and Miller banged into a force play to conclude the session. One more Mack counted in the second but this was in the nature of a bargain tally. In between two passes Grube, making his first big league start, pegged wild to first. A fly ball did the rest.

Macks Score Again.

No alibis can be offered in explanation of two runs picked up by the Macks in the third. Hitting by Cochrane, Simmons, and Foxx did this. Cochrane led off with a hit through short and hurried to third on Simmons' safe clout to right. Foxx singled to center, Cochrane scoring and Simmons moving to third. He died in that neighborhood a moment later on Miller's grounder to Blue. Foxx went to third on this play and eventually scored while Cissell was throwing out Boley.

A wild peg on the part of Boley encouraged the Sox to go out and harvest their only two runs in the fourth. Cissell was the first man up and he bounced gently to short but Boley, after coming up cleanly with the ball, threw so wide that Foxx was drawn off the bag. Reynolds, who until this point was the only home worker to boast a hit off Grove, promptly slapped a triple to the left field score board. Cissell legging it for home. Reynolds scored on a hit past Dykes by Fothergill. Then the rally suddenly folded up. Eichrodt fanned, Appling was tossed out by the pitcher, and Kamm popped to Foxx.

Pat Caraway Improves.

Opportunity loomed in front of Reynolds again in the fifth but he didn't have the pleasure of making good in this instance. Grube opened the inning by coaxing a pass from the somber Grove. Caraway tried to bunt and Dykes caught it on the fly. Blue forced Grube after which Cissell singled where Bishop couldn't reach. This brought up Reynolds and the best he could devise was a fly to Miller ending the session. Subsequent to this only one Chicago fellow reached base. That was Cissell who walked in the eighth.

The effectiveness of Caraway after shaking himself free of whatever ailed him at the start, can be figured by his allowance of only four hits and one pass in the last six innings. The hits were scattered one to a chapter, but one of them happened to be that round tripper off the bat of Simmons.

Tommy Thomas will be delegated to lead the Sox against George Earnshaw and the other members of the Mack household in the second of the series today.

OLD BOB ROGERS DASHES HOME IN GOLDEN GLOVES

Beats Bud Charlton for Aurora Purse.

Track conditions and distance never were much of a worry to old Bob Rogers, Ben Jones' seven year old Under Fire horse, and with Jockey Dickey in the saddle he proved yesterday at Aurora that he belongs in that class of thoroughbreds that horsemen call honest animals or useful hides.

It was the Golden Gloves claiming handicap and it was almost "no contest" for old Bob. He led Bud Charlton home by a comfortable margin, with Dark Ayr barely staggering in ahead of Lieut. Russell for the show.

Track Is Heavy.

The distance was a mile and 70 yards through the heaviest kind of going, but the Jones animal paid no heed to conditions. Last winter he ran over fast tracks, slow tracks, hard tracks and soft ones, from three quarters all the way up to a mile and a sixteenth. He won at all distances and when the crowd of 5,000 made him the favorite in the mutuels, he came he came on home like the 3 to 2 shot he win ticket was worth $4.96.

The second race provided the shock of the afternoon when Cash Play, the favorite, finished third behind Seth's Companion and Absolutely. The latter won and rewarded its backers at the rate of $93.40 for $2. There was a measure of relief in this race for a little group of Chicagoans, for it established the fact that Theo Red, Louie Peters' 9 year old gelding, was not in horse heaven, as they had suspected.

Theo's Leg Heals.

Theo came down with a bad leg late last summer at Hawthorne. Somewhere along in December Louie appeared with pockets well filled and gave a dinner. He explained that he was celebrating the fact that he had just obtained an insurance policy on old Theo and that the bad leg was entirely cured. Then he served as the piece de resistance a leg of venison. His guests suspected the worst, that maybe the policy had been collected, not paid, but Theo was out there yesterday in that second race striving as well as his nine years would let him.

Yesterday was a day of good prices. There was Homewood in the sixth that paid $63.96, Frank Light in the first that returned $13.12, and Fortuna Mia that paid $12.04 in the third.

Homewood in Close Finish.

Homewood won by a whisker from Winnie Joe. It was the closest finish of the meeting.

Jockey L. Page was up on Homewood, having scored earlier on Le Belotte. Letoy Cunningham also had a pair of winning mounts. He was up on Frank Light and Fortuna Mia. Laurie, with H. Roble up, accounted for the last number.

Tilden Beats Richards Again in Net Series

Boston, Mass., May 13.—[Special.]—The claim to world's professional tennis champion by William T. Tilden II. of Philadelphia was greatly enhanced at the Garden here tonight when Big Bill won a thrilling five set match from his foe of amateur days, Vincent T. Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3.

Tonight's victory was Tilden's second in the first two of their five match struggle for the world's professional tennis championship. Nearly 7,000 saw the match.

Big Bill played consistently in the initial set to win it at 6-3, but in the second set Richards began to keep more of his speedy shots within the lines for placements, taking the set at 6-3.

After a faltering start in the third set, Tilden managed to get through it at 6-3.

With his back to the wall in the fourth set Richards set sail with an unyielding relentlessness. Vinnie volleyed and served with uncanny accuracy to take the first three games. The pace was a bit too fast for Richards and Tilden aced his antagonist for the point that won the fourth game.

Tilden became aggressive on Richard's service in the fifth to break through Richards' service for the lead at 4-2 in games. The next two games followed service, allowing Tilden to win at 6-3.

AMERICA PICKS YOUNG TEAM FOR DAVIS CUP PLAY

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Francis X. Shields, Sidney B. Wood Jr., both of New York; Clifford S. Sutter of New Orleans, and Gregory S. Mangin of Newark will represent this country in the final round of the North American zone Davis cup competition against Canada at Montreal on May 21, 22, and 23. This quartet was named by the United States Lawn Tennis association today.

Bernon S. Prentice, another New Yorker, was chosen as nonplaying captain and will have charge of the team until it wins or loses the right to meet Argentina, South American zone champion, in Washington, D. C., May 28, 29, and 30. He will direct the practice of the trophy players this week at Forest Hills and lead them in their invasion of the Dominion next Sunday night.

This is the youngest combination ever to carry the Stars and Stripes into action in a Davis cup campaign. Its average age is approximately twenty-one years.

Lewis Meets Easterner on Coliseum Mat

Tonight's Card

Ed "Strangler" Lewis and Frank Judson, two out of three falls.

"Jumping Joe" Savoldi and Johnny Plummer, time limit.

Hank Bruder and Marvin Strosta, time limit.

Lloyd Burdick and Vic Soldat, time limit.

Zack Malbov and George Schwab, time limit.

Ed [Strangler] Lewis, headlock king, will meet Frank Judson, Harvard university mat coach, in the windup of Promoters Jim Mullen's and Joe Coffey's wrestling show at the Coliseum tonight.

Lewis won back his share of the heavyweight mat championship by defeating Ed [Don] George at Los Angeles several weeks ago. The Strangler heard all about Jim Londos' title claims in Chicago and immediately came here to force the Greek into a match or leave Chicago with his title claims.

Londos Through as Champ.

Upon his arrival here Lewis appeared before the Illinois athletic commission with a $5,000 check to force Londos or any other outstanding challenger to meet him and decide who is the real heavyweight mat champion. The commission gave Londos ten days to accept the offer. Yesterday afternoon at the commission's offices, Londos, through his attornays, refused the offer and the athletic body served notice on the Greek to quit wrestling in Illinois as champion.

Joe Savoldi, Notre Dame and Chicago Bears' gridiron hero, will be after his ninth grappling win in as many starts when he toes the mark many starts against Johnny Plummer, a 210 pounder who claims the championship of Iowa.

Hank Bruder meets Marvin Strahota, Milwaukee heavyweight.

Ten at Fronton.

The ten grapplers who will convort in the Rainbo Fronton ring at Clark street and Lawrence avenue tomorrow night finished their tuning up work here yesterday afternoon.

In the main event George Zaharias takes on Frank Bronowicz, who has not been defeated here in eleven consecutive starts. Frank decisioned big George recently at the Stadium. They will go for two out of three falls.

Jim McMillen, former Illini grid captain, meets Don De Laun in the semi-windup. De Laun is a Frenchman who has been wrestling successfully in this country for a few months.

Jim Clinkstock, 235 pound Oklahoma Indian, meets Jim Steele, Californian, in one of the supporting matches.

Hans Steinke, German giant, will have as his opponent Wallace Duguid, veteran Canadian.

Jack Smith, Chicago, goes against Hans Bauer, German warrior. They drew in a 30 minute match here a few weeks ago. Doc Krone is promoting the card.

4 Yank Golfers Qualify at Southport

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOUTHPORT, England, May 12.—Joe Turnesa took a strong lead over the field here today in the $7,500 Southport professional tournament with a brilliant 69, only to see Len Holland, little known British golfer, turn the same trick late in the afternoon and nose the American out.

Holland shot a 72 yesterday for a total in the qualifying round of 141. Turnesa's total was 142. Both played the Hesketh club today, where the going was more simple than at Southport, and the Ainsdals course, where the same event occurred yesterday, and where the tournament will be played off. Turnesa's 73 led for hours yesterday until Holland appeared with an unexpected 72.

The 69s today were equaled only by Horton Smith of New York, and they were far and away the best rounds of the tournament.

A score of 146 was good enough to let 107 golfers into the money competition, the first 100, and the ties for the 100th place being chosen. All four of the Yanks who entered qualified. Turnesa and Smith qualified easily, but Joe Kirkwood of Chicago and Tony Manero of New Jersey barely managed to make the field. Kirkwood, who had 78 yesterday at Southport, started in a businesslike way at Hesketh today and was out in 35. The tenth started his downfall. He hooked his drive out of bounds for the loss of a stroke and he sliced the second out of bounds. He played the fifth into the ditch and he finally reached the green in six. Then he putted three for a nine. He played two over

LEADERS HOLD FIRM IN CHICAGO STOCK TRADING

Construction Materials Pfd. Rises 5 Points.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Steadiness in leading shares marked the quiet trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. In contrast with the confusing trends which prevailed on the New York board there was little in way of unusual price movements here. The news of the day was mixed, with the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend by directors of the Chicago North Western more or less offsetting the poor earnings statement of the New York Central.

Of the news concerning Chicago stocks, the announcement by the Lincoln park board of the awarding of a $3,062,000 sand filling contract to the Construction Materials found immediate market response. The company's preferred stock which has been selling around 25 shot up more than five points. The issue, which is on a $8.50 annual dividend basis, has sold as low as 22 this year. The firm's common stock was dull and unchanged around 7.

Reports Income.

The Central and Southwest Utilities company reported earnings for the first quarter of $1,522,465 available for depreciation and dividends, as compared with $1,603,027 in the corresponding period last year. Gross earnings were $7,810,919, as contrasted with $8,252,093 in the first quarter of 1930. The earnings available for depreciation and dividends for the twelve months ended March 31 totaled $7,317,641, against $6,982,545 in the preceding year.

In connection with its acquisition of the Art Color Printing company the Hall Printing company is issuing an additional $2,200,000 of its first mortgage 5½ per cent bonds. The bonds are being offered by a syndicate including Lee, Higginson, A. G. Becker & Co. and the Foreman-State corporation. Art Color was acquired by Hall Printing for $2,700,000 of which $1,700,000 is to be paid in cash and $1,000,000 in Hall preferred stock. It is understood that Hall will eventually effect a physical merger of its two eastern subsidiaries which are located on Long Island with the New Jersey plant of Art Color.

Deny Grunow Report.

The report that W. C. Grunow, former president of the Grigsby-Grunow company, is negotiating for the acquisition of the Transformer corporation was flatly denied yesterday by J. J. Davin, an associate of Mr. Grunow. Mr. Davin stated that Mr. Grunow is going ahead with plans for the organization of an entirely new company along the lines announced several weeks ago.

Details of the organization and the financial setup will be announced within the next ten days, he asserted. The new company will engage in the manufacture of radio and television sets and electrical refrigerators, Mr. Davin stated. The personnel of the new company will be made up of several men formerly associated with Grunow, it was stated.

Stockholders of the Merchants and Manufacturers at their annual meeting yesterday approved the proposed increase in the authorized prior preferred stock from 160,000 to 500,000 shares. Arthur C. Green, president, stated that April business of the company showed an improvement over the preceding month.

CAR LOADINGS HINT OF UPTURN IN U.S. INDUSTRY

Show Gain of 16,019 During Week.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Evidences of gradual improvement in trade and industry and a hint that the second quarter of this year may show less than the usual slackening following the seasonal spring upturn are contained in the latest report of the movement of commodities by the railroads. And it is to signs of this sort that those who would show more or less than the customary recession that economists have been looking for in order to decide whether the recovery from depression has definitely begun.

Freight loadings of the railroads in the last week of April again swung back to upward trend. Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended May 2 totaled 775,291 cars, according to the American Railway association. The total marked an increase of 16,019 cars over the preceding week, although still falling 187,383 cars below a year ago and 276,644 below two years ago. One favorable factor was that merchandise shipments showed a decline of only about 9 per cent from a year ago, whereas total loadings of all commodities declined about 17 per cent.

Oil Output Slackens.

Another mildly cheerful piece of news was the fact that petroleum production again turned downward last week following the recent sharp expansion. This fact lends hope that new prices and curtailment measures may at long last afford a remedy for overproduction.

However, there is considerable disparity among the trade journals as to the extent of last week's curtailment. It is evident that the industry needs more exact information. The summary of the Oil and Gas Journal of Tulsa, Okla., reported a decline of 10,651 barrels a day, bringing the daily average gross crude oil output down to 2,371,850 barrels. It recorded a drop of 163,534 barrels a day in east central Texas as the result of new proration measures.

On the other hand, the summary of the American Petroleum Institute said last week's average daily production at 2,668,700 barrels, a decline of only 4,600 barrels a day from the previous week. It is estimated a decline of only 76,850 barrels a day in east Texas. Both journals reported a increase of more than 56,000 barrels a day in Oklahoma and a sizeable increase in California.

Industry took somewhat less oil but took and reduced operations to 61 per cent of capacity, compared with 62.3 per cent in the previous week. However, gasoline stocks increased 197,000 barrels to a total of 61,750,000 barrels. Stocks of Pennsylvania grade crude oil held by major pipe line companies of the east at the end of April totaled 3,956,991 barrels, against 3,947,629 at the end of March. It was the second successive month an increase was shown.

Steady Auto Production.

Reports from the automobile centers yesterday indicated that there has been no letdown in production so far this month. In fact, May started off with plant operations on a slightly higher basis than in April and the rate has been maintained. One estimate says it appears reasonably certain that this month's output will exceed that of April, when production in this country and Canada totaled 360,000 cars and trucks.

On the other hand, another slight decline in steel sproduction was reported by American Metal Market, which estimates mill operations at 45 per cent of capacity, compared with 46 per cent a week ago.

"Total demand," the review says, "has been decreasing in the last two or three weeks more slowly than forecast, and further losses to the usual extent in July are likely to be small, whereas in July may average around 40 per cent. With everything being shaken out as thoroughly the chances are particularly strong for an autumn revival, which has always occurred when general trade was not growing worse."

Argentine Exports Show 12.7 Pct. Drop in Value

BUENOS AIRES, May 12.—(AP)—The value of exports for the first four months of 1931 totaled 219,446,000 gold pesos, compared with 251,416 gold pesos in 1930, a drop of 12.7 per cent. The drop was attributed to lower commodity price levels.

G. F. Baker Jr. Heads Board of First National of N. Y.

New York, May 12.—(AP)—George F. Baker Jr., modest, middle aged son of the late dean of American bankers, was called to the chairmanship of the powerful First National bank of New York today, to fill the vacancy left by the death of his father ten days ago.

GEORGE F. BAKER JR. [Underwood & Underwood.]

Mr. Baker, who is 53 years old, and a prominent yachtsman as well as financier, prepared for his new duties by 29 years as an officer of the bank, the last nine of which have been as vice chairman of the board.

Beyond the mere announcement of the change, no statement was forthcoming from the First National bank, nor from the new chairman, and Wall street presumed the policy of reticence that made the elder Baker known as "the sphinx of Wall street" was to be continued.

Selection Is Expected.

The selection of the son to succeed his father occasioned no surprise in Wall street, where it had been predicted, but there was no unanimity of opinion as to whether he would fill the vacanies on the boards of more than two score of corporations left by his father's passing.

The new chairman already is a member of the board of the United States Steel corporation, General Electric company, General Motors corporation, American Telephone and Telegraph company, Pullman company, and Lackawanna railroad. He also is a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York and the Provident Loan Society of New York.

What His Associates Say.

Thoroughness, a straight forward manner of approach and a keen sense of personal integrity are the qualities that stand out in the character of Mr. Baker Jr., his close business associates say. A six footer, he inherited a strong physique from his father.

He plays both tennis and golf and hunts in the winter but among his avocations all are subordinated to yachting. From that he derives his greatest pleasure in his play hours, and his turbo-electric yacht, "The Viking" has called at many foreign ports.

Destined for a banking career, Mr. Baker matriculated at Harvard university, and was graduated with an A.B. degree in 1899. Two years later he went to work in the First National as assistant cashier. He was named to the vice presidency, and a place on the board of directors in 1906 and continued in that capacity until elevated to the post created for him, that of vice chairman of the board in 1922.

When the United States entered the world war, while his father concerned himself with assisting in the great financial operations of the government, the son assisted the Red Cross. He was appointed chairman of a Red Cross commission to visit Italy and determine the plan and scope of relief work in that country. That mission fulfilled, he enlisted as a buck private and cooled his heels in training at Camp Zachary Taylor until the armistice.

Member of Syndicates.

He is married to the former Edith Brevoort Kane, daughter of Grenville Kane of Tuxedo, N. Y. They have four children.

Mr. Baker was commodore of the New York Yacht club from 1915 to 1918. He was a member of the millionaire syndicates which financed the building of the Resolute in 1920 and the Enterprise in 1930, both successful in defending the America's cup against the challenge of Sir Thomas Lipton.

Although he delights in cruising, he has been a skipper of sailing yachts and sailed with the best of them, including the present secretary of the navy, Charles Francis Adams.

In a brief resolution passed at the meeting the board expressed its regard for the late chairman. It read:

"The members of this board record with sorrow the death of their friend, the chairman, George F. Baker, who, more than any other man, deserves the credit for the stability, earning power, and public confidence attained by this bank under his leadership for nearly sixty-eight years."

TELL HOW ROBOTS REPLACE MEN IN STEEL MANUFACTURE

Robot operation of heating plants in the manufacture of steel, replacing the open hearth man, is one of the subjects being discussed by the open hearth committee of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers in a two day session at the Stevens hotel. Some 150 engineers employed by steel companies all over the United States and Canada are attending the meeting which closes today.

Robot operation of heating in the steel plant is obtained through meters which automatically regulate the flow of fuel, usually oil or gas, to meet the temperature required in the melting of metals used in producing steel.

Another subject being discussed is the possible use of natural gas as a fuel in the melting of steel. This fuel is becoming available to the big steel industries through the construction of pipe lines from the various oil fields to industrial centers. However, technical details have to be settled before this fuel can be made available under present conditions in the steel plants.

Engineers attending the meeting dropped their technical discussion yesterday to go through the South Chicago plant of the Illinois Steel company. L. F. Reinartz of the American Rolling Mill company is chairman of the meeting.

Federal Reserve's Credit Program Gets Setback

New York, May 12.—(AP)—The latest program of credit cheapening, inaugurated by federal reserve rediscount rate cuts last week, received a setback today. Call money, which renewed yesterday at 1 per cent for the first time in 23 years, renewed at that level again today, but later pushed up 1½ per cent.

The failure of the New York clearing house committee to cut the rate of interest which New York banks pay on deposits below one per cent appeared to have imposed an obstacle.

It was pointed out in banking circles that out-of-town banks pay the local banks one-half of one per cent for placing their funds in the call loan market, so with 1 per cent call money, the out-of-town banks only get one-half of one per cent, and find it more profitable to leave their surplus funds on deposit with New York banks at 1 per cent. Withdrawals of out-of-town funds from the call loan market was said to have been substantial.

Out of Sympathy?

The failure of the clearing house committee to reduce the rates paid on deposits was interpreted in important banking circles as indicating that some members of the committee were out of sympathy with the federal reserve efforts to drive surplus funds out of this money market. While members of the committee declined to comment, it was said in high banking circles that there was apparently an unwillingness to reduce rates to a level at which banks would lose deposits.

However, time money rates declined today. Five and six months maturities were quoted at 1¾ to 2 per cent, compared with 2 to 2½ per cent on Monday, which narrowed the margin between the rates received on loans and those paid on deposits.

Is Successful Bidder.

A syndicate headed by the National City company was the successful bidder today for $52,000,000 of four year corporate stock of the city of New York on a bid of 100.0119 for stock bearing 3 per cent. This is equivalent to $1,000.119 for each $1,000 bond and affords a premium to the city of $6,188 on the total amount, the interest cost to the city is 2.99702 per cent, the lowest rate in thirty-one years.

The syndicate made public offering of the issue at 100⅛, to yield 2.87 per cent. It was announced that the entire issue was sold 10 minutes after the offering.

PLANS ANOTHER CUT

The United States treasury is planning another cut in the rate of interest it will require depositary banks to pay on special government deposits arising from subscriptions to treasury certificates of indebtedness, it became known today. The new rate would be ⅛ per cent, compared with a present rate of 1 per cent. In February, shortly after the clearing house made its last reduction in deposit rates, the treasury reduced from 1½ to 1 the rate required to be paid on these special deposits, which require no reserves as in the case of other deposits. For a great many years the treasury required 2 per cent on such deposits.

The government would not lose through such action, for the rate of interest banks are required to pay is a direct factor in the price they bid for new certificates, and in the past the treasury, in improved prices for its issues of securities, has recouped the interest lost by reductions in deposit rates.

The treasury is represented as anxious for the New York clearing house to act first, as it did the last time. It is also said to hope for a change in deposit rates by the time the June certificates [and possibly long term bonds also] are offered for subscription.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 12.—Nothing much happened on the stock exchange today. The ticker was idle half the time and brokers had to play pinochle with their clerks to keep from yawning themselves to sleep.

Only 1,300,000 shares changed hands in the whole five hours and prices beat lazily back and forth with a growing tendency to yield to the drag of gravity. The finals reflected losses of from a fraction to 2 points on the average, with a half dozen or so of the more impressionable down 5 or more.

Railroad shares were unusually weak, due to the bearish sentiment stimulated by the unfavorable New York Central earnings report, and their performance proved a burden to the whole market. New York Central dropped almost five points in the early trading to the lowest levels it has sold in about eight years or since 1922 when the year's low was 90½. The speculative fraternity had anticipated a poor first quarter statement from the road, but the figures on their appearance proved much worse than had been expected.

Rock Island Off.

Virtually the entire carrier group followed the leader to the lowlands, Rock Island plunged below last year's level to the poorest price since 1926 on a decline of nearly 3 points. Illinois Central almost touched its bear market bottom with a tumble of about 4. Union Pacific gave up 5 and Erie, Lackawanna, Katy preferred, both classes of Missouri Pacific, Pennsylvania, and the Wabashes all sold at the lowest prices in a good many years. Atchison was off 4 points at the close after being lower.

One shining exception to the general weakness of the division was provided by Chicago North Western, which moved against the trend for a full point on the announcement of the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of $1 a share due at this time.

United States Steel and other pivotals were not nearly so fruitful of headaches as they have been on some other days of the recent painful past. The old bellwether sold off

NORTH WESTERN VOTES REGULAR DIVIDEND OF $1

Directors of the Chicago and North Western railway yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1 a share on the common stock. Hereafter the company intends to distribute the dividends in semi-annual disbursements as was the custom previous to May, 1930, officials announced.

Directors of B. Kuppenheimer company postponed action to June 12 on the $1 semi-annual common dividend due July 1. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock was declared, payable June 1.

Hiram Walker Gooderham & Worts, Ltd., declared a quarterly dividend of 12½ cents, placing the stock on a 50 cent annual basis, against $1 previously.

Dow, Jones & Co. says there is little likelihood that directors of the Southern railway will declare any further common dividends at the June meeting.

Last December the regular dividend of $2 was declared, covering the final quarter of 1930, at the same time additional dividends of $3.65 were declared on the common, the remainder of 1929 income not previously appropriated for this purpose. Of the $3.65 declared at that time $2 was payable May 1 and $1.65 on Aug. 1.

CONTINUE STEEL BONUSES UNDER SURETY BONDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newark, N. J., May 12.—Continued payment of bonuses to high officials of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, pending final determination of the suit by twenty-two minority stockholders to compel an accounting of such past bonus payments totaling $36,493,668 and refunding of any part thereof deemed to be excessive, was authorized in an order signed today by Vice Chancellor John H. Bacus.

Under the order, the officials in question, to be paid bonuses, must furnish surety bonds to guarantee repayment to the corporation of any part of such bonuses which the court may decide on final determination of the suit, that the officials were not entitled to. The amount of the individual bonds must fully cover the bonus payments to be made.

The order will permit payment of the bonuses for the first quarter of this year. Robert J. Bain, attorney, asserted payment of bonuses on the basis of previous ones would amount to about $315,000 for the first quarter, thus wiping out net income which should be used to pay a dividend on common stock and leaving a deficit of about $130,000. He said he understood less than $200,000 of earnings or about six cents a share on common stock is available for payment. It would be necessary, he said, to use the income from securities.

Bain said that Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem, would receive $150,000.

The court, in granting the motion, said its action would not influence the final hearing, and held that in view of the fact the stockholders had authorized the bonus a few years ago, the recipients should not be deprived of it now.

PENNSY ROAD TO ASK STEAMSHIP CHARTER SOON

Philadelphia, Pa., May 12.—[U. P.]—A charter will be applied for within the next few days for formation of a steamship company in Philadelphia, President W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad said today at a luncheon.

The company has been discussed for the last five years.

It will take $5,000,000, the general estimated, to get the steamship line into operation with three liners. The Pennsylvania railroad already has appropriated $500,000, and both the Reading railroad and the Baltimore and Ohio have indicated that they will add another $250,000 each to the fund, he said.

Mrs. Willebrandt Heads Counsel for Bondholders

Washington, D. C., May 12.—(AP)—Formation of a committee to protect "the interests of holders of bonds and other securities sold by or through the American Bond and Mortgage company" and the employment of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt as general counsel was made known today in a letter to bondholders of the Mayflower Hotel company.

The letter, addressed to holders of second mortgage bonds of the hotel company, urged upon them "the necessity for united action through the medium of our independent protective committee."

The Mayflower hotel is one of the several large properties financed by the American Bond and Mortgage company, whose activities are now under investigation by the department of justice. The communication assailed the financing methods employed in connection with the Mayflower project.

New York Central Ry. Reports $144,913 Deficit

The New York Central railroad, including all leased lines, yesterday reported for the first quarter a deficit of $144,913, compared with net income of $8,471,256, equal to $1.70 a common share, in the first quarter of 1930.

Gross revenues for the quarter amounted to $99,332,078, a decrease of $23,872,444 from the $123,204,522 reported for the like period last year. Net operating income for the period was $7,337,295, compared with $14,455,668 for the quarter last year.

The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad reported for the first quarter net income of $801,551, equal to 93 cents a share, compared with $1,460,612, or $7.69 a share, in the first quarter of 1930.

Western Union Reports $1,260,185 Net for Quarter

Western Union reports net operating income for the first three months of this year of $1,260,185, compared with $1,416,029 for the corresponding period last year. Gross amounted to $27,877,901, as against $32,836,325. Net operating income for March was $774,787, as against $880,139 for the same month a year ago, while gross amounted to $9,729,596, compared with $11,369,676.

Geo. H. Burr & Co. Retire from N. Y. Stock Exchange

New York, May 12.—(AP)—George H. Burr & Co., prominent investment house, has retired from membership in the New York stock exchange, it was announced today, and will discontinue its brokerage business. The firm will continue to transact commercial paper and general business as heretofore. It has specialized in chain store issues, and sponsored Burco Inc., a general management type of investment trust. The firm has offices in Chicago, Boston, St. Louis, Philadelphia, and Kansas City, and has affiliates on the Pacific coast and in Europe.

Chilean Banks to Report Foreign Money Purchases

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 12.—(AP)—A press communique of the ministry of finance today said that all commercial banks doing business in Chile had been requested to give a daily account to the government of all purchases of foreign money and drafts. The order affects all transactions, starting April 1, and will continue indefinitely.

U. S. Receives $10,000,000 in Gold from Argentina

New York, May 12.—The gold report of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York today showed imports of $10,000,000 from Argentina. There were no exports and there was no net change in gold earmarked for foreign account.

Protect Your Principal and Improve Your Income

MANY INVESTORS whose holdings are now composed largely of fixed income bearing securities are prone to relax their vigilance over conditions which may affect their investments. Although a bond list does not require the active supervision demanded by equity holdings, yet safety of principal may be lessened and opportunity for profit neglected unless it is submitted to thorough analysis at frequent intervals.

The present is an opportune time to make such a review. We offer our services for this purpose without obligation.

FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO SECURE TESTIMONY OF KUHN, LOEB OFFICIALS

Washington, D. C., May 12.—(AP)—Protesting stockholders of the Chicago and Alton railroad failed today in their attempt before the interstate commerce commission to compel testimony from officials of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York bankers, in hearings on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's acquisition of the Alton.

Counsel for the stockholders' protecting committee, led by former Senator James E. Reed of Missouri, had sought to have officials and records of the New York banking firm subpoenaed. They desired to prove "deceit" and "misrepresentation" were practiced upon the stockholders before the Alton was bought at a receivership sale for $75,000,000. Counsel contended the price was too low and that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had misled the stockholders.

The commission held, however, this testimony was irrelevant. The hearing ended with testimony confined to the actual facts bearing on whether the acquisition should be approved.

The ruling of the commission, taken after more than an hour's argument by opposing counsel before the full membership of the commission, had the effect of upholding the contention of Henry W. Anderson, chief counsel for the Baltimore and Ohio; that the sale price had been approved by the court which ordered the foreclosure sale. Anderson said the question before the court and before the commission was whether the acquisition was in the public interest and that for the commission not to approve it would have the effect of overruling the court.

The opposing parties were given forty days in which to file briefs, after which the final oral argument will be heard before the commission passes upon the petition of the Baltimore and Ohio to acquire the Alton.

Top yesterday, $9.85; average, $8.50.
Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 8,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 9,000.

Cattle prices slipped back to new low levels for the past nine years on yesterday's dull market, while hogs scored additional gains and finished only 5@10c under the highest point in 10 days. Best lambs were firm, while others were discounted sharply, the plainest kinds selling 50c@$1.00 lower at the close.

The hog market showed gains of mostly 10@15c, the top and average prices advancing 10c at $7.40 and $6.90 respectively. The highest point during last week was Wednesday when the top went up to $7.50 and the average figured $6.90. Nine weeks ago top hogs sold up to $8.50, the highest of the year.

Supplies have been running small during the last few days, but the five western markets report 50,500 in sight for today against 24,500 last Wednesday, points farthest west showing the most increase. Receipts at Chicago for the first two days of the week at 53,400 show a decrease of 9,000, while shipments show an increase of 1,000 compared with Monday and Tuesday of last week. Only 3,000 pen holders and inferior grades of light hogs remained at the close yesterday. With light weights more plentiful the spread in hog prices shows a tendency to narrow.

Today's Hogs Bid $7.35.

Light weight hogs averaging 170@210 lbs were bid $7.35 for today's delivery on the "to arrive" market, while mediums averaging 210@260 lbs were bid $7.10. Bids and offers on the futures market were far apart in most months.

Light weights for the last half of the present month were bid only $7.00, while the lowest offer at the close stopped at $7.75. June bids were at $7.40 and offers at $7.75. Bids for July contracts were made at $7.25 and offers at $7.75. September light were also offered at $7.75 and one bid was made late at $7.50.

Demand for steers carrying weight was narrowest yesterday and these showed most weakness, although the market for light streers and yearlings also lacked "pep" and buyers had the advantage all day. Discouraging reports from the dressed beef trade came on the market soon after the opening and added to the weakness.

Wholesale prices were reduced in an effort to stimulate consumption, but movement continued slow throughout the day and coolers are reported loaded with carcasses. No yearlings of outstanding quality were available yesterday. A load of prime 1,435 lb steers topped the list at $9.25, but few other sales were made above $9.00 and the bulk sold at $7.00@8.00. At this time in 1930 top steers were up to $14.50 and in 1929 and 1928 the top was above $15.00.

Quality of Lambs Poorer.

The poorer quality of lambs lately has caused a wider spread in prices, with best grades of fat stock holding steady, while common and medium grades lacking finish suffered some of the sharpest price cuts of the season. Plain quality wool lambs were discounted most and some at $8.25@8.50 late were similar in quality and weight to the $9.25@9.50 kinds on the previous session.

Some sales of well finished stock, however, showed strength. Top shorn lambs to shippers reached $9.00, only 25c under the highest paid for shorn lambs this season. Top wool stock sold to shippers and city butchers at $9.85.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—COFFEE—Futures were lower today under some local and foreign selling which was evidently influenced by the easier ruling of Rio exchange. No. 7 contracts closed 4 to 9 lower. Sales, 13,000 bags. Santos closed 4 to 8 lower. Sales, 24,000 bags. Closing quotations, Santos contracts: May, 8.74c; July, 8.70c; Sept., 8.76c; Dec., 8.80c; March, 8.84c. No. 7 prices follow:

WEAKNESS IN COTTON

Disappointing Liverpool cables were the basis for moderate selling of cotton futures in American markets at the start yesterday and, with poor support, prices sagged off, only to rally slightly toward the last, and again weaken, with a finish around the lowest of the day. Futures in Chicago were 5@9 points lower on active trading months, with other markets off 5@10 points, New Orleans being the weakest. In the spot market there was a drop of 5 points to 9.85c for New York, 9.56c in New Orleans, 9.75c in Galveston, and 9.65c in Houston. Liverpool closed unchanged with spot sales 4,000 bales.

Consumption of cotton in April by American mills, as given by the New York Cotton exchange service, was 515,000 bales, against 494,000 bales, as given by the census bureau in March, and 532,000 bales in April last year. The exchange report also says that domestic mill situation is unfavorable and that English mills are struggling to sell the curtailed output. German mills are doing better and French and Italian mills are selling their output. Withdrawing of cotton to mills throughout the world so far this season aggregates 8,923,000 bales, against 11,109,000 bales last season. Amount of cotton remaining available for forwarding is 9,245,000 bales, against 6,035,000 bales last year. Prices follow:

NEW LOW ON LARD

Lard futures declined to the lowest of the season yesterday, although selling pressure was not heavy and mainly from tired longs. Buying support was only fair. It was said that May lard is showing a little tightness. Closing prices were at net losses of 5c, after a range of 7½c. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 6d lower. Export clearances were 5,223,000 lbs of lard and 128,000 lbs of bacon. Cash trade was fair. Bellies were 7½c lower with the only trading in July. Hog prices were higher despite larger receipts than a week ago, although the run was larger than a year ago. Prices follow:

NEW ENGLAND GAS & ELECTRIC REVENUE RISES

New England Gas and Electric association in its annual report shows operating revenues of $14,740,528 for 1930, an increase of $5,657,680 over the preceding year. Operating expenses, renewals, replacements, and provision for retirement of fixed capital, maintenance, and taxes increased $4,237,990 over 1929. Following deduction of these items and subsidiary interest charges, there was a balance of earnings available for fixed and other charges of New England Gas and Electric association amounting to $3,726,362, as compared with $2,237,548 in the preceding year.

Last year properties in the association served a total of 256,144 customers, of whom 113,227 were electric customers and 137,917 gas customers. Sales of the association to these customers during 1930 aggregated 318,777,880 k. w. h. of electricity and 4,629,524,000 cubic feet of gas.

Would Stabilize Silver Price at 50 Cts. an Ounce

Washington, D. C., May 12.—(AP)—A temporary fixing of the price of silver at 50 cents an ounce by international agreement will be proposed tomorrow to Secretary of State Stimson by Senator King [Dem., Utah]. The senator discussed his plan today with Undersecretary of State Castle and will take the question up tomorrow with the state department chief. The "pegging" of the silver price, King said after the conference, would be restored under his plan until an international conference could be held to solve the silver question.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The nationally advertised Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Loans above $100 and up to $300 are made at a rate approximately one-third less than the rate permitted by the Small Loan Law.

The only signatures required are those of husband and wife.

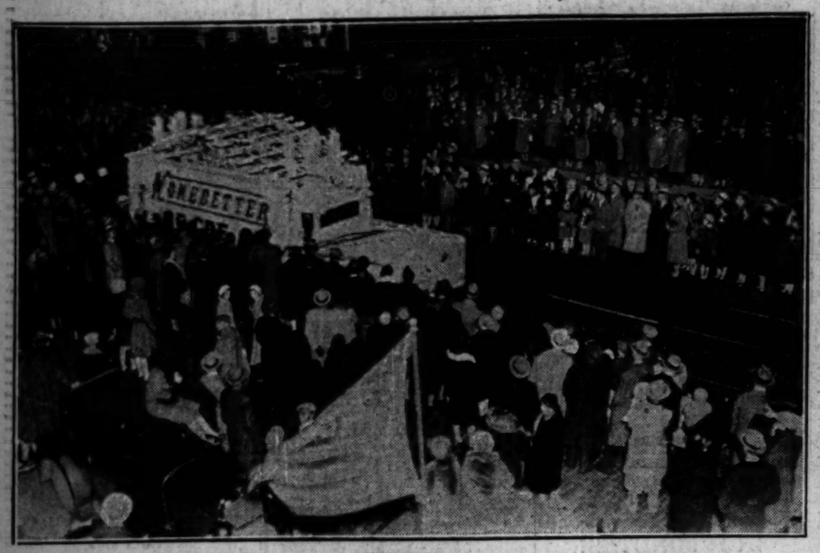
Crowd of 40,000 Sees American Boxers Vanquish French Rivals 5 to 3—North Side Stages Jubilee Parade



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

SCENE AT SOLDIERS' FIELD LAST NIGHT WHEN THE LARGEST CROWD THAT EVER WITNESSED AN AMATEUR FIGHT PROGRAM BRAVED WEATHER. The picture shows the reserved seat sections in the arena of the amphitheater filled and thousands in the permanent stands where the seats which were available for those who held only general admission tickets were located. The weather was cold but clear, an early fog having vanished. (Story on page 1.)

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

BABY PARADE ONE OF DAY'S JUBILEE EVENTS. Start of procession sponsored by South Shore Chamber of Commerce. The babies were wheeled along 79th street from Essex avenue to Escanaba avenue. (Story on page 1.)
